YANKS MOPPING UP MUNDA!

Story of U. S. Drive to Jap Air Field Told by Eyewitness

BRITISH SMASH PAST CATANIA; TAKE 2 TOWNS

Yank Forces Strike on Two Fronts.

(Map on page 4.)

ALLIED HDQ. IN NORTH AFRICA, Aug. 5 (AP).—Conquering British legions smashed into Catania today and fanned out in twin sweeps that shoved back German rearguards from the southern and eastern slopes of Mount Etna.

As veteran British infantry mopped up Sicily's main east coast port, armored scouts cruised 10 miles northwest along the vital road circling Mount Etna and occupied Misterbiar.co and Paterno.

Paterno was occupied less than two hours after Catania was taken.

Another 8th army column headed due north along the coast toward Messina, some 55 miles distant.

The Germans already have begun withdrawing nonessential personnel from Sicily.

One American officer estimated only 5,000 Italians and possibly 35,000 Germans still are fighting in Sicily.

The rocky eastern face of Mount Etna was militarily a lost cause to the Hermann Goering division and survivors of half a dozen parachute battalions compelled to flee Catania after a bitter defense since July 15.

Yankees Get Help.

Crushing back the Germans from the former central sector of the bridgehead, British and Canadian forces were giving strong support to American forces held up three days in the Troina area, northwest of Mount Etna.

On the shore of the Tyrrhenian sea, Americans supported by United States cruisers and destroyers battled for San Fratello, some 55 miles west of Messina. The Yanks were only two miles from this vital road junction.

American warships gave this coastal column of Lt. Gen. George S. Patton Jr.'s 7th army effective coöperation from the flank. They officially were credited with speeding the troops' advance.

The Germans threw in planes in desperate attempts to gain time so forces withdrawn from the southern sector could reach new positions.

Big Air Base Open to Allies.

Gerbini's big air base and nine satellite fields 12 miles west of Catania now are completely available for allied air forces which are pounding axis troops in Sicily and Naples and rail communications in Italy.

The Germans momentarily saved Adrano, six miles from Centuripe on the Etna road, but only for the purpose of withdrawing their forces defending the Catania plain. The Germans' broken Etna line now is history and the next heavy combats appear to be shaping up beyond the big volcano.

A steady stream of German and Italian prisoners was trucked back from the American sector. British and American engineers worked furiously to repair roads so the advance could race ahead.

'Forts' Blast Naples.

Allied air and sea forces joined increasingly in the mounting crescendo of the allied offensive begun Sunday.

British warships pounded Taormina yesterday to disrupt traffic on the road and railway supply arteries there.

The allied air forces turned their destructive power on Italian mainland communications and Flying Fortresses blasted Naples yesterday for the fourth time in four days.

R. A. F. Wellingtons wrecked rail targets at Paola and Marina di Catanzaro on opposite sides of the Italian boot Tuesday night and Marauders and Mitchells continued the attacks by daylight. Wellingtons also bombed Battipaglia, 42 miles south of Naples. On Sicily, roads in the Mount Etna area and Messina were heavily bombarded. Targets included Milazzo Riposto, Bronte, and Adrano.

Sixteen axis planes were shot down, against loss of three allied planes, in all operations.

Russians Win Belgorod, Key Railway City

LONDON, Aug. 5 (AP).—Powerful Red armies captured the German strongholds of Orel and Belgorod today in the greatest twin triumph by Russian troops in three summers of war.

The double victory, announced by Marshal Josef Stalin, threatened to collapse all the German defenses in south central Russia.

Soviet troops tonight were pursuing the Germans westward from Orel toward Bryansk and from Belgorod into the Ukraine. Their swift pursuit of the Germans was endangering two key bases: Bryansk, 80 miles northwest of Orel, and Kharkov, 45 miles southwest of Belgorod.

Russian troops which had fought their way last night into Orel today mopped up desperate German rear guards striving to protect the remnants of their armies fleeing toward Bryansk. Moscow dispatches said many of the Germans running a death gantlet between Orel and Bryansk faced the threat of entrapment, as one Russian force is within 25 miles of Bryansk.

German Line Threatened.

While Orel's occupation had been expected, the fall of Belgorod, 165 miles to the south, came as a surprise.

The double victory graphically illustrated the huge scope of Russia's first successful summer offensive.

The breakthru at Orel and Belgorod threatened the entire German line curving southeast from Smolensk, central front bastion, to the Mius river in the Donetz basin. Red troops stand within 60 miles of Smolensk. Capture of Orel eased the soviet army supply problem by opening a double track railway to Kursk.

Capt. Ludwig Sertorius, German radio commentator, said the true Russian objective in hammering at Belgorod was Kiev, Ukraine capital on the Dnieper river 270 miles to the west.

Nazi Version of Orel Loss.

The Berlin radio said the Germans gave up Orel as part of their "successful attrition" tactics.

The Nazis had held Orel for nearly two years, capturing it in October, 1941. Belgorod was held temporarily last winter by the Russians in their sweep from Stalingrad, but the Germans retook it March 22. Along with Orel, the town was a base for the abortive German offensive begun July 5 to pinch off the middle Kursk salient.

The Russians absorbed that German drive, launched a counter-offensive July 12 above Orel, and after a month have toppled both big German bases.

Russia's midnight war bulletin, issued after the special announcement of the capture of Orel and Belgorod, told of "fighting of local importance" in the Donetz basin and southwest of Voroshilovgrad, where the Russians seized the first line of a German trench system.

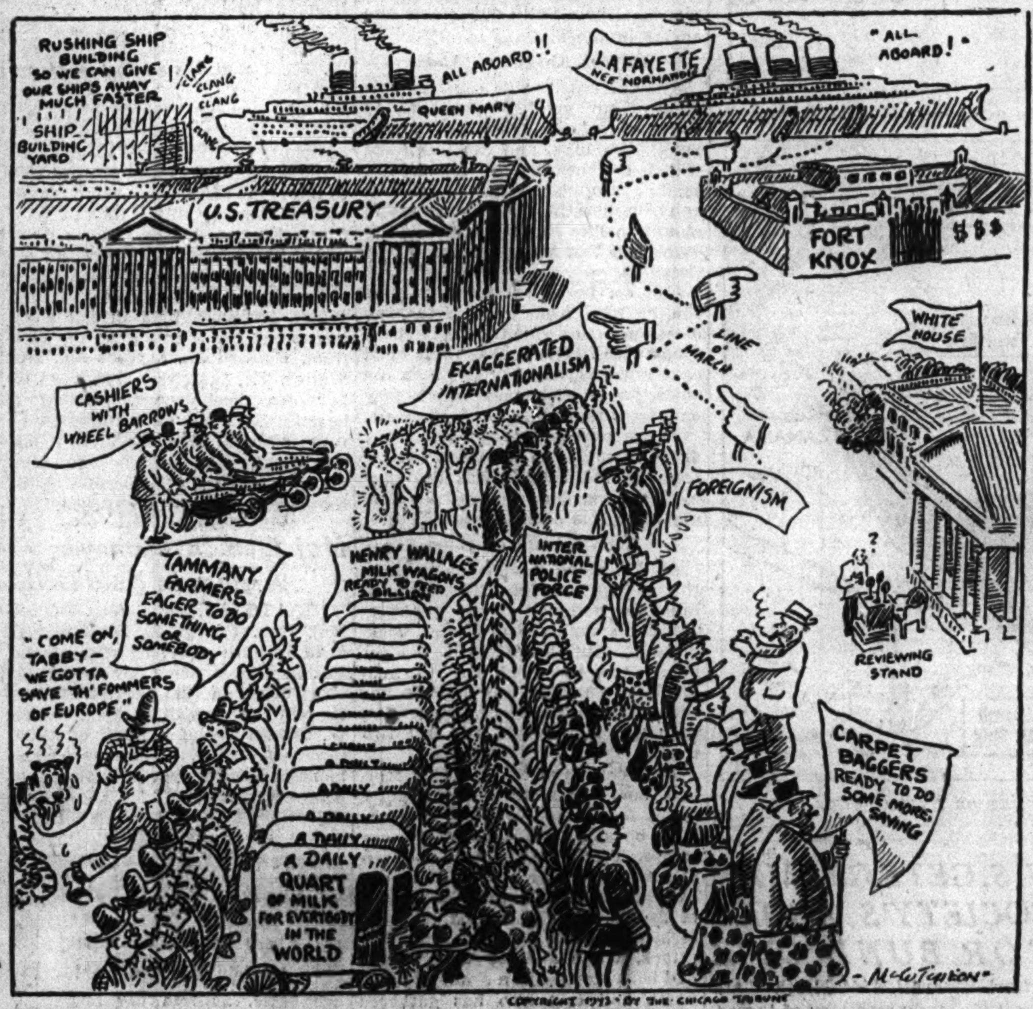
WHEN THE POST-WAR NEW DEAL CRUSADERS MARCH OFF TO SAVE HUMANITY, ETC., ETC.



RED BACK IN 1-A AS TRICK FAILS

Swore He Was Essential as Communist Editor.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Aug. 5.—How a Communist party leader signed a declaration for himself that he was a person whom it "would be extremely difficult" to replace as editor of an unofficial Communist magazine here, was revealed today in a draft investigation by Col. Arthur D. McDermott, selective service director for New York City.

Angelo Herndon, colored, 29 years old, who has been president of the Young Communist league and in 1940 was a presidential elector for Earl Browder, was granted a six month reprieve from induction by local draft board 36 on May 2 on the grounds that his editing of a quarterly magazine came under the heading of business essential to the war.

3 Issues Published.

The publication, which costs 50 cents a copy, has published only three known issues since March, 1942. Its telephone service was reported discontinued today.

Herndon used form 42-A, which an employer files in behalf of a key employe. In signing the form in his own behalf, he set forth how difficult it would be to replace himself.

Herndon's case so aroused Col. McDermott that he personally appealed the deferment to appeals board 4, which reversed the local board's action and ordered Herndon shifted from 2-A to 1-A, his present classification.

Convicted as Revolutionary.

"There is nothing whatever in the file," said Col. McDermott, "aside from the self-serving statement made by the registrant himself, to indicate the nature of the Negro quarterly."

Herndon, who until recently was a member of the central committee of the Communist party, was convicted as a potential revolutionary in 1933 by the state of Georgia on the grounds that a Communist per se advocates forceful revolution. His conviction, which carried an 18 year prison sentence, was reversed in 1937 by the United States Supreme court in a 5 to 4 decision.

Tell How New Deal Boners Pared Nation's Potato Crop

More than 150 million pounds of potatoes—a fourth of the total North Carolina-Virginia crop—has been wasted thru government bungling, produce men attending a convention in Chicago charged yesterday.

And unless the bungling stops, the produce men continued, the nation's 1943 potato crop, which will probably be the largest ever to come out of the ground, will be the smallest in recent years before reaching dinner tables.

[OES orders resumption of grade labeling for most meat cuts. Story on page 7.]

The North Carolina-Virginia potato scandal was outlined by Fred Vahlsing, New York City, who operates farms from Maine to Texas and is called by the trade "the world's largest food producer"; John Bacon, Chicago, potato merchant, and S. E. Baker, head of Produce Reporter company, a trade credit organization.

Blunders Kept from Public.

Details of the series of blunders which brought about the potato mess are common knowledge among produce men, the three said, but have been kept from the public thru "hush-hush" orders clamped on federal officials.

The trouble dates back to last fall, they said, when the food distribution administration, a government agency, promised North Carolina-Virginia potato growers a minimum price of $2.25 per hundred pounds on all potatoes they could grow in 1943. The offer was made to stimulate production. The usual price in recent years was $1.25 to $1.75.

Late in May another government agency, the interstate commerce commission, ordered that no ice could be used in shipping potatoes, and in June the regular handlers stepped out. They would not buy potatoes and risk losing them thru lack of ice.

Buy 150 Million Pounds.

The market fell and the government became the only buyer. The food distribution administration bought the remainder of the crop—5,000 carloads, or 150 million pounds—more than a pound for every person in the country. At the $2.25 minimum the government purchase price was $3,375,000.

Then began a series of blunders in what to do with the 150 million pounds.

When the potatoes began to rot, the FDA got the ICC to relent on its no-ice order and permit half icing. But half icing, the potato men said, is no better than no icing at all.

Many potatoes were sent to Maine starch factories. That didn't work, because the government got starch at a cost of about 50 cents a pound—and the ceiling price is about 5 cents.

Potatoes Rot in Warehouses.

Many potatoes were dumped in apple warehouses in Virginia, the produce men continued. They promptly rotted.

At last, on July 19, James H. Palmer, regional administrator for the FDA at Atlanta, Ga., blanketed the east and midwest with telegrams quoting new prices which in some cases practically meant giving potatoes away.

Even this offer, however, got few takers. Cars of potatoes spoiled thruout the midwest. The 37 carloads thrown onto the Vincennes, Ind., city dump the other day, as reported in yesterday's TRIBUNE, was just the end of a minor shipment, the produce men agreed.

Instead of benefiting by the North Carolina-Virginia experience, the food distribution administration is carrying on with its blunders as the potato harvest moves north, the produce men charged.

M'ARTHUR'S TANKS AND TROOPS SEIZE HALF OF BASE; ENEMY TRAPPED

Slowly Destroying Foe's Garrison, Says General.

Japs Lose 40,500 Men

Washington, D. C., Aug. 5 [Special]. — The Guadalcanal campaign last year cost the Japanese 40,500 men, Col. Royal L. Gervais, field artillery officer recently returned from the South Pacific, reported to the war department today. The overwhelming majority were killed.

ALLIED HDQ. IN THE SOUTHWEST PACIFIC, Aug. 6 [Friday]—(AP).—Half of the Munda airdrome is in control of American infantrymen, fighting with tank support, and the entire Japanese garrison there "is now completely encircled and is being slowly destroyed," Gen. MacArthur announced today.

Latest reports from the new Georgia fighting front in the central Solomons stated the Japanese sustained heavy casualties thruout day long fighting yesterday as the Americans seized control of the eastern slopes of Kokengolo hill. That is between the air strip and revetment areas where planes are kept.

Cover Jap Escape Lines.

These forces sent a strong combat patrol slicing thru the jungle to the seacoast northwest of the airdrome while other forces advanced along the south side of the coveted air strip.

A spokesman for Gen. MacArthur said it appeared that all possible Japanese lines of retreat to the north are covered by our forces.

Kokengolo hill is situated roughly half way along the east-west axis of Munda with the dispersal bays ranged about the hill's northeastern base.

Keyed with Other Action.

This near climax action in the Solomons was keyed with continued fighting on the approaches to Salamaua on northeastern New Guinea in which Japanese counter-attacks were decisively repulsed.

Light American surface craft and the 13th air force maintained pressure on the Japanese in the Solomons. Naval vessels—probably PT boats—sank two enemy barges northwest of Munda the night of Aug. 3 and in the early morning of Aug. 4. Last night a coastal ship, possibly 100 feet long, was sunk in the Blackett strait between New Georgia and Kolombangara.

Bombers Strafe Barges.

Mitchell medium bombers with a fighter escort on Thursday strafed barges and shore positions at Gizo Island, which is west of Kolombangara, as well as in Webster cove on Kolombangara's south coast.

In the New Guinea sector, a series of sharp enemy attacks in the Bobdubi-Mount Tambu area, which is roughly five miles below Salamaua, ended with the enemy driven from strategically important holdings at new and old Vickers.

FIRE THROWERS ON TANKS BURN OUT JAP GUNNERS

BY CLAY GOWRAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

[Copyright: 1943: By The Chicago Tribune.]

WITH U. S. INVASION FORCES ON NEW GEORGIA, Aug. 2 [Delayed].—Flame throwers attached to marines' light tanks now are burning out Japanese strong points on New Georgia.

Liquid fire, which strikes at a temperature of several hundred degrees centigrade, was employed as a last ditch method of wiping out ultra-strong Jap machine gun pillboxes—many of them double decker affairs covered with two layers of coconut logs and often 10 feet thickness of coral.

These pillboxes have proved almost invulnerable to aerial bombing, naval shelling, artillery concentrations and mortar fire, and have cost heavy casualties.

Portable Throwers, Too.

Portable flame throwers, carried on the backs of infantry men and working in coöperation with tanks, have been employed on the pillboxes for the last four days with some success. Operators, following closely behind tanks, were directing a fire stream against pillboxes while the tanks worked them over with guns.

Yesterday a young infantry captain devised a system of mounting flame throwers directly on the tanks, eliminating the hazardous job of following the tanks and machine guns towards the enemy's fire.

Flame thrower compression tanks and fuel chambers were fitted into machines by mechanics working in the rear area under an almost constant fire of a Jap mortar and a 3 inch gun which our artillery has been unable to locate and which makes life miserable for our men both in the front and rear lines.

Fire Thru Vents.

Today the tanks went into action ahead of infantry, advancing along a beach to Munda air field from Ilangana point. When a pillbox was encountered, the tanks' light machine guns opened on it, then a flame thrower operator poured an intensely hot liquid fire on the pillbox, attempting to send the fire thru the gun vents.

The scorching, blinding flash of fire kept Jap gunners away from their weapons and gave the tank's heavy caliber guns an opportunity to take their time and place shells directly thru the small vents—the only spot where they can do much good.

Then the thrower was turned on an isolated clump of underbrush—the soaking wet green foliage instantly turned brown and burst into flame. It burned so violently the gunners were forced to move the tank back a few feet because of the heat.

Since the New Georgia offensive began the Japs several times have directed their own flame throwers on our tanks.

WIFE RESCUES HAROLD LLOYD IN FILM BLAZE

Beverly Hills, Cal., Aug. 5 (AP).—Former film star Harold Lloyd was overcome but rescued today when fire followed an explosion at his Benedict Canyon drive estate. Irreplaceable original films of his silent era comedies, which he valued at 2 million dollars, were destroyed.

Harold Lloyd.

Lloyd was rescued by his wife, Mildred Davis Lloyd, who caught him as he collapsed in the doorway of his film vault, where the explosion occurred. She dragged him to safety outdoors.

Seven firemen and an employe at the Lloyd estate were overcome by chlorine gas and were taken to the Beverly Hills Emergency hospital. The Lloyd mansion was undamaged.

Bottom Drops Out of Defenses on New Georgia.

BY J. NORMAN LODGE.

MUNDA AIRPORT, New Georgia, Aug. 3 [Delayed]—(AP).—Today I ate a luncheon of sweet chocolate and hard tack, sitting on Munda air field under the wing of a two engined bomber which even the Japs would have to admit is "unserviceable."

A high officer made a tour of our positions and expressed complete satisfaction with the progress made in the last two days.

Not so conservative was a little, buck-toothed private with a long beard.

"We kicked the bejabbers out of them," he said.

The bottom dropped out of the Japanese defense on New Georgia late yesterday when one of our infantry units set American feet on the Munda air field for the first time.

Defense Breaks Down.

The field was not taken, strictly speaking, but the fact remains that what had been a definite defense, embracing strong opposition, now has become a desultory, anemic, delaying action.

I was with a unit on the left flank yesterday which approached to within 200 yards of the southern revetments of the field which for three months has been untenable for the Japanese and now is a symbol for the second successive land defeat of Hirohito's forces in as many tries in the South Pacific. Guadalcanal was the first.

The day's happening was like a page from fiction. As dawn broke, there was no reason to believe that today would be unlike any of the other days since first we set foot upon New Georgia in the first week of July.

Our usual thrusts were made, and for the first time there was a lack of opposition. We got bolder. We made advances which yesterday would have seemed foolhardy to attempt. Sorties of 1,000 yards were accomplished toward Bibolo hill.

Fortifications Unmanned.

There our units found strong enemy fortifications but these were unmanned. From other sections of the line the same reports went to corps headquarters.

After contemplation, the command decided to order units of various regiments to vie for the coveted air field.

Reports came in like Black Friday on the stock exchange.

Unit A advanced 1,000 yards without opposition. Unit B scored a 1,200 yard advance without opposition. Unit C knocked out a few pillboxes hindering their advance but suffered no casualties. Unit D approached the southern extremity of the air field, within sight of it.

"Unbelievable—But True."

Another unit passed Lambeti plantation. It was all unbelievable but true.

At the cessation of daylight hostilities Monday there had been every indication that Lambeti plantation was still three days away.

The same opinion prevailed today [Tuesday] as murky skies greeted another push. But after 9 a. m., it was known something strange had taken place overnight.

The Japanese evidently had succumbed at last to repeated aerial bombings, naval shelling, and land-based artillery, probably the most efficient the world has ever known, and mortar shelling of all calibers.

Sense Turn of Tide.

Troops swung merrily on. They did not need officers to tell them the tide had turned. They sensed it. Each unit vowed to be the first to set foot upon the Munda air field.

At approximately 2 p. m. one outfit was within 20 yards of the southern areas of the field. Five hardy venturers, unmindful of what might be arrayed against them on the opposite side of the field, yelled in unison:

"There's the field. Let's go."

Go they did. As a man, they dashed like sprinters to a wrecked Zero and ripped a plate from the fuse box, seized a landing light, and a piece of metal, then dashed back to their lines. They were the envy of their comrades.

Find Japanese Luxuries.

En route, our troops passed well cared for gardens and excellent foxholes in which there was every evidence of luxury even according to our foxhole standards. In one were some tailored shirts, white naval uniforms and a batch of Samurai swords still encased in a protective oil.

This was the situation: Our foremost troops were just off the airport. Our left flank occupied a vantage point on the beach near Louloku. Our right flank rested at the base of Kokengolo hill, which is a continuation of Bibolo hill and is the best spot for Japanese command of the airport.

Our reserves were atop Bibolo hill, controling the rear and available for mortar shelling of any strongholds found.

Resistance Reported.

As this is written in a well shielded tent in which the only lights in this area are allowed, reports trickle in that resistance now is being encountered. Whether this is a rear guard action is problematical.

Either the Japanese have found the shelling too much and have cracked, or we are being led up "the garden path."

We passed the gardens this morning, so the latter premise seems ridiculous. It is more reasonable to conclude that the Japanese now are trying to escape inevitable annihilation by leaving suicide units to delay our troops.

HOW ILLINOIS FLYER ESCAPED UNDER JAP GUN

Kearney Mesa, Cal., Aug. 5 (AP).—Staff. Sgt. James W. Nelson, 27 years old, a former Chicagoan, told today how his torpedo plane was attacked by a Japanese fighter aircraft during a raid on six destroyers and cruisers last Dec. 3.

"We had just launched our 'fish' and were clearing a destroyer," said Nelson, a turret gunner. "I couldn't strafe the ship, because I was too busy with a Jap float biplane that was attacking from above. He made a sweeping pass and closed in firing, about 100 yards away. I got off half a dozen bursts, then my gun jammed.

"While I was trying to clear it, the Jap flew directly over and I wondered how soon we were going to be in the 'drink.' Suddenly, however, a P-39 Airacobra fighter plane zoomed into the picture right on the Jap's tail, shooting hell out of him, and both disappeared. I guess our man got him, however, because a little later all the enemy planes had cleared from the sky."

Nelson has just completed 10½ months service overseas and is en route to his parents' home in Wooddale, Ill.

NEW OFFENSIVE, NEW WEAPONS GERMAN THREAT

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

The Berlin radio suggested last night that Germany would resume the offensive against the allies in November and wipe them out with new weapons.

Confronted with the task of explaining Nazi defeats from Russia to Sicily, the Berlin radio quoted a newspaper dispatch appearing in Madrid which in turn quoted "rumors in Germany." Here is the broadcast, recorded by the Associated Press:

"Madrid—Rumors are circulating in Germany that the passive attitude of the reich would cease in November, the Berlin correspondent of 'Arriba,' the official [Spanish Fascist] party organ, reports. By then new weapons would be ready and all plans would be completed for a retaliation which would be the most radical work of destruction against the enemies of Germany, he declares."

U. S. AND BRITAIN MAY RECOGNIZE FRENCH GROUP

Washington, D. C., Aug. 5 (AP).—The United States and Great Britain were reported today to be considering recognition, formal tho perhaps limited, of the French committee of national liberation.

The British government replied yesterday to an American communication of July 21, it was learned, and the response is receiving urgent consideration.

The United States government opened discussions with the British government June 16, immediately after Tunisia's fall.

Principal consideration was said to be the prosecution of the war from a military point of view and the military aspects of the relationships of the United States government and the British government with the French committee in North Africa.

RAP BUROCRATS FOR NEGLECTING BATAAN HEROES

Relief Head Promises Election Fight.

"The present administration in Washington doesn't seem to give a damn what happens to our boys on Bataan," Dr. V. H. Spensley of Albuquerque, N. M., en route to his home from a conference with Secretary of State Cordell Hull in Washington, D. C., declared yesterday during a meeting with representatives of the Maywood Bataan clan and parents of men of the 200th coast artillery in the La Salle hotel.

"Our committee got a little rough with Secretary Hull yesterday, but we want results on Bataan and Corregidor," he said. "We feel that the prisoners in the Philippines are the forgotten men of this war, as far as Washington is concerned. The Red Cross, too, apparently has been able to do nothing in the Philippines."

Heads Relief Movement.

Dr. Spensley is the founder and president of the Bataan Relief organization, a national movement to get relief and supplies delivered to the American boys held captive in the Philippines.

"Our problem today is not one of money," Dr. Spensley reported to the Chicagoland group. "We do not need contributions now, because our group already has ample funds. The problem is one of getting supplies to the prisoners. Secretary Hull and Gen. George C. Marshall have promised us that a sub-committee of three men from the war department will be appointed to see that a continuous flow of supplies will in some way reach the Philippines.

Sees Election Opportunity.

"We will use the next election to see that the Japanese held prisoners in the Philippines are benefited, since the present administration seems disinterested."

The 125 Chicago and suburban delegates to the meeting voted unanimously to coöperate in every way possible with the New Mexico organization.

Meanwhile, Mrs. Jennie Riley of 605 Washington street, Woodstock, and Mrs. L. I. Price of Harvard, both mothers of Bataan prisoners who were with the 60th coast artillery corps, anti-aircraft division, are endeavoring to organize Illinois mothers of Bataan heroes into an affiliate of Dr. Spensley's relief organization to coöperate with the New Mexico and Montana groups.

Award Posthumous Medal to Chicago Air Navigator

CONFIRM THREE NEW PARALYSIS CASES IN CITY; TOTAL NOW 30

Verification of three new cases of infantile paralysis reported Wednesday brought the total of Chicago cases this year to 30, Dr. Herman N. Bundesen, president of the board of health, disclosed yesterday. Of these 30 cases, 14 have been in the area bounded by Kildare avenue, Harrison street, Cermak road, and Washtenaw avenue.

Five suspected new cases were being investigated yesterday, two of them outside the district outlined above. So far this year there have been seven deaths from the disease in Chicago. There were no cases here prior to July 1.

Cook county outside Chicago has had 10 cases in the last six days, Dr. Edward A. Piszczek, county health officer, announced yesterday. Six are in Oak Park. Berwyn, Barrington, Cicero, and Winnetka have one case each.

U. S. GETS GERMAN SOCIETY'S BOOKS FOR BUND QUIZ

Karl Kraenzel, 3144 North Clark street, formerly secretary of the extinct German-American School society, turned the minute books, membership rolls, and articles of incorporation of that organization over to the United States attorney's office yesterday in response to a grand jury subpena.

The records are expected to be scrutinized by Assistant United States Atty. Francis J. McGrael when he returns from his vacation on Aug. 16, in connection with the government's denaturalization proceedings against nine alleged former bund members.

Kraenzel told Assistant United States Atty. John Owen that the school society voted to disband for the duration shortly before Pearl Harbor and he denied having any connection with the German-American Vocational league, for which group he also was commanded to bring in records. Kraenzel is a judgment clerk in the county recorder's office.

RETREAT OF AXIS IN SICILY MAKING IT A CANNY FOE

Enemy Sees Where Yank Forces Must Fight.

BY JOHN THOMPSON.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

AMERICAN CORPS HDQ. IN SICILY, Aug. 2 [Delayed].—Once more in Sicily, as in Tunisia, the roads seem long.

Having retreated thru this territory, the enemy knows well its capabilities and limitations. He knows where the road bottlenecks are in the towns, where important highways intersect, and what bridges might profitably be bombed from the air. Messerschmitts and Focke-Wulfs have returned to the skies which once contained only allied planes, altho we still outnumber the enemy in the air.

Soldiers Always on Alert.

And the enemy also constantly is seeking our artillery positions, to bomb our Long Toms [155 mm. guns], the 105's, and the howitzers which are beating at his troops, sending thundering echoes rolling and reverberating from mountain to mountain like the gigantic bowling game Rip Van Winkle heard in the Catskills.

And so, because often the guns can be seen from a road, the soldiers once more ride the dusty chalk roads with swivel necks. Their eyes, once glued ahead, now also scan the skies for swift planes which may dart from the sun to bomb or strafe.

Along one such road today we drove for miles to the front not far from Troina [which was captured by the American 7th army on Monday after this dispatch was filed].

A Symphony of Guns.

All day along the Troina road, in the valleys, and on the slopes of hills, the hammer of our guns provided a symphonic orchestra background. But there were deeper notes, too, those of the German artillery, which in this position has been used in heavier concentration than was met during the last two weeks.

The enemy's artillery, rocket mortars, and fields of machine guns, firing from the dominating hills, have been sufficient to delay our troops. Twice the Germans counterattacked and once succeeded in dislodging us from a peak southwest of Troina, but the combat team reformed and late today resumed the attack, while another team which had been stopped in a flanking move north and east also has gathered steam again.

Vasser Decision Delayed by Civil Service Group

The city civil service commission completed its second day of deliberation yesterday in the case of Patrolmen Patrick J. Rynne and Charles J. Schwertfeger, of the Morgan Park station, without reaching a decision as to whether they are to be discharged from the force. Members said no time has been set for resumption of discussions. The two policemen were suspended after the fatal shooting last May 13 of Elmo Vasser, Negro, 16 years old. Their hearing was concluded last week.

2 CHILDREN LEFT BY MOTHER WILL HAVE NEW HOME

Mrs. Lila Sarmont of Winthrop Harbor, who abandoned her two small children in the Lake county courthouse at Waukegan in protest against an allowance of only $20 a week for their care, met her estranged husband, Richard, yesterday, but she rejected suggestions by Assistant County Atty. George W. Field that they effect a reconciliation.

"I'll never go back to him," she said. "He hasn't done right by us." Sarmont, who was in Waukegan to arrange for the children's transfer to the home of their maternal grandmother, Mrs. Minnie Hanks of Winthrop Harbor, looked at the floor and said nothing. The meeting occurred in the chambers of County Judge Perry L. Persons.

Mrs. Sarmont, held in jail since her arrest for abandoning the children, Richard Jr., 5 years old, and Walter, 2½, yesterday was freed on her own recognizance, pending a hearing Saturday on a contempt of court citation. She also faces a justice of the peace court hearing Aug. 11 on a charge of contributing to the dependency of the children.

Maj. Gen. Stratemeyer Arrives in New Delhi

NEW DELHI, India, Aug. 5 (AP).—Maj. Gen. George E. Stratemeyer, until recently chief of staff of the United States army air force, arrived today in this theater of war. He will confer with Lt. Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell, chief of staff of allied forces in China. The new assignment of Stratemeyer is expected to be disclosed soon.

DOCTOR TO FACE COURT TODAY IN OPERATION CASE

Dr. Samuel G. Seinfeld, a physician, with offices at 561 Diversey boulevard, will be arraigned in Felony court today on the charge of performing an abortion on a 29 year old unmarried mother July 31. The case is expected to be continued because Assistant State's Atty. Theodore Kucewicz reported that the woman is near death in the Chicago Osteopathic hospital, 5200 Ellis avenue. Kucewicz said the woman had identified Dr. Seinfeld in the hospital. The defendant was found not guilty on an abortion charge in Criminal court June 10 and has been questioned several times in other alleged abortion cases.

BATTLE PROVES THE BAZOOKA IS A SMASH HITTER

Gun Used with Success in Africa, Sicily.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 5.—America's No. 1 secret weapon, which resembles a length of stove pipe and gives individual soldiers the fire power of artillery, is credited by military experts with playing an important role in the smashing successes scored by the allies in Africa and Sicily.

The weapon has been given the name "bazooka" by slang loving soldiers after a noisemaking instrument used by hill-billy bands. The slang name replaces "rocket gun," which Maj. Gen. L. H. Campbell first employed in describing the weapon.

The general officially announced the existence of the weapon, which makes a lone soldier the master of the tank, last March, stating that it was "built on the Fourth of July principle." Details of the operation of the weapon were held as a military secret, but it is now possible to disclose some details of the performance of the "gun."

Return to Simplicity.

The bazooka is novel in warfare in that it is a return to simplicity in days of complicated and scientific weapons. It resembles a mortar altho it is more powerful.

It is scarcely more than a piece of pipe about five feet long, open at both ends. It has a rifle stock and two tommy gun style pistol grips and an electric trigger. The trigger releases a spark which ignites a charge in the narrow neck of the rocket shell.

The projectile is between one and two feet long. The nose, containing an explosive charge, is tapered. At the tail are metal vanes which are similar to those on aerial bombs.

Flight Can Be Seen.

The projectile has a low velocity and can be seen in flight as it is boosted along its arc by the propelling charge in the tail.

Two soldiers operate the weapon. The firer carries the tube on his shoulder and aims it. His companion inserts the projectile in the rear of the pipe. The trigger ignites the rocket compound, there is a burst of flame and expanding gases push the projectile out the front end of the tube as they rush to escape from the other.

The weapon has no more kick than a .22 caliber rifle and its weight approximates that of a Springfield rifle. Its effect is devastating. The shell is exploded when it strikes its target and literally "eats" its way thru steel or concrete. It hits with the force of a 75 mm. shell.

Smashes Pillboxes.

According to army reports the missile has "burnt" its way thru three feet of concrete, leaving holes in pillboxes large enough in which to drive a jeep. It has eaten thru three inches of armor.

On striking, the projectile generates tremendous heat. Thermite incendiaries generate 3,000 degree heat. In striking against a tank, the bazooka charge hurls bits of metal at the tank crew and creates such heat as to incinerate the crew after killing them.

The war department has said that the rocket rifle makes the soldier the master of any tank that may oppose him. The weapon was developed when it was found that it was not wise to try to make larger rifles because of the excessive recoil that would result.

Experimenters turned to the rocket, which was invented centuries ago by the Chinese, and was employed effectively in the battle of Leipzig in 1813 and the battle of Waterloo in 1815.

Many difficulties had to be overcome, principally in providing for the steady burning of the rocket fuel and a means of keeping the projectile on a straight course. Ordinarily, rockets have a tendency to swerve.

The chief drawback of the bazooka is its range. It can lob its shell only a short distance. Improvements, however, are expected to increase its range markedly.

Another difficulty is that it is hard to aim accurately. Experiments are being conducted to rectify this.

Principle an Old One.

The principle of the rocket has been understood for many years. Its employment in warfare was discussed during the last war by Arthur Marshall, an English explosive expert.

The Russians are using a rocket gun with great effect on the eastern front. Recent photographs from Russia show mountings of six to eight tubes in racks. The Japanese, Germans, and Italians all have rocket guns.

The Red soldiers also have given their rocket gun a picturesque nickname, "Little Katiuska," from the heroine of a love song popular among millions of soviet soldiers.

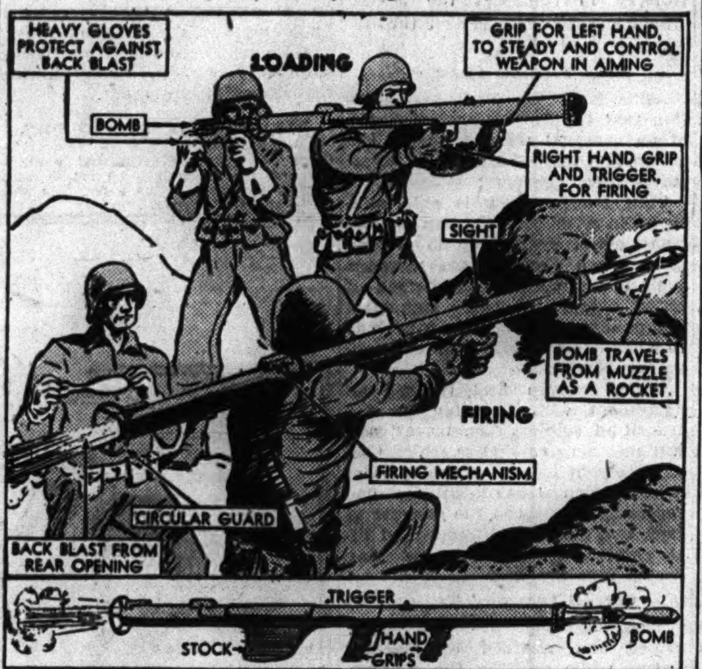
Gun Terrified Germans.

This Russian gun so terrified the Germans that they reportedly threatened to use poison gas if the Russians continued to use it. The Germans captured several of these weapons and began producing one of their own which the Russians call the "Baniuska."

It is said that the bazooka is the finest of the rocket guns, superior to axis guns. Americans captured a six-barreled German rocket gun in Tunisia which fires a salvo, each rocket weighing about 50 pounds.

The Bazooka—New War Weapon

(Story in adjoining column.)



Drawings indicate appearance and use of the bazooka, American war weapon which has been used in North Africa. It combines light weight (two men handle it) and heavy firing power (equivalent to a 75 mm. shell). The projectile is propelled by the rocket principle. The result is field artillery on an infantryman's back.

UNION SEAMAN DENIES INCITING NAVY GUN CREW

Mobile, Ala., Aug. 5 [Special].—Taking the stand in his own defense in a war time sedition trial, James Orville Couchois, 31 year old able seaman on the West Nohno and deck delegate for the CIO's National Maritime union, today denied that he had tried to incite disloyalty and insubordination among the navy gun crew on the vessel.

Couchois told Judge John McDuffie and a jury that he merely gave the gun crew a "mental spanking" because it was "butting in and jumping at wrong conclusions."

"I was having a lot of fun," he testified, regarding his purported un-American sentiments, "and I was doing a lot of talking. I'd just say what they seemed to want me to say."

Couchois' testimony is expected to be completed tomorrow.

EXPERTS AGREE INVASION NEEDS GIGANTIC FLEET

Don't Know How Many Men Can Be Moved.

BY WALTER TROHAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 5.—While the army and navy high commands are proceeding with plans to bring 11,300,000 men in the services by next July 1, the strategists are not at all certain what proportion can be carried to the fighting fronts.

In the Sicilian campaign some 3,000 ships were employed to carry some ten divisions of troops to the island. This fleet constituted the largest armada ever assembled in the history of the world.

On the basis of the Sicilian campaign, military experts recognize, it would take 30,000 ships to transport an invasion force of 1,500,000 men from the British Isles to a second front across the channel.

Figures Astronomical.

To move an army of ten million men to bring the Nazis to their knees would take a fleet of 250,000 ships. Military experts acknowledged that the figures were astronomical.

It was said that an army of ten million men would not be moved at once even if there were enough shipping to do so, but it would be highly desirable to move at least half a million in an invasion force.

Military experts said that there is still a serious shortage of ships even tho the battle of the Atlantic appears to be won and the submarine menace has been curbed drastically.

Shortage Affects Strategy.

The lack of shipping has affected allied strategy. Because the means of transportation was limited, the allies did not have a free choice as to opening a second front, but had to adjust plans to fit the ships.

At the outbreak of the war the United States had 1,398 ocean going ships. Many of these were sunk. The building program has added to the merchant fleet, but the demands on it have increased at a far greater rate since this country is maintaining men in over 60 outposts.

In the total of ships used in the Italian campaign were a considerable number of barges which ordinarily would be used in ship to shore operations rather than as transports. Even excluding these the fleet was one of immense proportions. Over 1,000 escort vessels were in the armada.

Barges Would Be Used.

In any invasion of the continent from England, it is presumed that the barges would be used as they were in Sicily. Military experts said that such an invasion force would have to have a proportionately larger number of escorting vessels because a heavier curtain of fire would be needed against the enemy.

The Nazis have strong defensive positions all along the French coast at likely places for invasion. These are far more formidable than anything in Sicily, which was but poorly protected.

Most military experts believe that if Europe is invaded the United States would have to contribute two million men to an Anglo-American expeditionary force. Some have said a million, but the majority hold that number would be far from sufficient.

Supplies Major Problem.

At present, the allies do not have a fleet large enough to move a million men except over a considerable period of time, let alone two or four million men.

Military experts said it would be extremely difficult to keep supplies moving to such a large force. It is commonly estimated by military experts that it takes 17 deadweight tons of shipping to transport a soldier and 3.4 tons a month to maintain him.

Military men say that as the American merchant marine now stands it could transport an army of almost a million men to Europe in one trip if the entire fleet were put into that service.

The same fleet could keep supplies moving to about 4 million men, if it remained intact and did nothing else. This means that the United States would have to abandon shipping supplies to other theaters of war, stop lend-lease shipments and halt gathering of raw materials.

HOW SOVIET AND ALLIED WARS OF WORDS DIFFER

Russia May Get Hitler to Quit: Lanza.

BY CONRAD H. LANZA.

[Regular contributor to the Field Artillery Journal and recognized as an authority on military matters.]

The allied nations apparently are placing great reliance on the psychological campaign directed to obtain the surrender of Italy. First appeals to the Italians stressed the advantages of surrender to secure peace. Later ones threatened bombing of cities and the searing of the country from end to end if the war was to continue.

Since the Casablanca conference, the allies have insisted on unconditional surrender and disarmament. No promise has been made to Italy other than that she would eventually be restored to a respected place among the family of European nations.

Only Party Allowed.

This has been subject to the demand that "war criminals" be yielded up for trial, by the allied nations, for their crimes. Mussolini is the major Italian war criminal, but who else comes within this classification has not been divulged. All that has been indicated is that it includes Fascists.

The Fascist party has been the only political party allowed there. Unless an Italian belonged to it, he could get no government job, and usually no job at all. He voted the Fascist party ticket to support his family.

Now some of the more prominent Fascists are uncertain as to whether the allies are going to treat them as criminals and possibly put them to death. History shows that under similar conditions, political and other opponents are liable to denounce persons they have a grievance against, or whom they would like to get rid of. So these Fascists hesitate about surrendering.

Russia's Tack Differs.

Russia has recently adopted a different line of approach to induce Germany to make peace. In its broadcast of July 22, it asked the Germans to overthrow the Nazi regime, just as the allies asked the Italians to overthrow the Fascists—with this difference. Russia proposed amnesty to Nazis who saw the light and arranged for peace. She did not ask for unconditional surrender or for disarmament. She seemed to express a willingness to leave Germany intact, and discuss terms, provided the Nazis were replaced by a government which could be trusted.

Last Sunday, a new Russian announcement came out, saying substantially that the earlier one meant business—an invitation to change the government and start talking.

Russia Not Discouraged.

So far, Germany has not changed its government. The Russians are not discouraged. Last Sunday they said they expected their call to play a more useful rôle than that which had for long been used against Italy. Perhaps they have some inside information.

The Russian offer of amnesty apparently excluded nobody. Whether it replaces former Russian demands that war criminals be brought to trial was not disclosed. Should Russia make it clear that it does, and that the proposed amnesty is to be general, it may induce the Germans to change their government as the Italians already have done. Hitler might willingly retire in favor of some other German not labeled with the Nazi brand.

Who this might be is a question. There is no free political party immediately available in Germany. Recourse might be had to reëstablishing the monarchy. This might be more than satisfactory to a large part of the army leaders.

Prince's Son Available.

The former crown prince of Germany is still living and has been very popular among his people. He is, however, probably too old to take up politics again. But he has a son of about the right age who has been serving honorably in the German air corps. He is not compromised with the Nazi party and might be acceptable.

Neither of the Russian manifestos of July 22 or Aug. 1 refers to disarming Germany. Germany may offer to talk on this basis. If Germany rejects the Russian offer it will be an indication that it is stronger than is commonly supposed, and that its leaders see a way to either winning the war or of prolonging it until all hands are exhausted and ready to compromise.

Due to the maze of propaganda, the real conditions within Germany and its occupied areas are unknown to us. We may soon obtain an inkling when the German reaction to the present psychological war becomes apparent.

Action in Sicily: Catania Falls; Allies Drive Ahead

ITALIAN CABINET MEETS; DODGES TALK OF PEACE

Moves to Strengthen War Machinery.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Prime Minister Marshal Pietro Badoglio's new Italian government held a 4½ hour meeting yesterday, but Rome radio, in long summaries of action taken, made no mention of any peace discussions.

The tenor of the actions, however, indicated that the government was concerned primarily with wiping out fascist vestiges in Italy and bolstering up machinery for continuing the war.

Press Gag Approved.

In one action which might be significant, the council adopted rules governing the press "in relation to the state of war." All journalists were required to have an authorization from the ministry of popular culture to be revoked if the newspaper acted "contrary to national interest."

This measure, said the Rome broadcast, recorded by the Associated Press, "is of a transitory and exceptional character and will be in force until three months after the cessation of the state of war while competent organizations revise the press for its gradual return to the fundamental principles of constitutional liberties."

Vote Rebuilding Fund.

The council also allocated "millions of lire" to reconstruct small houses for families left homeless by the recent bombing of Rome.

The council eliminated civil and penal laws "not corresponding to spiritual and legal traditions of the nation" and took many steps to place all Fascist organizations and activities under control of the new government.

Dictatorship Tightened.

CHIASSO, on the Swiss-Italian Frontier, Aug. 5 (AP).—Marshal Pietro Badoglio tightened his military dictatorship on Italy tonight, apparently leading his countrymen farther from the possibility of peace.

Vague rumors floated in London and Berne, Switzerland, that peace proposals were being considered, but they lacked confirmation. The rumors apparently stemmed from an Italian cabinet meeting and diplomatic activity at the Vatican.

Military Zones Extended.

Contrasting these reports were announcements by Badoglio's regime:

1. The marshal ordered the militarization of all civilian personnel attached to public defense, placing them directly under the control of the war ministry and, therefore, his personal command.

2. The Italian high command declared the provinces of Lubliana, Fiume, and Dalmatia, all in northern Italy, as zones of military operations.

Denies Fascists Maltreated.

3. The Badoglio government denied ministers of the fascist regime had been maltreated and revealed that most of them were present when the ceremony transferring the government powers to the marshal was held.

[The Berlin radio, reporting from Rome, declared the Italian government had flatly denied issuing any orders for troop withdrawals in the Balkans. The Rome radio announced a citizen of Bologna had been sentenced to 12 years and 3 months in jail on various charges, including the "crime of military defeatism," according to a broadcast recorded by United States government monitors.]

There were some signs of unrest in the country, but for the most part Badoglio appeared to have a tight grip on the Italian people.

Anti-Fascists Active.

Reports from Italy reaching this border town said that five anti-Fascist parties had issued a leaflet telling the people to "follow developments with open eyes."

[Reports reaching London told of demonstrations by the populace against the Italian occupying forces in Corsica, the BBC said.]

Commenting on an announcement that Cardinal Maglione, papal secretary of state, had called a meeting of the 16 cardinals now in Rome, the Catholic newspaper Italia of Milan wrote: "It is evident the Holy See is unable to remain indifferent in the face of a possible solution of the international situation."

Nazis Move More Troops.

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, Aug. 5 (AP).—Travelers who left Rome three days ago estimated today that Germany now has approximately 15 to 18 divisions [between 225,000 and 270,000 men] in northern Italy and is moving with incredible speed to increase this concentration of military strength north of the Po river.

501 AMERICANS DIE, 3,870 WOUNDED IN SICILY UP TO JULY 22

Washington, Aug. 5 (AP).—American casualties in Sicily thru July 22 totaled 6,741—501 killed, 3,870 wounded, and 2,370 missing.

Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson reported this today.

The secretary said he did not have the figures on British casualties for the same period, but they were "not a great deal higher."

Stimson disclosed that losses in the raid on Rumania's Ploesti oil fields by 177 American heavy bombers exceeded 20 per cent. Fifteen or 20 bombers were shot down over the target area, he said, as many more are missing and eight came down in neutral Turkey where their crews were interned.

ADM. KIRK BACK IN AMERICA; SHOT WAY INTO SICILY

AN EASTERN PORT, Aug. 5 (AP).—Rear Adm. Alan C. Kirk, 55 years old, who shot his way into Sicily with the blazing guns of his cruisers and destroyers, has returned to this country from one of the most successful naval operations in history.

The leathery-faced, blue-eyed admiral, commander of the amphibious force, Atlantic fleet, led a task force into Sicily, landed a division of soldiers and their supplies and retired without the loss of a ship. A revised casualty list showed that only six sailors were listed as killed, six as missing and 78 wounded in the ships under Kirk's command.

"We were damned lucky," he said. He paid high tribute to the 45th division for "putting on a blitz of their own" and to the Americans who landed their invasion boats in a "terrible surf."

INVASION MONEY IS WAR SECRET OF MORGENTHAU

Washington, D. C., Aug. 5 (AP).—Secretary of the Treasury Henry L. Morgenthau said today that "for military reasons" he is unable to give details about allied military currency.

"It will be explained in good time," Morgenthau said.

Reporters had asked his comment on questions by Walter S. Spahr, New York university economics professor and secretary of the economists' national committee on monetary policy. He said he had not seen Spahr's questions but that the treasury's Monday announcement covered all details disclosable at present.

Spahr had asked "the nature of this money being printed and issued in Sicily in terms of lira;" whether it is United States notes, silver certificates or "merely outright fiat money?" He asked, too, who is liable for its redemption.

SWEDEN BARS NAZIS' TROOPS, WAR SUPPLIES

400,000 Ready to Fight Any Retaliation.

STOCKHOLM, Aug. 5 (AP).—With 400,000 Swedish troops alert for any German retaliation, the Swedish government announced tonight that the transportation of German soldiers to and from Norway over Swedish railways would be halted Aug. 20.

The movement of German war materials thru this neutral country to Norway, likewise a three year old practice, is to cease Aug. 15, the announcement said, on the basis of a new agreement worked out with Germany.

Sweden's action is a physical and psychological blow to Germany. It is estimated Germany will have to set aside one-third of axis shipping now plying between Germany and Norway to transport the 250,000 troops annually carried over the safe Swedish land route.

Ends Pro-Axis Charges.

Aside from the obvious implication that the Swedes are convinced of an eventual allied triumph, the action also implied these new Swedish political concepts:

That Sweden now is able militarily to withstand German retaliation; that Germany is in no position to do much about it; that Sweden finds it opportune to rid herself of allied charges of being unneutral and pro-axis, especially as a prelude to a possible allied invasion of neighboring Norway.

When Sweden first reached an agreement with Germany for the transit of soldiers "on leave" and war materials carried in sealed German cars, it did so on the basis of a contention that hostilities had ceased in Norway in the summer of 1940, and also that Sweden had little choice if it were to escape being drawn into the war.

Carried Disarmed Troops.

The Nazi troop travelers were disarmed and guarded by Swedish troops while crossing the country. The government allowed no more to reënter Norway than the number of Germans troops which left that country via Sweden.

The government's reversal to a stricter neutrality now can be based on a contention that Norway is "not at peace." The recent American Flying Fortress raid on Trondheim and Heroya in Norway clinched that Swedish argument.

CATHOLIC PAPER WARNS AGAINST 'WILY' RUSSIANS

Editorial Says Reds Hope to Dominate Germany.

Warnings that Russia is not only interested in restoring her old borders, but also is aiming at the domination of Germany after the war is over, are expressed in an editorial appearing today in The New World, official publication of the Catholic archdiocese of Chicago.

"Her [Russia's] plans for a post-war government for Germany are frank and definitely free of the Fourth of July idealism of the Atlantic Charter," the editorial said. "Her attitude toward Italy is the same."

It went on to state that with peace imminent in Italy the "Russian bear steps into the picture with the wily technique of the fox," and "despite our official hush-hush policy toward the soviet, we have him right in the camp."

Paper Sees Sour Note.

Russian preoccupation as to the kind of government both conquered countries shall have, in the opinion of the Catholic paper, gives a sour note to the "sweet refrain of diplomats that our great ally would never stoop again to communize the continent of Europe and especially, God forbid, America."

The editorial referred to recent reports from London telling of the forming of a new Polish unit in Russia to fight with the Red army and asserted this force was designed to make it appear that the Poles in Russia under Gen. Anders had walked out on the allies.

It was charged by The New World that this new force was obviously communistic and largely Russian, and was possibly being trained to step into Polish communities as soon as the war is finished, in order to watch soviet interests. The commander, Col. Berling, was described as a deserter from the regular Polish army and an associate of a notorious woman communist.

Predicts Mad Scramble.

Continuing, the editorial said of post-war action: "A great avenue of political possibilities will open wide. As things shape up, there should be the maddest scramble in all history to establish ideologies which inspire the arms of mighty nations. Ours is democratic; Russia's is communistic."

The editorial was critical of the office of war information's reference to Italy's king as "moronic," and of the mildness of the rebuke that followed.

"It seemed to matter little that an apple cart of negotiation might have been violently overturned, that future American lives might be in the balance," the editorial said. "Sherwood's [Robert Sherwood of the overseas branch of OWI] customary intransigence had gotten out of the bag again, bringing a roseate blush to the cheek of his chief."

Sees More Against Catholics.

News commentators were quoted to show that in some instances the short wave broadcasts of OWI borrowed from the "Moscow line" to discredit the official foreign policies of the United States—and attempted to reshape those policies according to the ideological preferences of communists and their fellow travelers. The editorial maintained that the Vatican was sometimes portrayed as an organization to be opposed and crushed like fascism.

"There is an obvious movement in the United States to discredit the status of the Catholic church in the eyes of the world," it was asserted. "Most frequent bromide is that the church leans toward fascism.

"The sudden collapse of fascism in Italy opens up a perfect loophole for the pinks to shout down the Catholic church in the same breath. It is hoped that our state department is wise to the weasels in their own back yard."

The opinion that it is very important who arrives first in Berlin—British and Americans or Russians—was advanced by the newspaper.

HEAVY BOMBING FOR BERLIN NEAR, RADIO REPORTS

LONDON, Aug. 5 (AP).—A strong indication that Berlin shortly is due for a crushing load of bombs came today from the R. A. F. commentator.

"Berliners must be watching the shrinkage of daylight with some concern," he said, adding that the German capital was considered an important target because it was the seat of government and a great industrial center.

"It also is a very important target from the standpoint of morale. Berlin means a lot to Germany. There always has been a certain amount of bother whenever Berlin was hit. The German people have made a tremendous moan about it. Berliners themselves, however, have not moaned so much when the Ruhr has been raided."

COMMONS HEARS PLEA FOR PROBE OF BRITISH REDS

Denies Request Until Further Study.

BY JOSEPH CERUTTI.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Aug. 5.—An investigation into activities of the Communist party in England was urged in the house of commons today as a sequel to a seven years jail sentence for espionage imposed last week on the party's organizer, D. F. Springhall.

Citing the Springhall case, Laborite Daniel Frankel suggested that Home Security Minister Herbert Morrison conduct an inquiry to satisfy himself that the Communist party organization "isn't used for any purpose contrary to the national interest."

Declines Investigation.

Morrison replied that authorities were always alert for any activities endangering the national interest. He said Springhall, who had been a member of the central committee and the political bureau and was prominently associated with party leadership, was arrested at Communist headquarters.

Altho declining a special investigation, Morrison assured his questioners that the Springhall affair would stimulate the vigilance of British authorities and that if he believed it desirable he would not hesitate to take "whatever course appears most necessary."

Asked what he thought of Communist Party Secretary Harry Pollitt's declaration that the party was unaware of Springhall's activities, Morrison said he was not surprised at the statement and that in any case the party would not admit complicity.

Communist Speaks.

This aroused the lone Communist member of parliament, Willie Gallacher, who demanded, "Will the home secretary state how the character of myself or Harry Pollitt compares with his own moldy character?" Morrison made no reply.

Emanuel Shinwell, Laborite, tried to draw out the home secretary by asking if he suggested that the Communist party was officially responsible for acts of espionage and if he could substantiate it.

"I do not think there is any need for me to add to the answer I've given," Morrison replied.

SLAVE MART OFFERS BRITISH SUBJECT FOR SALE, M. P. CHARGES

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Aug. 5.—Charging that British subjects have been sold in a Mecca, Arabia, slave market, Maj. A. M. Lyons, a Conservative member of parliament, said today he intends to demand in the house of commons that the government take action to prevent a repetition.

Lyons planned to appeal also to Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden to inquire into the case of a Baluch woman and child who, he said, had been exposed with others for sale in a Mecca market and to "bring all possible pressure to bear on appropriate authorities in Mecca to have the market closed and ensure that in the future no British subject, African or Indian, of either sex is sold as a slave there."

[The Baluchi are inhabitants of Baluchistan, a province of India, which is occupied by a conglomeration of semi-independent and semi-servile tribes, many of them of fine physical type.]

ANGLO-RUSSIAN CRISIS ON AMGOT HINTED IN PRESS

Lack of Pact on Rule in Europe Cited.

BY E. R. NODERER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Aug. 5.—A lack of common purpose and a clearly defined policy among allied powers are rapidly leading to "a grave crisis" in Anglo-Russian relations, according to the Laborite Weekly Tribune.

The Tribune, which is edited by Aneurin Bevan, one of the leading Churchill critics in the house of commons, points out the possibility of friction if Britain and the United States enter one side of Europe with AMGOT [allied military government of occupied territories] while the Russians come in on the other side with their "national committee of free Germany."

Says Reds Not Consulted.

Altho Winston Churchill has stated that the Russians "were kept informed" about AMGOT, the Reds were not consulted on a policy to be followed, the Tribune says. The Reds did not consult Britain and the United States about the free German group, nor did Washington consult either Britain or Russia before laying down the policy to be adopted for "the gauleiter school in Charlottesville, Va.," the Tribune editorial asserts.

"If things are allowed to drift without mutual understanding, the potential antagonism will not be mitigated but sharpened," the weekly states.

Altho it is considered unlikely that National Socialism will collapse in Germany with the speed of Premier Benito Mussolini's downfall, the Tribune points out the allies are dangerously unprepared for any such eventuality.

Paper Offers Policy.

The policy of dividing Europe into several zones of influence of major allied powers has some backers here and in other countries as one means of avoiding an open clash between Anglo-American and Russian interests, the Tribune says.

The Tribune advocates a program leading to "a new economic and political unification of Europe under the joint leadership [not domination] of Britain and the soviet union."

BRITISH REPORT SINKING OF THREE NAZI 'E' BOATS

LONDON, Aug. 5 (AP). — British naval aircraft attacked a flotilla of eight German "E-boats" off Calais during the night and sank three and seriously damaged a fourth, the air ministry announced today.

Altho the British planes encountered anti-aircraft fire all returned safely.

The Berlin radio later reported that British motor torpedo boats had attacked a German convoy off Dunkerque just before dawn today but said they had been driven off.

She has delegated much of the letter writing to her daughter, Mrs. Max Walden, Green Bay road, whose son, Bennie, is a private at Augusta, Ga.

"We're proud to have six stars in our service flag," Mrs. Needham said. "That's what the boys should be doing, fighting for their country. That's their place until we get this war over."

The five sons: Pvt. John D., 34 years old, stationed in the Pacific theater; Staff Sgt. Austin, 29, Fort Brady, Mich.; Pvt. David, 24, La Guardia Field, New York; Edward, 21, signalman, coast guard, on a Milwaukee-Ludington, Mich., patrol, and Pvt. Charles, 18, Camp Forrest, Tenn.

LONDON DOCKERS BEEF OVER CUT IN CAKE RATION

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Aug. 5.—London dockers are worried about their piece of cake. They are angry at the food ministry for cutting their cake ration in half at workers' canteens and are reported to have sent a protest to Food Minister Woolton.

The dockers, many of whom are elderly men, contend they are doing work as hard as that of any branch of national service and point out that cake, a cup of tea, and a sandwich are all they get to eat between noon and 7 p. m. when their work day ends.

The Women's legion, whose mobile canteens serve 8,000 meals daily to the dockers, backed the latters' complaint saying, "These snacks have a cheering effect far beyond their apparent unimportance."

The original food ministry allocation allowed cake for 700 of every 1,000 dock workers. Now only 300 in 1,000 receive it.

Beightel, Webster City, Ia.; 2d Lieutenants Boyden Supiano, Racine, Wis.; Leviern V. Stoneking, Galesburg, Ill.; and Mathew Workman, East St. Louis, Ill.

CZECHS WELDED TO DEMOCRACY—BENES' BROTHER

Czecho-Slovakia must never become communistic if it is to emerge again as a strong nation in post-war Europe, Sen. Votja Benes, brother of the Czecho-Slovakia president in exile, Eduard Benes, said yesterday before the Central Lions club in the Hotel Sherman.

Votja Benes.

The Czechs have been democratic minded for centuries, Sen. Benes said, and it has been these democratic traditions which have helped make a small country of 11 million persons a key nation among the 450 millions of Europe.

"We cannot remain strong spiritually if we do not remain democratic," Benes declared. "The United States, because of its great material strength, could abandon its democracy and still be strong, tho you would be an unhappy people. But Czecho-Slovakia must remain spiritually strong if it is to continue to exist."

Close coöperation of eastern and western Europe and particularly the formation of a confederation of central European states is the only assurance against the renewed menace of German domination with its resulting threat to European and world peace, Benes insisted.

French Inquiry Ordered on Aid to Axis in Tunisia

ALGIERS, Aug. 5 (AP).—The French Committee of National Liberation authorized today an inquiry designed to disclose the names of French civil and military authorities who assisted axis armed forces to enter Tunisia last November. It appointed an eight-man committee headed by Henry Queuille, former senator, and hearings are scheduled to begin shortly.

GAS RATION ROW UP TO CONGRESS; BLUNDERS BARED

Ickes Blames OPA, Asks Higher Oil Ceiling.

BY ORVILLE DWYER.

Demands that action be taken immediately to stop a steady decrease in crude oil production, endangering our country's victory in the war, will be taken before congress immediately after it has reconvened Sept. 14, Rep. Clarence J. Brown [R., O.] said yesterday.

Brown spoke at the close of a meeting held at the Palmer House by United States senators and representatives from 32 states east of the Rocky mountains with Petroleum Administrator Harold L. Ickes and several members of his staff. Rep. Brown was chairman of the meeting.

After hearing Ickes the congressional group appointed a subcommittee of Senators Robert M. La Follette [Prog., Wis.] and Paul Cunningham [R., Ia.], and Brown. This group was instructed to continue the inquiry into the shortage of gasoline.

Pin Blame on OPA.

Obstruction of crude petroleum production for more than two years past was laid by every expert who spoke at the meeting at the door of the office of price administration, and Ickes admitted that it belongs there.

All of the oil experts said that the refusal of Leon Henderson and his successor as OPA chief, Prentiss Brown, to permit an increase in the price of crude oil is the chief cause of the decrease in crude oil production.

And Ickes, agreeing, declared that altho his first public effort to get the price of crude oil advanced 35 cents a barrel was made last April 7, he had for more than two years both verbally and by letter attempted unsuccessfully to get that increase from Henderson and then Brown. "And I didn't even get an answer to my letters," he added.

Slash Due in 'Few Weeks.'

Chief developments at the conference were:

1. Ickes announced that a slash in gasoline rations in the midwest and southwest will come in a few weeks.

2. Ickes agreed to appeal "immediately" the OPA's refusal to grant his request for an increase of 35 cents in the price of crude. He said he will take the appeal to the board of economic stabilization and if he is unsuccessful there will go to James F. Byrnes, director of war mobilization.

3. Sen. Bennett Clark [D., Mo.] in a plea for "equitable" rather than "equal" rationing, showed that the east today is getting 142 basic gallons of gasoline per square mile, while the midcontinent states get only 24.2 gallons per square mile, altho the populations of the two areas are practically equal.

The meeting yesterday opened at 10 a. m., with Ickes given the opportunity at the onset to present a prepared statement.

Defends Need for Cut.

The petroleum administrator denied that he is proposing a slash in midcontinent gasoline rations "simply to spread the misery." He promised that farmers are "not going to be penalized by any ration plan." He said that gasoline rations will have to be curtailed in the middle west because of "enormous war demands," falling off of productivity, and because "we are now at the point in the United States where we cannot be sure we will continue to have enough crude oil to meet the requirements of war and essential civilian use."

Ickes said that civilians on the east coast have had to supply a disproportionate share of the military demand. He pointed out that "if there were an unlimited crude oil supply, it might be possible to leave gasoline consumption in the middle west and southwest at present levels and still furnish more to the east."

"But in the face of impending limits to crude oil availability," he continued, "the only way that the war time oil load can be borne fairly is to take more petroleum products out of the middle west and southwest, instead of continuing [with the transportation problem solved] to take a disproportionate share out of the east."

Explains "Equalization."

Some of the congressmen laughed when Ickes followed this with: "Equalization of supply will mean, in actuality, simply that the people of the east, who have heretofore borne more than their share of supplying our fighting men, may now give their fellow Americans in other regions the privilege of sharing part of that burden."

When Chairman Brown asked whether he had arrived at any figure for the prospective gas ration slash, Ickes replied:

"No, we don't do the rationing. We tell what's available and Mr. Brown [OPA administrator] will do the rest."

Both Ickes and Deputy Administrator Ralph K. Davis used the words "equalize" and "equal" in discussing rationing.

Expert Tells Remedy.

Bernard Majewski, recognized oil authority, testified that OPA's refusal to grant a crude oil price advance thereby created the shortage. "There is a remedy," he continued. "It is to provide the incentive to make more crude oil available; advance the price. If we get the incentive to find oil, you can quit rationing petroleum products next July 1."

Sen. Wayland Brooks asked: "Are there not now wells that could produce more crude oil?"

"There are," admitted Ickes.

"Are there wells now available that would produce more crude if the price of oil made it possible?"

"Yes."

Won't Answer Question.

"Do you believe congress should take steps to increase the price of crude oil, Mr. Ickes?"

"O," puffed Ickes. "I'm not going to try and tell congress what it should do."

"I asked you a question," persisted Brooks. "Will you answer it, please?"

"I don't care to answer that question," said the administrator.

"What proportion of the military petroleum goes to our fighting men?" asked Brooks.

"I don't know."

"You know that substantial amounts are going to other fighting men, don't you?"

Ickes glowered.

"I regard our allies as OUR fighting men," he emphasized. "Perhaps you don't. I know THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE doesn't. I don't want to hear any political speech. I'll answer your questions . . ."

"You don't answer them very well," said Brooks, and sat down.

Regrets Absence of OPA.

Sen. Clark regretted, he told the meeting, that "the government agency which is the trigger man in this threatened ration slash [OPA] is, under our peculiar system of administration, not here."

"The reasons for the shortage," he continued, "are tragic and lamentable. It doesn't make any difference to the average citizen what alphabetical agency is responsible. We know the United States government is responsible. We know the tragic oil shortage is here thru inefficiency of the government."

Clark said Majewski had testified at the Kansas City hearing on the proposed slash that a cut below three gallons would paralyze transportation in the whole midcontinent area.

"If this proposed restriction is put into effect without exhausting every other means first," he concluded, "it may endanger the success of the United States in the war and the government will be reponsible for it."

Sen. Kenneth S. Wherry [R., Neb.], after shaking his finger in Ickes' face, said:

"I know all about you. I'd hate to be in a cabinet where you didn't get your way. I'm not convinced. I think you could have got this crude price increase if you had really wanted it."

Ickes Denies Responsibility.

Ickes arse, red in the face. "My efforts to get that crude increase go back all of two years," he said. "I can show letters to Leon Henderson. I also had verbal conversations. I didn't even get answers to my letters. And he [Wherry] talks of responsibility!"

"I'm charging you with full responsibility!" shouted Wherry. "You're responsible!"

"I am not!" snapped Ickes. "Not for prices!"

"You're responsible for the production of petroleum," said Wherry. "And I'm sure, if you try hard enough when you go back to Washington, you'll get the crude price increase too."

Rep. Fred E. Busbey [R., Ill.] had the petroleum administrator stumped as to what governmental agencies he would go to in order to appeal his price recommendation. Ickes also didn't remember at first whether he was on the economic stabilization board. He seemed befuddled about it and had to turn to his staff members to find out.

Pledges Action on Appeal.

On the price ceiling question, Ickes promised to go over the OPA's head to the board of economic stabilization, and from there to Byrnes.

"From there," he continued, "I'd have to go to the President. I don't know whether we'd go to the President; he's so overburdened."

Ickes said he would make the appeal immediately when he gets back to Washington—before the gasoline slash in the middle west goes into effect, he promised.

The legislative committee will hold another hearing at 1:30 p. m. today in the Illinois commerce commission rooms at 160 North La Salle street. G. W. Primm of Springfield, executive secretary of the Illinois Petroleum Marketers' association, will testify.

Simple Blank May Be Used for Income Report Sept. 15

Washington, D. C., Aug. 5 (AP).—The treasury announced tonight that 15 million taxpayers who must file a "declaration of estimated income and victory tax" Sept. 15 may do so on a short, simplified form, if they choose.

Covering estimated income, after personal exemptions and credit for dependents, up to $10,000, it makes an average allowance for earned income credit and other deductions, such as interest, taxes, and contributions. It is similar in principle to the short form income tax return, introduced two years ago as a simplification procedure. That form, however, covered gross incomes only up to $3,000.

Generally, the new declaration must be filed by single persons earning more than $2,700, married persons earning more than $3,500, and all persons, regardless of marital status, who filed a return for 1942 and whose 1943 income is expected to be less than that of 1942. Certain other taxpayers also must file.

Must Attach Half of Tax.

It must be accompanied by at least one-half of the amount of tax still due above that deducted under the 20 per cent withholding levy. The second half must be paid by Dec. 15, and a final return for 1943, together with a declaration of estimated income tax for 1944, must be filed by next March 15. At that time, too, taxpayers must pay one-half the unabated portion of their 1942 [or 1943, if it is lower] tax liability. Final payment on unabated taxes is due March 15, 1945, after which collections will be on a truly pay-as-you-go basis.

The actual declaration being mailed between Aug. 15 and 20 to all income taxpayers is accompanied by detailed instructions, together with a form for computing the taxable income and a table for estimating the amount of tax liability.

Only Has Six Lines.

A still larger "taxpayers' work sheet" also will be available at internal revenue collectors' offices for persons who wish to compute their liability more precisely.

The declaration has only these six lines:

1. Estimated income and victory tax for 1943.
2. Estimated income and victory tax withheld during entire year.
3. Estimated tax after deducting estimated tax withheld [item 1 minus item 2].
4. Total payments to collector in 1943 for 1942 income tax.
5. Unpaid balance of estimated tax [item 3 minus item 4].
6. Amount paid with this declaration [not less than one-half of item 5].

Wage and salary earners are allowed a 20 per cent margin of error for estimating their income and may file an amended declaration by Dec. 15. Farmers are allowed a 33⅓ per cent margin of error.

Farmers are not required to file the declaration until Dec. 15, but it must be accompanied at that time by the full amount due.

OIL TRADE PAPER CALLS RATIONING OF GAS A 'FARCE'

Tulsa, Okla., Aug. 5 (AP).—Gasoline rationing procedure "is rapidly becoming a complete farce," the Oil and Gas Journal said today.

Deficiencies in the present gasoline rationing procedure "have been apparent from the time it started on a sectional basis over a year ago," the trade publication said.

"The information on supply shows that if rationing is equitably enforced there is sufficient gasoline for every class of use without undue hardship on any one.

"The solution to this problem lies in adoption of an equitable rationing program and then enforcing it."

The magazine said that if the 27,000,000 family automobiles in the nation were supplied with the basic ration of four gallons weekly during August it would require 11,500,000 barrels of gasoline—and "this is only 20 per cent of the total supply that will be available."

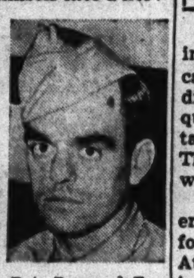
SOLDIER WINS STOP ORDER ON PAY FOR WIFE

Pvt. Raymond T. White, 32 years old, who worried himself into a nervous breakdown in Australia because, he said, his wife was using her $50 a month allotment to entertain soldiers and sailors in Chicago, filed suit for divorce yesterday, charging adultery, and obtained an order restraining the army from making further allotments to her from his pay.



Pvt. Raymond T. White.

White, now convalescing in the air forces hospital here, charged that his wife, Stella, 24, of 1435 North Dearborn street, failed to answer his letters. When he returned here, he stated, he discovered she had gone to Norfolk, Va., with a sailor and discovered 10 letters from the sailor that allegedly established that his wife had been unfaithful and had been using his money to purchase presents for the sailor. He hoped he could obtain a quick divorce, "just to clear my mind of the whole mess and become a worthwhile soldier."

Circuit Judge Benjamin P. Epstein said he doubted the temporary order would stand if appealed because it ran counter to an act of congress, but was issuing it as a service to a soldier with the hope that it might be honored by the army. White was represented by Attys. Joseph and Norman Becker.

U. S. TRAP CATCHES 949 MOTORISTS WHO LACK $5 TAX STAMP

Reports from the department of internal revenue yesterday indicated that its drive in northern Indiana for motorists who are delinquent in purchasing their auto use tax stamps is yielding big returns. The deadline for buying the $5 stamp was July 1 for the current year.

In the Gary area Wednesday afternoon 949 motorists were taken before Assistant United States District Atty. S. C. Dwyer in Hammond. The investigators were scheduled to work East Chicago this afternoon.

Twenty-five internal revenue agents and 25 state highway policemen are being used in the drive by O. H. Link, regional director of the revenue bureau in Lake county.

Wednesday afternoon they blockaded all roads leading into Gary and halted every vehicle that did not bear a federal use stamp. The drivers of the vehicles were directed to appear before District Atty. Dwyer that afternoon. All except 100 complied and warrants were sworn out for the arrest of those who had failed to appear by afternoon.

Of those who did appear, 650 satisfied Dwyer that their excuses were valid and were permitted to buy their stamps immediately without penalty.

The fine for not purchasing a use tax stamp before the deadline is $25.

HARDIN COUNTY MINERS SPURN FHA HOUSING

One-Eighth of 'Spardale' Project Occupied.

Harrisburg, Ill., Aug. 5 [Special]. —Five months after completion, a 150 unit federal housing project near Rosiclare, 30 miles from Harrisburg, Ill., is still a ghost community, with all but 20 of the units empty. Yet in near-by Rosiclare not a vacant house is to be found.

Arrow on Rosiclare.

Built at a cost of $565,000 for the use of fluorspar miners and their families, the project consists of 27 two-story frame buildings, each divided into four, five, or six housing units. Known as "Spardale," the little community was started Oct. 1, 1942, and opened for occupancy last March.

Most Prefer Trailers.

Altho the new homes offer modern conveniences at monthly rentals ranging from $18 to $28, they are finding few takers. People here do not seem to care to live under the thumb of the government.

At present, 1,400 men are employed in 29 Hardin and Pope county mines. About 750 are in 9 mines at Rosiclare, the largest fluorspar producing area in the United States.

These workmen prefer to remain in their own little farm homes or trailers, rather than move into the comparatively luxurious surroundings of the Spardale project. Despite the oak floors, hot air furnaces, laundry facilities, refrigerators, hot water heaters, showers and other conveniences which have been installed in the new units, the miners would rather live without "modern conveniences," they say, than be herded into dwellings occupied by from three to five other families.

Rent an Important Factor.

In addition to the dwellings, the project includes a large administration building with a community kitchen, a large auditorium building with a recreation hall, a repair shop for the use of the men, and a pool for the use of the children.

Besides the desire for an individual home and a separate plot of ground, another factor is the sense of thrift among the hardy miners. They won't pay $18 to $28 a month for the government dwellings, they point out, so long as they can rent simpler homes for from $8 to $10 a month and save the difference. Some of those living in trailers can be seen canning garden produce over outdoor fires along the highways.

2 NEW INQUIRIES ARE BEGUN INTO HOMES FOR AGED

Large numbers of homes for the care of elderly persons are springing up thruout Chicago as a result of the payment of old age pensions, Division Fire Marshal John L. Fenn said yesterday, as fire and health departments began an investigation of all such homes in the city.

Investigation began after Mrs. Agnes Peele, operator of the Aristocrat Home for Aged Persons at 566 Stratford place was arraigned on five charges Wednesday following the removal from the home last week of an elderly resident who was found nearly starved.

Complaints alleging that the buildings are not constructed or operated in compliance with the city fire prevention code governing institutions have been filed against Mr. and Mrs. Abijah Barden, who operate a home at 3949 Lake Park avenue; Helen Baxter, who operates a three story building at 3842 Ellis avenue, and Mrs. Elizabeth Heller, of 2829 Prairie avenue. All face hearings in License court on Aug. 18.

Platoon Sgt. John Egan, 21 years old, a sea-going marine, has just returned to the home of his mother, Mrs. Madeline Egan, at 5507 South Green street, after being in the South Pacific since Dec. 6, 1941. Sgt. Egan was aboard the U. S. S. San Francisco from June, 1940, to November, 1942, when it was sunk at Savo Sound. During the latter battle he received numerous wounds from an exploding 16 inch shell, and has been hospitalized since. He participated in seven major engagements.

RAID CLUB, SEIZE SLOT MACHINES IN ROCK ISLAND

Rock Island, Ill., Aug. 5 [Special]. —Predictions that the "heat" may be on gambling in taverns and clubs in Rock Island county were heard today following a raid last night by Sheriff Joe Schneider on the Playmore Social club in Rock Island and the seizure of 12 slot machines.

Operators of the club, Emil and Leona Selhost, posted $500 bonds each in County court on charges of keeping gambling devices and maintaining a nuisance.

The raid followed by three days and resulted from the arrest of Beryl J. Nelson, 36 years old, of Rock Island, an ex-convict, who was seized by a merchant policeman inside the Playmore club in the act of prying open the slot machines.

GRADE LABELING OF MEAT CUTS IS ORDERED BY OES

Move Ignores Congress, Supplants OPA.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 5.—The office of economic stabilization announced tonight that grade labeling of most cuts of meat will continue to be mandatory in spite of a recent act of congress prohibiting the office of price administration from requiring grade labeling of any commodity.

In a move which circumvents the congressional ban on grade labeling, the OES issued its own order, regulation No. 1, requiring the labeling on meats and canceling the previous OPA meat grading rule.

OES Claims Exemption.

In justifying this paper transaction on the burocracy's books, officials contended the act of congress was a limitation only on the powers of OPA and does not affect the broad powers of the OES to issue orders to stabilize prices affecting the cost of living. The OES was created by executive order of the President and not by congress.

OES contended the grade marking provision for meats is necessary to maintain effectively OPA's present cents-per-pound ceiling prices for meats, because the ceilings are based on various grades. Without such markings, officials asserted, "upgrading" would result and customers might be charged AA prices for grade B meats. Officials further contended that the meat grading provisions, in effect under OPA edict for nine months, have been acceptable to the meat industry.

Tonight's order, which on Aug. 5 will replace a previous identical OPA rule, requires that beef, veal, lamb, and mutton be graded AA, A, etc., by federal graders and that the grade be marked on the carcass and wholesale cuts and left on the retail cuts. Pork was excluded from the original order and the new OES rule because it is usually sold only in one grade.

The grade labeling ban was adopted by congress just before it left for its summer recess.

Fear Evasion Devices.

Capital observers pointed out tonight, however, that the labeling ban could become meaningless if the administration's economic planners chose to adopt the same device used in the meat order to require grade marking of other products.

Officials denied that this is their intention and said grade labeling will be required only where it is "essential" to price controls.

The OPA earlier today bowed to the congressional restriction by eliminating previous grade marking requirements on canned fruits, vegetables, and juices, peanuts, dry beans, burley tobacco, and rubber heels.

WORKERS TO SEE HOW THEIR SKILL SPEEDS VICTORY

Air Power Show to Give Complete Picture.

BY FRANK STURDY.

Scores of thousands of men and women who are contributing to the winning of the war in factories will be able to see in the army air power exhibit what the products of their work benches mean to the combat air crews.

The show, displaying the largest number of items of air force equipment ever exhibited, will open at noon tomorrow. Airplanes, guns, power turrets, bombs, aerial reconnaissance cameras, radio devices, and a wide variety of the implements of air war will be exhibited in Tribune Tower and two auto parking lots adjacent to the south. The exhibit is sponsored by the army air forces materiel command in coöperation with THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.

Shops' Interest Told.

Hundreds of industrial shops in the Chicagoland area are making equipment for the war in the air, Col. Alonzo M. Drake, supervisor of the mid-central district of the materiel command, said yesterday. Contracts totaling more than 5 billion dollars are held by prime contractors and subcontractors in the states comprising the district, with a considerable portion of the sum concentrated in and around Chicago.

"However small, every item used by the air force is important, altho it may not seem so to the person making it," Col. Drake said. "That is a fact that makes this show important to many thousands of war workers.

Whole Picture to Unfold.

"Our material is the finest to be had in the world. Much of the responsibility for getting it that way and keeping it that way rests with the people in our factories. Perhaps many of them see only the small part they are making; here they will see how important it is to the whole, whether what they make is an emergency ration to save an airman from starving when forced down on ocean or in jungle, clothing to keep him from freezing in the stratosphere, or guns for his fighting.

"Everything in the exhibit will interest the general public, which will see some equipment that has been a military secret until now."

Exhibits to Be Explained.

The show will be open daily from 10 a. m. to 10:30 p. m. Air force officers and enlisted men will explain the workings of their equipment to visitors. The show will be free, and the opening will be broadcast by station W-G-N in a half hour program at noon tomorrow.

Charges of OPA Bring Injunction Against Firm

Federal Judge William H. Holly yesterday issued a preliminary injunction against the wholesale produce firm of Cloobeck, Mose & Berkson, Inc., 35 South Water Market, restraining it from forcing the sale of plentiful commodities with the sale of scarce commodities.

CROSS NAMES APPOINTEES TO 6 COMMISSIONS

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 5 (AP).—Lt. Gov. Hugh W. Cross, president of the Illinois senate, announced today senatorial appointments to six legislative commissions. They include:

To study higher education: Senators Everett R. Peters, St. Joseph; Edward E. Laughlin, Freeport, and Arthur Van Hooser, Metropolis, all Republicans; and Milton D. Smith, Chicago, and J. Will Howell, West Frankfort, both Democrats.

Youthful offenders commission: Thomas P. Gunning, Princeton; Everett R. Peters, St. Joseph, and George C. Armstrong, Lawrenceville, all Republicans; and Roland V. Libonati and A. L. Marovitz, Chicago, Democrats.

Intergovernmental coöperation: Louis E. Beckman, Kankakee; Charles W. Baker, Davis Junction; and Norman G. Flagg, Moro, all Republicans; and Clyde Lee, Mt. Vernon, and Martin B. Lohmann, Pekin, Democrats.

Legislative council: Richard J. Barr, Joliet; Thomas P. Gunning, Princeton; O. E. Benson, Ottawa; R. G. Crisenberry, Murphysboro; Louis E. Beckman, Kankakee; Arnold P. Benson, Batavia, all Republicans; and Nicholas L. Hubbard, Mount Pulaski; Norman C. Barry, Chicago; John W. Fribley, Pana; and Richard J. Daley, Chicago, all Democrats. Mr. Cross is an ex-officio member.

The lieutenant governor also formally announced the appointments of Senators Arnold P. Benson, Batavia, and T. MacDowning, Macomb, both Republicants, and Richard J. Daley, Chicago, Democrat, to the post-war planning commission; and Earle B. Searcy, Springfield, and Walker Butler, Chicago, Republicans, and Nicholas L. Hubbard, Mt. Pulaski, Democrat, to the petroleum investigation commission.

ICKES DENIES SPEECH SLURRED BUSINESS MEN

New York, Aug. 5 (AP).—Interior Secretary Harold L. Ickes said in a letter to The Times today he meant no reflection on business men in government positions when he remarked recently that "New Dealers, bureaucrats and braintrusters" could not be blamed for any slowdown in the war.

"My speech was not intended to be and, in fact, was not critical of the business men who have been drafted for the war job here [in Washington] or praiseful of the New Dealers who have been here for some time," Ickes wrote. "I was merely interested in stating what seemed to me to be the plain facts.

"What does a man have to do to be understood correctly? I confess without shame that one of the smartest things I ever did was to prevail upon top ranking business executives . . . to help me manage my end of the war program."

20 PERSONS QUIZZED IN VAIN AS SLAYING VICTIM IS BURIED

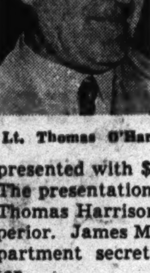
Phyllis Blair, 23 year old war worker and expectant mother who was fatally slugged by an unknown assailant near her home, 4937 North Hoyne avenue, early last Saturday, was buried yesterday in Mendota, Ill., where she once taught Sunday school.

Summerdale police have been basing much of their investigation on 20 names, many of them of men, found in a notebook kept by Miss Blair, but none of the persons questioned has shed any light on the murder, Capt. Thomas Connelly of the Summerdale station said.

He now inclines to the theory that Miss Blair was accosted and later slugged by a motorist who waited for her outside the Republic Drill and Tool company, 322 South Green street, where she works, and with whom she consented to ride because of the poor transportation in the early morning hours. A $5,000 reward has been offered by the Republic company for the capture of the murderer.

LT. O'HARE, WHO WILL RETIRE, HONORED BY 100

More than 100 judges, business men, and other fellow policemen, friends honored Lt. Thomas O'Hare of the Warren avenue station last night at a dinner in Little Jack's restaurant, Madison street and Kedzie avenue. He ends his service tomorrow under the compulsory age retirement law.



Lt. Thomas O'Hare.

Lt. O'Hare was presented with $500 by his admirers. The presentation was made by Capt. Thomas Harrison, his immediate superior. James McSweeney, police department secretary, was toastmaster.

Lt. O'Hare has been a policeman 37 years. For many years he worked as a detective downtown, where he and his partner, Frank Zink, were known as the "night watchmen." O'Hare won numerous mentions for heroism and efficiency.

COMBAT GLIDERS SHOW HOW THEY LAND FIGHTERS

Army Demonstrates for Allied Observers.

Laurinburg Maxton Army Air Base, N. C., Aug. 5 (AP).—The army demonstrated its combat gliders last night and today to 300 allied nations military observers and nearly 40 reporters.

Quiet as a whisper, the motorless airships carried out tactical demonstrations which drew admiring comment from Gen. H. H. [Hap] Arnold, chief of the army air forces.

"It was wonderful. The glider is a very useful part of the war machine," said Arnold.

Gen. Arnold watched combat gliders land troops and equipment in darkness on the exact spots they were supposed to.

Unheard and Unseen.

"No one ever saw anything like it before," he said. "You can't see them and you can barely hear them."

Today a troop carrier squadron cut loose its gliders over broken woodlands. Sixteen gliders landed from all directions, regardless of the wind and only two were damaged, their wings scratched by clipping young pine trees.

From the first 16 gliders, 240 fully armed men dashed into the woods, firing as they went. Six other gliders came in and their crews soon were firing two 60 mm. mortars, two 81 mm. mortars, two 75 mm. pack howitzers, and various light and heavy machine guns. A jeep rolled out of the upraised nose of one glider.

Ten Demonstrate Take-Off.

Later, a team of 10 gliders demonstrated a quick take-off, going into the air in four and a half minutes—one every 30 seconds.

"Our casualties in glider training have been nil," explained one officer, who said glider borne troops may get shaken up a bit now and then in landing, but they don't get hurt seriously.

Wooden Gliders Grounded.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 5 (AP).—The house military committee was informed today that the war department has ordered the grounding of all wooden gliders of a type similar to that which crashed Sunday at St. Louis.

Ralph Burton, committee counsel, said he understood the grounding order should stand until completion of an investigation to determine whether defects such as that which caused the St. Louis accident existed in other wooden gliders.

A committee investigator is in St. Louis inquiring into the crash that killed the mayor of St. Louis and nine others.

Burton added the committee has been investigating the army's entire wooden airplane program. Cancelation of two big contracts for wooden planes was announced Tuesday.

Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson reported at a press conference that approximately 100 gliders of the type which crashed at St. Louis have been grounded pending an investigation. He said the action followed customary procedure.

Mrs. W. B. Gurney, mother of kidnaped baby, and her oldest child, Marlene.

Albany, Ore., Aug. 5 (AP).—The father of 4 day old Judith Gurney today added his appeal to that of his wife for the return of their kidnaped baby.

The plywood plant foreman and police officials planned to make a radio appeal.

Mrs. W. B. Gurney, in critical condition at Albany General hospital, from which her 48 hour old baby disappeared Tuesday, issued her appeal yesterday thru the press.

State police are seeking a young woman who, carrying an infant and accompanied by a soldier, purchased a baby formula at a Portland, Ore., drug store the night after the kidnaping.

The drug store told police she also purchased a nursing bottle and nipple, but did not know which formula she wanted altho one usually is specified by a doctor, he said.

THEFTS OF CARS DROP TO 1,679 IN 7 MONTHS OF '43

Auto and tire thefts in Chicago declined during the first seven months of 1943, Capt. George Teeling of the stolen auto detail said yesterday. From Jan. 1 thru July 1,679 cars were stolen, against 2,175 for the comparable period a year ago. Tire thefts in the 1943 period totaled 413, against 2,504 for the 1942 period.

Capt. Teeling said that altho 1,679 autos were stolen in the first seven months of 1943, police recovered 1,730—the excess number including cars stolen in previous years or cars stolen out of the city and recovered here.

FOUR FREEDOMS ARE PORTRAYED AT PARK RIDGE

Park Ridge's interpretation of the four freedoms and the significance of the war for survival of civilization was presented last night in the "Pageant of the United Nations" as the evening's feature in the community's 17th annual summer festival.

Most of the city's 13,000 inhabitants, augmented by visitors from Chicago and other neighboring communities, filled the city's playground park for the pageant, which was the culmination of nearly two months of effort by more than 800 men, women, and children of the community.

The festival that first began as an outdoor carnival by Mel Tierney post, American Legion, now has the active participation of the Park Ridge Civilian Defense council and 31 community organizations participated in last night's program. Proceeds are used in the promotion of community affairs.

Col. Robert R. McCormick, editor and publisher of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, will be the principal speaker on tonight's program. Saturday night will be "Navy night," and a number of wounded naval heroes who have been returned from the battle fronts to the Great Lakes naval hospital will be guests of honor. The Great Lakes choir will furnish the evening's music.

WED IN HOSPITAL WHERE MOTHER OF GROOM IS ILL

Because Mrs. Mae Krueger of 4544 South Union avenue is ill and under treatment at the County hospital, her son, James Wilkinson, and Miss Margaret Wagner, 514 West 44th place, moved their wedding to the hospital last night. Wilkinson is a private in an artillery unit. He is 19 and his bride 18. The ceremony, read by Father Wilfred of St. Peter's Catholic church, was witnessed by two brothers of the bridegroom, Harold and Ralph, who are in military service, and by other relatives of the couple.

INSTALMENT XLI.
CORNERED.

Aunt Ellen went round to Angus' side and removed the three loose sheets that contained Maj. Harper's statement. Then she went round behind Wally and Long John and towered over Maj. Harper.

"I am not asking for vengeance on you, ruthless man. You would destroy your brother's wife and you would destroy my husband's nephew for your own scheme and —I think—for the sake of your son and daughter. Once before I asked you to withdraw this statement for their sakes. Now, for the last time, I again put your statement before you."

She slipped the sheets on the board under his eyes, walked behind Ewan McInnes and Donald Gunn, and sat down on her straw hassock between Ann and Diego.

At last he lifted his head, but looked directly at no one. His face was bloodless and yellow. "This statement is not complete, and some of it is—unnecessary. I would wish to amend and complete it."

"When you are ready, sir," said Hamish.

Maj. Harper folded the sheets over and then over again, and rose slowly to his feet. He looked directly at Hamish.

Without another word or glance Maj. Harper left the house. He was not limping.

No one moved in the room till the distant purr of the outboard engine came fairly thru the blinded window. They listened till it died away between the bluffs. Then Aunt Ellen rose to her feet and, not looking at any one, went out into the passage, leaving the door open. They heard the telephone whirr.

"Big Ellen speaking! That you Tearlath? Listen! Your father is gone up in the cobble . . . Yes . . . Ewan is staying . . . Go down to the pier and wait for him . . . You will give me a ring when he is there . . . God bless you."

In the silence the men looked at the wag-at-wall that was steadily tick-tocking away the time. How the hours had gone! And some time had still to pass.

One by one the men around the table got up and went out to see the dawn. Before Donald Gunn went, he turned and looked down at Ann and Diego still sitting at each side of the fire, their eyes away from each other.

"Do not be foolish now," he besought them. "The two of you—and myself as well—we could not help the thoughts we had last night."

She rose to her feet, and Diego rose and faced her. She stood very erect, her head up and her clenched hands on her hips. Her voice was remote.

"We had thoughts, yes. I will not mention them, for I am deeply ashamed of the thoughts this senor had. But, Donaldo, you remember the words he said?"

"He was making excuses—"

"Excuses! I do not want excuses for myself. I have prayed him not to forgive me. But I will ask God to forgive him!"

"God has strong shoulders," Diego quoted Spanish at her.

"Tut-tut, bairns!" reprimanded Aunt Ellen. She pulled aside the curtains and jerked up the blinds, and the light of late dawn came in and paled the lamplight. "Turn out the lamp, hidalgo, and go out and see the sun rise. Give the girl time. The tea will be ready in 10 minutes."

Diego, not again looking at Ann, turned down the brass lamp and went out behind Donald.

The men were in a group by the garden wall and Diego moved across to them. They opened out quietly and faced round, so that he was amongst them, and he felt that he was with them and of them.

"You're no' an easy man to stalk, Don Diego," Long John said.

"There were two—four—five men around me, and you were behind me for three miles of open heather, and I did not know."

"That was easy. There were tussochs everywhere and you were only afraid of being followed from far off. So any time you turned you looked right over my head."

There was something in Donald Gunn's mind that pricked him, and he wanted to get rid of it. He faced the old lawyer who was leaning rather wearily against the wall.

"You were hard on us early on, Ewan McInnes?" he said.

Ewan nodded. "Had to be—for your own sakes. You see, this evening—I mean last evening—when Don Diego came to the lodge I knew he was no killer, and I knew that Ann was guiltless having heard you; and when you proved that Maj. Harper was lying about his whereabouts in the afternoon I knew our men—"

"But it was after that you were hard on us?"

"Because our case was not complete. I had to show you that it must be cast-iron. It was, but I did not know then what Big Ellen was driving at. I feared she was stage playing, but she was getting her effects piled up so as to affect one man the way she wanted him. It was well done," He rubbed an ear meditatively. "I don't know. I would like to keep it in the glen as well as any of ye. But can we? What do you think, Constable Angus Campbell on the wrong side of the law?"

"Ay, am I!" agreed Angus. "Big Ellen talked me into it. I warned her she could not keep it amongst us, but with Hamish on her side I agreed to hold my hand till the morning."

Hamish, planted solidly on his feet, was blowing, spoke confidently.

"Big Ellen is not finished yet."

"That depends on the two statements we did not hear," said the lawyer. "I would like to know what is in Piobar Maol Tom's statement."

"Ay! would you," said the Piper gravely.

"If the general killed himself accidentally we need not trouble. If he were killed accidentally in a struggle for the rifle we could hush it up by a small bit of manipulation—"

"And what would you do if he wasn't killed that way?" inquired Wally the Post, his eyes crinkling cunningly.

"Blast it all, Posty!" protested the Piper.

"Thank you, Wally!" said the lawyer. "You have told me what I wanted to know. The killing was not accidental." He straightened from the wall and his voice was stern. "My friends, we cannot condone murder."

A mellow voice hailed them from the door. It was Ann Harper's. She had taken off her mantilla and her hair borrowed the light from the young day. The lawyer led the way.

INSISTS M'NUTT DELAY DRAFT OF DADS A MONTH

Give Congress Time to Act, Wheeler Demands.

Discretion in Call

Carson City, Nev., Aug. 5 (AP).—Maj. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey said today local selective service boards, acting in individual cases, would determine whether a pre-Pearl Harbor father with one child should be drafted before one with more children. Hershey said he anticipated no set rule regarding the drafting of fathers. He said that in some cases a local board might find the drafting of a father with one child would work a greater hardship than in the case of a father with many.

BY WILLIAM MOORE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., August 5. — Sen. Burton K. Wheeler [D., Mont.] demanded today that plans for drafting fathers be deferred a month to give congress time to act on the question.

Meanwhile, Sen. Chan Gurney [R., S. D.] said he had been informed that the present plans of the selective service system are to distribute its calls so that the induction of fathers will be equalized, with a proportionate number being called from all states at the same time. The South Dakota senator reported that he was told by selective service and army officials today that the drafting of fathers will be delayed as long as possible.

Asks McNutt to Act.

Sen. Wheeler called upon Paul V. McNutt, war man power commissioner, to change the effective date of the fathers' draft order by a delay of at least a month. Local boards are authorized to begin drafting men with children Oct. 1 in an order issued by McNutt last Monday.

The Montana senator acted after warning yesterday that he will ask that congress be called back into session from its summer recess unless McNutt modifies the order.

McNutt was out of the city on a two week holiday and could not be reached immediately for a reply.

Telegraphs from Montana.

Sen. Wheeler said yesterday that draft policies are the business of congress, and not of President Roosevelt and his administrators. The senator urged then that the administration wait until congress has had an opportunity to pass on the order. Congress is to reconvene on Sept. 14.

Sen. Wheeler telegraphed his message to McNutt today from the Wheeler ranch at Belton, Mont. It read:

"Your direction to selective service boards to the effect that they call pre-Pearl Harbor fathers not only works an injustice to many communities and to many farmers with small children but makes it increasingly difficult for many small business men to carry on.

Cites Kilday Bill.

"The fact that the Kilday bill passed the house of representatives by an overwhelming vote and my bill deferring the drafting of fathers until Jan. 1 passed the senate military affairs committee by over a two-thirds majority and is now on the senate calendar ready for action in that body on the reconvening of congress should show you the sentiment in congress and the country regarding this matter. [The Kilday bill would forbid the drafting of fathers in any state until all other eligibles in that state had been called.]

"May I respectfully suggest to you that you change the effective date of this order for at least a month and give congress a chance to define definitely its policy with reference to this matter?

"Why spend billions in countries which have not sent a single soldier to the front and draft American fathers?"

Sen. Gurney told reporters that selective service officials have already equalized calls to local boards in such a way that their lists of single men will be exhausted at about the same time thruout the country. The equalization will be continued, he explained, in order that no community will be called upon for an excessive number of fathers.

SHIP TORPEDOED IN ATLANTIC; ALL ON BOARD SAVED

Miami, Fla., Aug. 5 (AP).—Gunners tried unsuccessfully to hit torpedoes racing toward a medium sized United States merchant vessel sunk during a daylight submarine attack in the south Atlantic early in July.

One torpedo struck aft, damaging the steering mechanism, and the ship lay helpless while two or three others were fired.

Capt. George L. Mollison, of Redwood City, Cal., who described the attack here, ordered the ship abandoned after the second torpedo struck. All 70 persons aboard the vessel found places in the four lifeboats, and were picked up the next day and landed at a South American port.

[This department answers questions covering problems related to the social welfare of relatives of service men, both in the column and by mail, if stamped, addressed envelopes are sent with inquiries to Sally Joy Brown.]

Mrs. E. I. writes: "My husband who is overseas, has asked me to send him several magazines. I have heard that we could now send packages up to 5 pounds in weight, but I am not sure magazines may be included. I have read that they can be sent only by the publisher direct to the soldier."

ANSWER: It is possible for you to write direct to the publisher and ask that the magazine in question be sent to your husband. Under the new ruling, if you inform the publisher that you have a written request which you can produce if necessary, it will be considered sufficient authority. Packages up to 5 pounds in weight may be mailed, if you wish to send individual copies, but it will be necessary for you to present a written request to postal authorities. The letter embodying the request may be used only once.

We have a bulletin which provides information on regulations covering packages to men overseas in all branches of the service. It also includes regulations on the mailing of Christmas packages. Readers who are interested may obtain the bulletin by sending in a stamped, addressed envelope.

Mrs. L. N. writes: "My husband is in the army and has named his parents beneficiaries on his insurance. I think there should be some insurance that a wife is entitled to. Can you please give me information?"

ANSWER: The naming of the beneficiaries, altho restricted to certain relatives, is a matter of a soldier's own choice. I would suggest that you discuss the matter with your husband. However, if he is killed in action, you, as a widow, would be entitled to a pension.

Mrs. C. writes: "I am a widow, 70 years of age, and unable to work. Since the death of his parents, I have raised my grandson and supported him as best I could. For the last two years, he has worked after school and has helped me financially. He expects to go into the service soon and wishes to apply for an allowance for me. Will you please advise what steps are necessary in order that he can receive such help, and will you send me the required forms to be filled out?"

ANSWER: As a class "B" dependent, it will be necessary for you to prove both relationship and dependency. I am forwarding a bulletin which will explain the rulings of the army concerning the family allowance, and two of the affidavits necessary for each class "B" dependent. They should be filled out by two disinterested persons, notarized, and your grandson can then submit them as supporting evidence at the time he applies for your family allowance.

Other interested readers may obtain similar forms by sending in a stamped, addressed envelope.

CIVILIANS TO GET MINIMUM NEEDS, SAYS WHITESIDE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 4.—The office of civilian requirements has recommended that civilian production be held above "bare subsistence" levels, but holds little hope for restoration of civilian goods inventories which are near depletion, or have been depleted.

Arthur D. Whiteside, vice chairman of the war production board and of the civilian requirements policy committee, made public today parts of his report to WPB on the civilian picture, warning that the OCR does not intend to reopen substantial manufacture of many items formerly produced for civilians, if such reopening would mean deviation from present military and lend-lease policies.

"By wise use of about the same quantities of materials that have been made available for civilian production during recent months, essential civilian services and the production of essential civilian goods can be maintained," Whiteside said. "The needs of the war at present permit no other course."

Whiteside promised that "every sacrifice the civilian population is called upon to make" will be for the war effort, and that "no unnecessary sacrifices will be called for."

THE PLAN FOR BETRAYAL.

Mr. Roosevelt's intention to obligate the citizens of the United States, without the consent of their elected representatives, to support a world WPA has been defeated. Thanks to the vigilance of Sen. Vandenberg and other leaders in the senate, the draft agreement reached in the food planners' star chamber at Hot Springs is going to be submitted to congress. This is in itself an important victory for the American people but is, of course, only a preliminary skirmish, inasmuch as the real fight remains to be fought over the startling agreement and, even before that, on the manner of its submission to congress.

Originally, the administration had intended to go blithely ahead without consulting congress. When Sen. Vandenberg protested against this, Secretary Hull wrote him that "it has been decided, after consultation with the majority and minority leaders of both houses of congress, that United States participation in the establishment of this united nations administration should be thru an executive agreement." Such an agreement would have required no congressional ratification. Both Sen. McNary and Rep. Martin quickly denied that they had ever had any such understanding as Mr. Hull described.

The Hot Springs planners drafted a proposal for world relief comparable in its mechanism to the old league of nations. There is proposed a council composed of all the allied and associated nations, 32 in number, and any others whom this group may admit, but the machinery would be controled by a central committee made up of representatives of the United States, Great Britain, Russia, and China, and by regional committees for Europe, the Western Pacific, and perhaps other areas.

This international organization would be vested with all of the powers on a world scale that a New Deal corporation exercises within the United States. The obligation which it is sought to fasten on the American people is stated in these words:

"Each member of the government pledges its full support to the administration. Within the limit of its available resources and subject to the requirements of its constitutional procedure, thru contributions of funds, material, equipment, supplies, and services for use in its own, adjacent, or other areas in need."

In short, the industry and agriculture of the United States are pledged in advance to the task of rebuilding and feeding the whole war torn world. The American taxpayer will pay the bill. The term "contributions" makes that clear. Were it not for Sen. Vandenberg's courageous stand we would have pledged, on Mr. Roosevelt's signature alone, our full support to this scheme.

The only limit that there is to our participation is our available resources. Those resources presumably would be appraised by the central council on which we have only one vote in four [altho that vote amounts to a veto, inasmuch as decisions must be unanimous]. Obviously of the four nations concerned the United States is the only one capable of producing a food surplus and an industrial surplus. China had neither for export. Neither has Russia, which will finish the war with its best agricultural and industrial areas both ravished by the Germans. Great Britain has always been a food importing nation, and its industrial plant is also war torn. When it comes to appraising resources what standards are to be used? The agreement does not say, but we are in a minority under the scheme. If we are to have in the United States the living standards that we had before rationing was imposed, we shall not have a great amount of food for export. The administration, on the basis of dubious evidence, contends that this year the nation will have agricultural products equal to the bumper crops of last year. Even so, it insists that rationing cannot be relaxed because of the demands of our own forces and lend-lease. These demands are minor compared with the task of feeding the whole post-war world.

Of course, if the diet of the American people were reduced to that of the Chinese we could export five-sixths of the food that we raise. If we were reduced merely to the standard of living of the continental European, we could still export, perhaps, half of our production.

The American citizen has for his sustenance and service about six times the agricultural and industrial resources available to the average citizen in the rest of the world. Who is to make the appraisal of the "available resources," we or the proposed recipients of our charity who will control the agency that disperses those resources?

Obviously, this scheme cannot operate while the people of the United States have control of their own government. The Hot Springs conference was not concerned merely with food. What it brought forth is the plan for a world super-government and a scheme of taxation without representation. By its control of food, industrial products, and transportation, the proposed relief agency would, in fact, be that government. All that would be lacking would be the international police force to enforce its mandates and collect its exactions. That, we may be sure, will not be long in coming if we fall into the present trap.

ANOTHER FASCISM SURRENDERS.

Buried in the dispatches and the rejoicing about the overthrow, rejection, and defeat of Benito Mussolini, dictator of Italy and chief and founder of fascism, was a domestic item of less consequence, but telling of a victory on the same front.

The office of price administration has given up its enforcement campaign against pleasure driving in New Jersey. It has withdrawn its Gestapo from the streets and highways, has thrown up its hands, and said "What's the use?"

The victory over the Fascisti in OPA was bloodless. The American people just wouldn't abide the OPA's snoopers and "black shirts." Even the local rationing boards wouldn't coöperate. The OPA said that the rationing boards issued so many vacation permits to motorists that the snoopers found there was no use halting them on highways and streets. So the Fascists gave up. That, apparently, is a splendid fascist trait.

THE FOURTH TERM FAMILY.

It appears that Mr. Roosevelt does not think the New Deal is good stuff for the fourth term. It was good for the third, just as it had been for the second. For the third it picked up a few such phrases as "I shall say it again and again. Your boys are not going to be sent into any foreign wars." Such phrases helped, but the WPA, the AAA, the CCC, and various other authorities and administrations with dependable treasury connections were sound political assets, convertible into votes any time.

For the third term John Lewis was lost on the left side of the fence and James Farley and John Garner on the right. Mr. Garner had been a dealer but not a new one. He merely went home to Uvalde and enjoyed whatever there is to enjoy in Texas. John Lewis could not bring off much of a counter-revolution on the wild side and James Farley none at all with the safe and sane democracy. The New Deal kept Mr. Hague of New Jersey, Mr. Kelly and Mr. Nash of Chicago, and many other practical men of affairs in the party who thought the coattails were good for another ride, with a little more air. The no shooting war had created a great deal of suspense and Mr. Knox and Mr. Stimson, the obliging Republicans, were brought in to take charge of it and subscribe to the indispensability of the chief executive who wanted a third term.

Now Mr. Roosevelt, judged from evidence as it becomes available, has come to the conclusion that whatever remains of the political value of the New Deal is his, anyway, and that he is much in need of the comfort and support of substantial elements in his party he once was wont to lash with scorpions. There is no WPA. The AAA is in the wire. The CCC is in the army. The TVA is still in the Tennessee valley. Mr. Roosevelt's mind is elsewhere. Labor's gains are caught between the Little Steel formula and the meat market.

Mr. Roosevelt's suggestion that the draft age be lifted to 65 that he might lay his hands on workers, put them in service, and make them labor under military law was a sound totalitarian idea, but it raised the question of who had met their master. It didn't seem to be the economic royalists. They were giving three cheers for the war labor board which had ordered John Lewis to sign a contract favorable to the mine owners.

There is a story of New Deal origin that when Mr. Wallace and Mr. Jesse Jones, who is Jesse James to the liberal minded, had to be brought up on the carpet for party discipline, a meeting of the politburo was called at the White House. About the table were Mr. Roosevelt, Harry Hopkins, Mr. Rosenman—Mr. Roosevelt's Col. House—Mr. Smith of the budget, and one or two other members of the presidium. The question was which of the two, Mr. Wallace or Mr. Jones, should be shot from the cannon's mouth to some politically arid spot. According to New Deal report, Mr. Hopkins and Mr. Rosenman put Mr. Wallace's number up and Mr. Roosevelt agreed with them. It was just as if the mighty Casey had struck out.

The liberal minded are trying to remember that Mr. Roosevelt once was one of them, but they are finding the going rough. The commander in chief could not have fired Mr. Wallace, but he could have fired Mr. Jones. He seemed to reprimand both of them and reduce them from administrative posts, but what he actually did was to destroy Mr. Wallace's board of economic warfare and leave Mr. Jones smiling just where he was before. From there on the course of the fourth term was fairly well indicated and its happy family could be photographed for Aunt Eleanor's album.

There remains, of course, a great deal of "you can't take it with you." The fireworks are forever shooting out of the basement. A toe dancer whirls on the scene doing economic analyses. A nudist slips in and out of the shrubbery. The professors get fired from one office and show up in another. The Communists have adopted Mr. Hague as a brother, and he who used to roll barrel house punches at them is pleased to be a comrade. Mr. Ickes complains that he itches because of too close association with the Du Ponts, General Electric, Standard Oil, and General Motors. But for the fourth term Mr. Roosevelt has put the dog pound tag on Mr. Wallace and is a candidate for the Ole Massa vote. The share croppers will not be in the fourth term convention and, unless Iowa rallies to the hammer and sickle, Mr. Wallace himself may not be.

AFTERMATH OF A FAUN.

The strange case of Mr. Bovingdon, the eurhythmic economist and breechclout burocrat, fascinates this column. His sudden debut in the New Deal extravaganza was like an apparition of the Purple Cow, never viewed by mortal eyes; his equally sudden exit, under compulsion, was like the extinction of a thing of beauty and a laugh forever. A series of pictures of Mr. Bovingdon in the ecstatic enjoyment of his hobby, fleeing from imaginary nymphs and shaking the dewdrops from his twinkling feet, would have been like balm of Gilead for income tax pains.

* * *

We have been wondering if this ever happened before. Did any government in the world's history ever employ for purposes of economic warfare a leopard-skin leaper of the ballet, a pantomimic pursuer of the prima ballerina, a stylist of the arabesque, entrechat, fouetté, pirouette, and tour en l'air? Of course not. Many such characters of the realm of entertainment have been greatly admired as artists, but even the grand dukes of Russia, famed as ballet-maniacs, never believed that their idols, when retired for age, should have a hand or a foot in the national administration. Mr. Bovingdon's case appears to be unique.

* * *

Still, there was the Roman emperor Nero, who had the grand opera complex or its ancient equivalent. His highest ambition was to roll 'em in the aisles with his fine tenor voice and marvelous lyre playing. He went into professional singing, at home and on tour, and his audiences listened with rapture to prove their loyalty. But finally he came to a bad end.

* * *

Then there was another exhibitionist of Rome's imperial purple named Commodus, who had the sports hero complex. He became a triple threat man at gladiatorial games, he drove a team in chariot races, and went around town costumed as Hercules. Incidentally, he shaved his head, like Mr. Bovingdon.

VISION AT SUNSET.

Majestic angel wings of white, outspread
Against the gracious, over-arching blue,
Lit here and there with shafts of gold and red—
The setting sun's last messages, in you
I see His tender care. I watch you drift
Across the quiet beauty of the sky,
And at the vision feel my spirit lift
In adoration as the Lord moves by!

For a few fleeting moments cloud-forms show
A vision of His ministers of light,
Then fade into the paling afterglow.
Now hidden by the overshadowing night
I cannot see them, but I know that still
His promises He surely will fulfill!

YOUTH GOES QUESTING.

"Up at the dawn and over the world!"
The heart of a lad sings clear.
The stormy passage he cannot know,
And he scorns all talk of fear.

"At the end of the world is the golden goal,"
He sings as he faces the sun;
And who am I to shatter his faith—
I am old and my trek is done.

So out he goes from the dear home door,
Goes out on a journey long.
God help him to find the goal he seeks,
And keep in his heart a song!

REVIVE THE ART OF COOKING.

A FEW weeks ago, in one of our discussions, mention was made of the absurd dictum that one-third of our population is seriously underfed. The implication, of course, is that insufficient food is available and that a fatherly government should supply it.

In 1939, Great Britain evacuated thousands of mothers and children to rural districts. The country dwellers expected to be confronted with pale, emaciated youngsters. When the trains were unloaded, the excellent physical condition of the city folk was a surprise. There were no signs of rickets and the usual diseases encountered two or three generations ago were absent.

But this striking fact was noted. The culinary art, by and large, was unknown. The old tradition of the home was lacking and many a tot remarked, when loitering in the kitchen of his new found residence, that he had never before seen a meal cooked. In addition, there was a curious lack of independence. The visitors did exactly as they were told, and were willing to help when directed. But the women had to be taught even the simplest housekeeping procedure.

The answer is that they had been "welfared" to death. They had been carried to public clinics for the study of health problems and to community centers for "uplift"—while the nearest delicatessen or fried fish shop furnished 90 per cent of the edibles.

Furthermore, they were taking nostrums constantly. Under the panel system of medical practice, they were able to go to the physician as often as they wished and get a bottle of medicine. When this failed, the chemist shop was haunted for some surefire concoction guaranteed to relieve this or that.

The Arcadian sojourn of tens of thousands of this group has worked a transformation. In a recent debate in the house of lords, Geddes remarked that these listless, incompetent mothers had been shown how to make their own firesides attractive. They did not go to school, they were not visited by "experts"—they merely learned by doing, by becoming a part of the households where they were quartered.

One observer summed up the situation with the remark that the young ladies of England, particularly the city bred, needed instruction in the function and duties of motherhood.

The conclusion appears to be renewed emphasis on education. Every girl who reaches the age of 14 should have passed thru courses which embody some of the training obtained by nurses and a brief résumé of the principles of dietetics. This includes the economics of marketing and the preparation of dishes for the table.

That public health has made real progress cannot be gainsaid. The only unfortunate note is the universal lack of resourcefulness. All too many had been coddled into helplessness. With more intelligent administration, these people will emerge with a higher sense of national and personal morale. This will be accomplished when parents assume the responsibility of their own progeny.

DISTURBED BY BREAD.

A. B. writes: Why can't I eat bread or anything containing yeast without developing indigestion?

REPLY.

A manifestation of sensitivity and not dyspepsia. You may be allergic to wheat or the protein of yeast. Immunity may be acquired by starting with a tiny fraction, increasing the quantity until you can take a full helping.

4-F'S.

Bud writes: I expect to be given a physical by the draft board soon. I have several things wrong with me and wonder if I'll be accepted. Do you have a list of the conditions that fellows are turned down for?

REPLY.

The standards are not uniform. Furthermore, the requirements are changed from time to time. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for list of physical defects that usually cause rejections.

IF STRONG ENOUGH.

W. G. writes: Is it dangerous for a woman with an arrested case of tuberculosis to have children?

REPLY.

Not if enough time has elapsed [from one to three years] following the disappearance of acute symptoms. It is assumed, of course, that the patient is in excellent physical condition.

ABSORPTION.

J. S. writes: How can nicotine get into the system if a cigar smoker does not inhale?

REPLY.

Thru the mucous lining within the mouth, nostrils, etc. A fractional amount is swallowed with the saliva.

Handwriting on the Wall.

A scout who calls himself Billong and is of a romantic disposition, always eager to know who loves whom enthusiastically, devotes his leisure hours to deciphering the chalk inscriptions in underpasses. Jerry and His Uncles.

Jerry Mangione, a dark, intense young man who is kin to every one in Sicily, passed thru town the other day full of odd tales about his kinsmen. He is a native American himself and was born in Rochester, N. Y., which he terms just a bit of transplanted Sicily, for so many of his relatives left their home, Montallegro, in southwestern Sicily to settle in Rochester that their original home now is a ghost town. Not long ago he wrote a life-with-father-ish book about the colony they set up in Rochester. The book is called "Mount Allegro" and is sly and a little wicked, but all Mangione's relatives love it. He said his greatest admirers are those of his clan who are unable to read.

Back in 1936, after hearing his relatives dilate for years about the beauty and wonders and charm of their native land, he ventured to Italy and found nests of welcoming kinsmen in the port city, Porto Empèdocle [now called Hokle-dokle by American soldiers]. He was disappointed in the port, and in Sicily, which he found too dusty, crumbled, and remnanty for his brittle American outlook, but he loved his relatives.

His visit came right after the Ethiopian victory and he found all the Sicilians pretty happy about the whole thing. They had been led to believe Ethiopia was a counterpart of the United States, a world of smooth highways and smart hotels, where a fellow could go, pile up a lot of money in a year, and return to Sicily to an old age of slothful and winey ease. He thinks they must be sadly disillusioned now, but even then he found a few skeptics, one of whom was his uncle. His uncle said he didn't think Ethiopia could be worth much or else the English would have taken it long ago.

"Every one quieted my uncle," Mangione told us, "and explained that he was always like that—a skeptic."

And dance a summer saraband
While holding water from the land.

And filters from a stagnant mire
Thru alchemy of heavenly fire.
Here shines a peace that always is Awaiting man to make it his.

YOUNG SOLDIERS BEST.

Chicago, July 29.—High ranking army officials have made no secret of the fact that younger men from 18 years of age to 28 make the best soldiers and that older men, particularly from 33 to 38, are of very little military value. Such being the case, why must homes which have been established from 8 to 15 years be broken up merely because these couples are so unfortunate as to be childless, just to add inferior material to a large and growing army. In many instances, such men are taken from positions of considerable importance and their replacement seriously intensifies the man power shortages.

The force of the foregoing argument is doubly apparent when we consider the further fact that the services are already reported to be within 10 per cent or so of their announced goal and that shortage can be readily supplied by weeding out the younger single "indispensables" in war work and from the ranks of the million or more young men reaching 18 each year.

ROOSEVELT ON VETERANS.

Chicago, Aug. 2.—The President in his address of July 28 said: "But the members of the armed forces have been compelled to make greater economic sacrifice and every other kind of sacrifice than the rest of us, and are entitled to definite action to help take care of their special problems."

It is interesting to compare this with his view on Oct. 2, 1933, as expressed in his speech to the American Legion at Chicago, in which he said: "The second principle is that no person because he wore the uniform, must thereafter be placed in a special class of beneficiaries over and above all other citizens. The fact of wearing the uniform does not mean that he can demand and receive from his government a benefit which no other citizen receives."

Princess Anne, Md., July 30.—If Maryland, a litmus paper state, goes Republican next year, among the contributing factors will be the corrupt practices of the O'Connor-Tawes pleasure driving political machine and its phony proclamations of patriotism. Benton, Ill., Aug. 2.—If Deneen Watson wants to help formulate the policies of the Republican party on post-war plans, wouldn't it be a good idea for him to join the military service and help win the war? The last time I saw him he looked like he was physically fit to bear arms. At least as capable as my three sons who are in the service. There are plenty of Republicans past military age who can look after the interests of the party during the war. Some military service and experience in actual combat would make Deneen far more capable of helping the party after the war is over.

WAS IT REALLY BEEF?

Chicago, July 30.—Why is it that the government takes such precaution in attempting to hold down inflation, and still allows eating places to put most any price desired on food and expects John Citizen to be well satisfied? The average person is willing to pay legitimate prices for food that he must buy on the outside, but he should at least get what he is paying for.

I was in an eating place the other week where the price of a T-bone steak was listed at $3 with the usual trimmings. Being hungry for a good piece of meat, I ordered it. To my surprise, when it was served, I found it to be just a thick [and not too thick at that] slice of top sirloin steak. Under normal times, the whole dinner would have sold at 75 to 85 cents. If these eating places want to discourage the public from buying choice cuts by placing prohibitive prices on them, okeh, but if a customer does elect to treat himself every six months, then he should get what he pays for.

TENANTS STICK.

Chicago, July 31.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—We have purchased a house but [1] cannot get the tenants out. We bought it the first of April and were told we could move in the first of May. We have planted a garden there and we mow the lawn and keep the yard cleaned up.

At first we looked for houses for them and found several they could have rented but they were either too large or too small. They told us in June that they had bought a house and would be out the 15th of July, but now they say they don't know when they will be out. The house which we occupy is for sale and we must move this fall and should prefer to move before school starts so our children won't have to be transferred during the school year.

2. Is there any way we can get them out?

N. H.

1. The mere fact that you have purchased is not enough to give you a right to put the tenants out. The rights of the tenants depend on the nature of their tenancy.

2. If their tenancy is by the month, you should serve a 30 day notice and follow it up with a suit for possession.

Joan Burgess Will Christen New Sub Chaser Tomorrow

BY JUDITH CASS.

MR. AND MRS. KENNETH F. Burgess and their daughter, Joan, are leaving today for Sturgeon Bay, Wis., where to-morrow Miss Burgess will have the thrill of christening a new sub-chaser, the P C 1175, when it is launched at 3:30 p. m. at the Leatham D. Smith shipyards. Mr. Smith and Mr. Burgess were classmates at the University of Wisconsin, so the ship builder's thoughts naturally turned to the daughter of his old friend when the time came to decide on a sponsor for the ship.

His choice was made completely appropriate by the fact that Miss Burgess' brother, Lt. Kenneth Burgess Jr., recently completed 11 months in command of a sister ship of the P C 1175. Their brother-in-law, Lt. [j. g.] James E. Day, is executive officer of another sister ship, located in the mid-Pacific area.

It will be a double launching to-morrow at the shipyards, for a 317 frigate Chattanooga will go down the ways in the same ceremony. The ships will be launched sideways. Preceding the christenings there will be a gala luncheon party. The Burgess family will spend the week-end in Sturgeon Bay. Miss Burgess will be a senior at the Roycemore school this fall.

Woman's Symphony Board Will Give Dinner Aug. 18.

The latest party planned by the Women's Symphony orchestra board is a Javanese festival dinner to be given on Aug. 18 in the Sarong room at 16 East Huron street, where members and associates of the symphony will dine and dance under the stars that night, weather permitting. Devi Dja and her troupe of Bali-Java dancers and a native orchestra will entertain. The menu will be Javanese.

Mrs. Edward M. Whitting and Mrs. Russell D. Hobbs are co-chairmen of the party. Sarongs as scarves will be a popular part of the evening's costumes, and some of the men guests may even add batik sarongs over their dinner clothes, as they are worn in Java. Mrs. Ernest Kruetgen, Mrs. George Woodruff, and Mrs. Randolph Bohrer are others on the committee.

Friends of Dr. and Mrs. Dan U. Cameron will be interested to hear that their son, Barton, has been promoted to a major in the army. He is stationed at Jefferson Barracks, Mo., where he and Mrs. Cameron are living.

Edward F. Wilsons to Be Hosts to Red Cross Unit.

The 75 guests whom the Edward Foss Wilsons have invited out to Edellyn farms tomorrow have been warned to come in country togs and flat heeled shoes, for the threshing is in full swing and some of the visitors may be drafted for service. The Wilsons have planned a picnic luncheon and afternoon at the farm for the 75 women enrolled in the Red Cross unit meeting every Thursday night at Wilson & Co.'s general office. The hosts will provide train tickets, and the group will travel on the 11:07 a. m. electric and return late in the afternoon on the steam train.

The company's Red Cross unit was organized during the first World war and made an outstanding record rolling bandages. At the start of the present war the unit was reassembled, with Mrs. Wilson and Miss Virginia Johnson as co-chairmen. The group meets each Thursday night, with a dinner served first by the company.

Mary McNulty's Wedding Will Take Place Aug. 21.

In Sts. Faith, Hope, and Charity church in Winnetka, where her sister and two brothers were married, Miss Mary McNulty will become the bride of Dr. John Nurnberger at 10 a. m. on Aug. 21. The James J. McNultys of Winnetka will give their daughter's wedding breakfast later at the Michigan Shores club. Mrs. Mark Mitchell Jr. [Marguerite McNulty] will be her sister's matron of honor, and another sister, Kathleen, will be maid of honor.

Dr. Nurnberger, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lothar Nurnberger of Chase avenue, is completing his internship this month at Evanston hospital, preparatory to going on active duty as a first lieutenant in the army. He studied at Loyola and Northwestern universities. Miss McNulty was graduated from Mundelein college.

Ravinia Festival Season Drawing to Close

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

Mrs. William P. Treacy of Evanston, wearing a long sleeved dinner gown heralded as proper dress for the Ravinia Festival season, which is in its final week. George Szell is concluding the concert series as guest conductor with the Chicago Symphony orchestra. The annual Musical Roundup for workers and sponsors of the festival will be presented at 8 p. m. Sunday. One week of chamber music performances will follow next week.

Jewelry Used as Accent for Simple Dresses

BY REA SEEGER.

Here's a clever new idea for accent duty on the severely simple and straight streamlined day time dresses launched for fall! Combine your biggest clips and chest pins with bracelets and necklaces, multi-strand choker or the double strand formations. Clip or pin your brooches and large clip jeweled pieces at the side, holding the strands of the necklace together. This can be worked with gold and silver jewelry, with luxury jeweled pieces and with costume pieces of plastic or beads.

Big jeweled clips are exceptionally effective with three or four strand pearl necklaces. Long ropes of pearls in gray, pink, bronze, and white can be combined with silver filagree clips or with gold clips set with many colored jewels. Stunning modernistic pieces in abstract designs in gleaming gold are ideal clips to fasten thru the strands of gold beads, and the same idea is successfully managed with silver beads and silver clips.

Very handsome bracelets are assembled with long ropes of beads, pearl, silver, coral, gold, and the plastics, if a large sized clip or pin holds the wound strands together. The contrast of metal and jewels and color is up to the individual.

This bright jewelry combination is easily used for hat and bag trim. Dated dull dresses can be completely rejuvenated with such combinations and both new and old jewelry make them easy to manage. A pair of the newest out-size earrings completes a jewelry ensemble which can turn the dullest dress into a costume of enviable distinction.

Weddings

Mr. and Mrs. Alexander E. Newmark of Stratford place have announced the marriage on April 1 of their daughter, Roberta Helen, to Ensign Jerome Michael Hirtenstein, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Hirtenstein of Kenmore avenue. Ensign Hirtenstein recently left for overseas duty. Until then, he and his bride were at home in Norfolk, Va.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Mendyke of South Escanaba avenue have announced the marriage on July 17 of their daughter, Alice, to Staff Sgt. Kit Edward Carson, son of Mrs. Alice Carson of La Junta, Colo., and grandson of Kit Carson, famed scout and Indian fighter of the American pioneer era. Sgt. Carson is stationed with the marines in North Carolina.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Gilman Jordan of 70th place announce the marriage of their daughter, Dorothy Leora, to Lawrence Sanford Gibson, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. T. F. Gibson of Urbana, Ill. The wedding took place on June 19 in the Centenary Methodist church in St. Louis, Mo. Mr. Gibson and his bride are at home in Sidney, Ill. They both attended the University of Illinois.

White Collar GIRL

BY RUTH MACKAY

What Price Executives!

Maybe it means something . . . then again, it may not mean a thing. But, anyway, in a Clark street bookstore there is a display of books at reduced prices and right out in front: "How To Run A Business".—39 cents.

School for Bosses.

In indorsing the idea of a School for Bosses, The Girls in 908 submit the following variant of the theme, "How to Win Friends and Stuff":

All his callers love to call
On pleasant Mr. Gurry,
For when he makes appointments
He's never in a hurry.

All his callers hate to call
On grouchy Mr. Mutts.
His glance is always out the door
Which drives his callers nuts.

This isn't very much to do
And scarcely worth the mention—
But if you give your time, please sir,
Then give your whole attention.

Women Drivers.

"Thought you might like to hear about two white collar friends, each driving a car, who hailed each other at a wide intersection and pulled up for a few seconds' chat while waiting for the green signal. Without realizing it, each had turned in the wheels of her car. When the light changed, they started simultaneously, and ended up with shrieking of brakes. They jumped out to view the damage which fortunately was not too great and then the humor of the situation—a great wide street, all the room in the world, no other cars in sight and they crash into each other—forced them into uncontrolable laughter. When the usual crowd gathered the girls were overcome with mirth and when questioned as to whether there were any witnesses they only laughed the harder and pointed to each other. I wonder what the bewildered onlookers thought."—White Collar Girl '21.

I Took a War Job.

"The crux of the matter is that there is a job to be done to which we have been called. . . . It must be done even if it is a hard job, sometimes unpleasant, often a little beyond the limit of our strength. But it seems to be a fact—to vary Alice Thru The Looking Glass—that if we do only as much as we can, we won't get much beyond the point where we started. It is the extra ounce of strength, the extra bit of strain, and perhaps most of all, the last particle of enthusiasm which will finish the job."

In this way, Josephine von Miklos begins an account of her work in a war plant, "I Took a War Job," published by Simon & Schuster. "I wish," she writes, "I could write out a little recipe, maybe, of how to become adjusted to a new and strange life. A lot of people are going to need that recipe. . . . The important ladies from Park avenue and the insignificant housewives in the little country towns are going to need some recipe for a new and strange life."

Relief Group Sends $3,651,683 to China in First Half of '43

United China Relief forwarded $3,651,683 to China for war relief in the first six months of 1943, J. M. Cleary, chairman of the Chicago United China Relief committee, revealed yesterday.

This is $378,161 more than was sent during the last six months of 1942, and $1,828,845 more than was sent during the first six months of 1942. It is believed, said Chairman Cleary, that the gifts are larger than any other relief contributions sent in a six month period to any other ally.

In coöperation with the National War fund, United China relief expects to send approximately $5,000,000 more to China this year.

Two from Illinois to Get Commissions in SPARS

Washington, D. C., Aug. 5 [Special].—Two women from Illinois will be commissioned as ensigns in the SPARS, women's reserve of the coast guard, at the coast guard academy, New London, Conn., to-morrow. They are Leona Bessie Hughes of Belvidere and Helen Koehler of Des Plaines.

Thru the Looking Glass

In a couple of the shops you'll find little fitted bags for the girls in service that make useful, welcome, and inexpensive gifts.

These are cosmetic cases, streamlined for the woman who must travel light and whose color choices are limited to things in khaki or navy, depending on whether she's a WAC or a WAVE. For the former, the kit, which is actually a drawstring bag with its contents tucked into tidy little inner compartments that prevent spilling, bears the army insignia.

The navy blue one for the WAVE or SPAR bears an anchor. In each is a label which can carry her name and rank—a rather important point. In the army and the navy every precious thing a woman owns should be identifiable.

In the cases there are the essentials for good grooming, in rather generous quantities. Cleansing cream, face powder, powder base, talcum powder, lipstick [in light, dark, or medium shade], night cream, and lotion. All these are carefully tucked into the little inner pockets. There is also room for those little things that are the necessary nuisances in traveling—like tissue, bobby pins, tweezers, and nail file.

These kits are distinctly inexpensive but really rather distinguished gifts for the girl going off to the disciplined life. She can't have beauty aids strewn all over her barracks; all her possessions must be compact enough to stow away in a foot locker without muss. She can't have too many possessions, either. The necessities in these tailored service kits will be about all she'll be able to use. ELEANOR NANGLE.

Tries Her Skill as Arc Welder on Locomotive

[June Geserick is gaining first hand information of new vocations that women have entered to help win the war. This is another of her series of articles.]

BY JUNE GESERICK.

I am the first woman welder ever to work on the underframe of an electro motive unit. The success of my one day trial at the Electro Motive corporation, a division of General Motors, in La

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

June Geserick as arc welder.

Grange was responsible for the recent announcement that other women soon will be hired to fill that and other welding jobs.

My enthusiasm for the job reached a high point when A. G. Finigan, locomotive division superintendent, told me that my starting wages would be $1.09 per hour. I started multiplying and adding on an old envelope and found, taking into account the overtime that would accompany a 53 hour week, I would earn approximately $65.

"That can't be right," I exclaimed, "That makes $65 a week and I don't even know how to weld."

"You'll learn," I was told, "We have competent men to teach you. It just takes good sense to catch on in a hurry. You'll develop skill and speed in no time."

The costume I wore, light weight slacks, a white silk blouse, and white canvas shoes, was as out of place as a dinner dress at a football game. It soon was augmented, however, by a heavy suede sleeve that completely covered my left arm. Large suede gauntlet gloves protected my wrists and hands, and I was ordered to cover my hair with a bandana. Over the bandana went a metal headpiece with a movable face piece.

"I can't see," I complained when I had moved the mask-like thing over my face.

"You will when you start welding," Finigan said, "The glass in the welding shield is made to protect operators from the infra red and ultra violet rays that are thrown off from the welding spark. One look at the arc without glasses and you'd be sorry."

Charles O. Druetzler, welding consultant, started me at my job. The under frame of an electro motive unit, I found, is the car-long metal piece which fits above the wheels and springs. The frame on which I was to work was resting on one side and I was to work on the part that was about 10 feet from the ground.

I climbed a ladder and perched beside Mr. Druetzler, who handed me the electro holder in which an electro wire already had been placed.

"Just see that the tip of the wire is about ⅛ of an inch from the joint that is to be welded," he instructed. "It automatically will start fusing the two members—the joint and the wire which will melt off."

I pulled the mask over my face and he guided my hand to the joint that was to be welded. Thru the shield I saw a blast of light and small jumping flames like those given off by 4th of July sparklers. With the bright light it was easy to see thru the mask and I soon finished the arc. I leaned back a bit and almost lost my balance. Mr. Druetzler kindly suggested that I might prefer to work at a lower elevation. I agreed.

Again I welded a joint. There were no buttons to push except at the beginning of the operation when the welding machine must be turned on—only the moving of the electro holder near the joint. The affinity between the two creates the fusion, I found. Just before I finished the joint I lifted my face shield and my eyes blurred momentarily from the terrific flash of light.

My instructor noted the occurrence and said, "A light flash! You'll have to go to the nurse or your eyes will be very painful in about 24 hours."

Some of the joints had to be multiple welded, which is to say that I had to weld over previous welding until the melted metal was thick and strong at the joint. After each welding I had to "jitterbug," or use a pneumatic scaling tool to remove slag and metal deposit from the joint.

My work, I was told, was a part in producing a diesel electric locomotive unit which soon will be rolling over the nation's rails. The work was interesting and not difficult.

Two Moods of Fashion

Two fashion needs are recognized in today's two pattern suggestions. One makes an afternoon or informal evening dress with draped surplice bodice and clever skirt detailing. How about satin for this? The other pattern goes domestic, consisting of a coat frock in cotton with an apron which buttons onto the shoulders.

Style No. 3413 is designed for sizes 12 to 46. Size 36 requires 3⅞ yards of 39 inch material.

Style No. 2715 is designed for sizes 12 to 48. Size 36 requires 3⅞ yards of 35 inch fabric with 1⅛ yards of ruffling; apron, 2 yards, with ⅛ yard ruffling.

Each pattern is 10 cents, plus 2 cents for mailing.

Religious News Notes

The Rev. Dr. Charles Ray Goff has made public a report of activities at the end of his first year's pastorate of First Methodist church, Chicago temple. The chimes of the church, located 500 feet above the intersection of Clark and Washington streets, he said, are factors in attracting an average of 200 service men to services each Sunday. Dr. Goff tested his congregation on reasons for attendance some time ago and found that the chimes were the most effective lure to worshipers. On the average Sunday, he added, there are visitors from 30 states. . . . Dr. George W. Crane, noted psychologist and author of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE feature, "Test Your Horse Sense," is the leader of the George W. Dixon adult church school class which meets following the 11 a. m. service at Chicago Temple each Sunday. . . . First church is one of the few congregations holding services every Sunday night thruout the year. . . . The young people's temple club, with an average of 75 in attendance each Sunday night, often meets among the "stars and spires" on the roof above the 22d floor of the skyscraper church.

Dr. Charles Ray Goff.

Religious education leaders of the Presbyterian church of the Chicago area are attending the summer training school for leaders and teachers at the College of Wooster, Wooster, O., under the auspices of the Presbyterian board of Christian education. It opened July 26 and closes tomorrow. . . . Rabbi Norman Frimer of the Maywood Jewish Community center, has been appointed director of the Hillel Foundation of the City College of New York. He will begin his work Sept. 1. . . . S. B. Komaiko, widely known in the Jewish community in Chicago as a writer of excellent short stories of Jewish characterization and for his social service work, has been appointed deputy of the Red Cross blood donor service. . . . Capt. Robert Cochran, native of the Chicago west side, who has been serving as corps commander for the Salvation Army in Atchison, Kas., has been commissioned chaplain in the United States army and will begin preliminary training at Harvard university this month. . . . "Bible Snakes" will be the subject of the stereopticon lecture Sunday night by Dr. Clinton C. Cox at Drexel Park Presbyterian church, 64th street and South Marshfield avenue. . . . The Rev. Rowland M. Cross of Minneapolis, Minn., brother of Laura B. Cross, 374 Laurel avenue, Highland Park, was reported by the American Board of Foreign Missions, Boston, Mass., to have returned to his mission post in the orient after a four months' journey by boat and plane to Chungking, China.

Fourteen editors of various church periodicals and church publicity directors have completed a tour of WAC centers thruout the country. They traveled 24,000 miles by plane. Dr. Paul Patton Faris, Philadelphia, Pa., head of the publicity department of the Presbyterian church, reports enthusiastically about the WAC. He said that out of 150 different men's jobs in the army, WACs are now doing 100 of them. Chaplains reported to the editors that the WACs represent an extremely high type of American womanhood, a cross section of the women at home. . . . The Rev. Ralph Grieser of White Stone, New York, has been transferred to the pastorate of the Methodist church in Polo, by Bishop Francis J. McConnell of New York, and Bishop Ernest Lynn Waldorf, late bishop of the Chicago Methodist area. . . . The Rev. Harold T. Wilson, First Presbyterian church, Michigan City, Ind., will occupy the pulpit of Buena Memorial Presbyterian church, 4301 Sheridan road, Sunday morning.

Groups of Lutheran youths from the entire metropolitan area are in leadership training at Camp Cisco, Lake Geneva, Wis., this week and next. The Rev. Otto H. Theiss, executive secretary of the International Walther league, directs the institute, and the Rev. Mark Kluender of Melrose Park is dean of the camp. . . . The Lutheran Deaconess association is training deaconesses at Valparaiso university, Valparaiso, Ind. Dr. Otto P. Kretzmann, president of the university, said only the facilities of the institution are used and the association is autonomous. . . . Raymond Holzhauer, theology student, will be the Lutheran vespers speaker at Kimball hall Sunday. The service, beginning at 3:30 p. m., extends special welcome to service men and hotel guests.

Ravinia Likes Orchestra, but Misses Soloist

Concert by the Chicago Symphony orchestra, George Szell conducting. Presented at Ravinia Thursday night, Aug. 5, 1943. The program:
"Brandenburg" Concerto, No. 3, G major .... Bach
Andante Espressivo, from Symphony No. 4 .... Oldberg
Variations On a Theme by Haydn. .... Brahms
Symphony No. 2, C major .... Schumann

BY CLAUDIA CASSIDY.

After the crackling brilliance of Artur Rubinstein's three appearances with the Chicago Symphony orchestra under the direction of George Szell [he reappears tomorrow night to play Beethoven's Fouth Concerto], last night's Ravinia concert was something of a letdown. Not because it lacked a soloist—the orchestra is often its own best soloist—but because the program lacked a focal point of interest, a cumulative crescendo.

Yet it began with the solid satisfaction of the Third Brandenburg Concertos, incredibly the only Bach programmed this season. The strings were clean and shining, precise and fluent as only the strings of a great orchestra can be. Under Mr. Szell's crisp baton they built an immaculate structure of glistening beauty—except at the very end, which was a little like discovering, not that a magnificent motor car had bad brakes, but that the driver was less expert at stopping than at going full speed.

Having chosen Brahms and Schumann to follow Bach, Mr. Szell interpolated the slow movement of Arne Oldberg's Symphony in B minor, which was given its first complete performance by the orchestra last season. The andante expressive, described as self portrait, is agreeable music, and it had last night the most persuasive performance I have encountered. Mr. Szell found its line and discovered its most alluring colors. He made it interesting, if not memorable.

The Brahms was disappointing, for all the beauty of certain individual variations. Much of the playing was vividly pictorial and the energetic movements were briskly mirrored, but the full curve of the score was missing, and it lacked the impact of climax. There is something voluptuous about this Haydn theme as Brahms dwells lovingly upon it, and Mr. Szell's performance was unduly dry. It held the orchestra down to competence that might easily have been brilliance.

People are always telling me about the bewitched existence led by that part of the Ravinia audience which scorns the pavilion to loll luxuriously under the stars, and after intermission I inadvertently became one of their number by getting shut out of that pavilion before the Schumann started. I must say that if you are going to listen to music in an idyllic setting, you can't beat the C major symphony.

Heard on a still, soft night, with crickets and katydids murmuring drowsily like so many uninvited woodwinds, and caught from afar over amplification that refuses to be more than dulcet, this had the very air of enchantment. If anything went wrong you couldn't hear it—only the soft curve of music that dreamed in the dusk, music that never insisted on being heard, yet to which you felt pleasure bound to listen. Never waste sympathy on any one who arrives too late to buy a reserved seat at Ravinia.

Women in War Work

By Kate Massée

At a luncheon meeting yesterday in the La Salle hotel, Mrs. Anne V. Zinser, chairman of the women's executive committee, office of public instruction of Illinois, presented as principal speaker Vernon L. Nickell, state superintendent of public instruction.

Mr. Nickell appealed to representatives of schools, women's clubs, and industrial groups to urge unemployed but employable home women to get into industry to reduce the current influx into war plants of young mothers, teachers, and secondary school pupils.

"We have not as yet reached the point," Mr. Nickell said, "where it is necessary for mothers of children under 16 to enter industry. Home women without maternal obligations should be urged to take industrial jobs for the duration. There is work for many thousands of them."

Among those attending the meeting were Mrs. Theodore Gleichman of Moline, Ill., president of the Illinois Congress of Parents and Teachers; Miss Helen Schuman, head of the Illinois Association of Deans of Women; Mrs. Walter M. Rennie, state president of the Illinois Federation of Women's Clubs; Mrs. Laura Hughes Lunde, a vice president of the Woman's City club; Mrs. Robert Adams Carr of the Chicago Junior league, and Dean Frank Endicott of Northwestern university.

When the Chicago unit of the American Women's Voluntary Services was organized last September, Janeanne Smyth immediately became one of its most active members, working day and night as a member of the board of directors. She decided recently, however, she would like to participate more directly in the war, so she enlisted in the WAC and is awaiting orders to report for basic training.

Miss Smyth, the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Thomas McDonnell Smyth of Chicago, has two brothers, Thomas and William, and one sister, Mrs. Hayes O'Brien. She received her education in Sacred Heart colleges in Lake Forest and Manhattanville, N. Y.

Miss Geraldine Wheeler, the 1,000th woman to complete instruction in the Illinois Institute of Technology's war training for women program, will receive her certificate of graduation at a commencement dinner at 7 o'clock tonight in Normandy House, 800 Tower court.

Miss Wheeler of Macon, Ga., came all the way from her home city to study industrial engineering, one of six courses in which Illinois Tech has trained women free to take their places in war plants. Prof. John I. Yellott, director of war training at the institute, says: "The graduation of Miss Wheeler as our 1,000th woman student shows that our women's war training program has grown beyond our most optimistic expectations. It certainly is evidence that women can, and are, doing their part in technical war work."

Cook County's 10 Best Picked in Voice Trials

Ten men and women who will represent Cook county in the 14th annual Chicago Music Festival voice contests were chosen last night in the county finals in the Drake hotel. They won in competition among 29 singers who captured first places in north, west, and south side sectional contests held in Chicago.

Four of the finalists were north siders, with the south and west sides dividing remaining honors equally.

The ten were selected to compete on Saturday morning, Aug. 21, against finalists of five other music festival preliminary contests in Chicagoland.

A 16 year old Kelvyn Park High school girl who is working at a vacation job of inspecting airplane radios won the dramatic soprano division contest. She is Anna Mae Fiedler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Fiedler, 3722 Palmer street.

Eleanor Feichtinger, 20, of 7943 South Paulina street, and the north side contestant, Margaret Hanson, 22, of 2709 Lincoln street, Evanston, placed second and third, respectively.

First honors in the contralto division were taken by a north sider, Vera Jeske, 22, of 3851 Southport avenue. Miss Jeske is employed in the Lakeview Trust and Savings bank. Eva Coleman, 20, of 4904 Fulton street, took second place. Winifred Heckman, 19, of 7818 Crandon avenue, was third.

June Jacobson, 24, of 828 Gunnison street, a treasury department employe, was adjudged winner of the lyric soprano group. She competed against Ethelynd E. Armstrong, 29, of 4745 Vincennes avenue, a Negro lunchroom manager, and Janette G. Taylor, 19, of 3848 Hirsch street, a student at North Park college.

Eileen Zimmer, 23, a junior clerk employed by the war department, won in the coloratura soprano division. The other contestants were Marian L. Teeters, 19, of 9036 Essex avenue, and Rose Marie Kuhns, 19, of 4144 North Moody avenue.

First place for mezzo sopranos went to Lois E. Schauer, 18, of 6125 Cornelia avenue, a secretary. The next two places were awarded Alice Helminiak, 22, of 1001 North Dearborn street, and Mary Jo Brummel, 19, of 4312 Berkeley avenue.

A Negro butcher who has been studying voice eight years won first place in the bass division. He is William E. Johnson, 36 years old, 4856 Indiana avenue. Lionel G. Crane, 34, of 6409 North Talman avenue, was the only other contestant in this division.

Herbert Baehr, 25, a divinity student at the University of Chicago, won the baritone division contest. He lives at 5757 University avenue. He competed against Clair D. Hutchins, 23, of 1152 Farwell avenue, and Raymond McAfee Jr., 22, of 3040 Washington boulevard, a staff announcer at station WMBI.

John R. Leslie, 25, of 3756 West 111th street, Morgan Park's singing postman, was chosen finalist of the lyric tenors. Everett W. Westman, 28, of 2943 North Lockwood avenue, and Ray North, 24, of 1436 Astor street, sang in the same contest.

Thomas John Brennan, 28, of 4560 George street, a handsome Irishman, emerged as winner of the dramatic tenor group. He is the production foreman of the Orange Crush company. Allen Sharp, 22, of 5619 Wayne avenue, was second, and Carl E. Chevedden, 30, of 8409 Vernon avenue, finished third.

L. Seth Bennett, 38, of 4816 Adams, won first place in the bass baritone contest. The next two places went to Stephen J. Winiecki, 29, of 5343 South May street, and Herbert W. Piepho, 35, of 4224 North Winchester avenue.

Instrumental Contests

The Cook county contest for individual instrumentalists, a feature of the 14th annual Chicago Music Festival, will be held at 7 o'clock tonight in the grand ballroom of the Drake hotel. Capt. Howard Stube, director of the festival's instrumental participation, will be in charge.

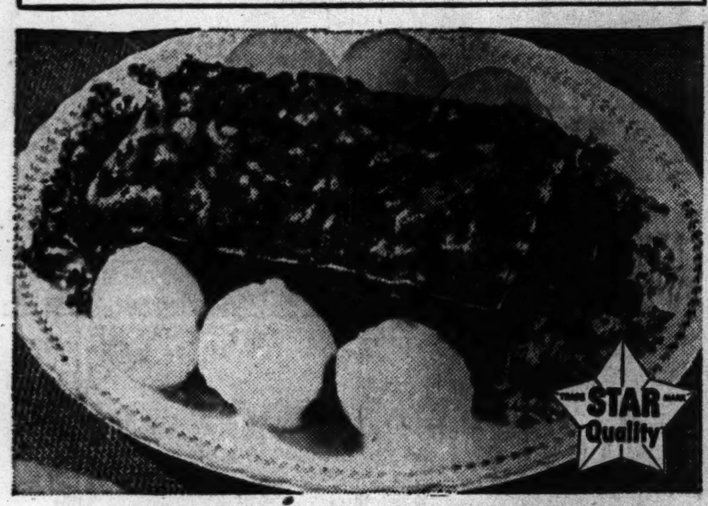
Armour Ideas Make the Most of Meat



This Liver Loaf is Tasty and Nutritious

There is no surer sign of a good cook than a rich, juicy, well-seasoned meat loaf. And here is a liver loaf recipe from Armour's kitchen that has the secret of success right in it.

Tid-bits of Armour's Star Bacon, together with the eggs and seasonings, make a grand flavor combination with liver. It's a very nutritious meal, too—for point-thrifty liver is the richest of all meats in vitamins, has high protein and mineral value. This loaf will feed 6 or 7 people heartily at about 1 red point per serving.

Place 1½ lbs. of pork, lamb or beef liver in hot water for 10 minutes. Then grind it with 4 slices of Armour's Star Bacon and 1½ cups chopped onion. Add 2 Cloverbloom eggs, 2½ cups soft bread crumbs, ¼ cup chopped parsley, 2 tsps. salt, ⅛ tsp. pepper. Mix well and pack firmly into a loaf pan. Bake 1 hour at 350° F. Serve with creamed potatoes. This loaf is also good sliced cold.

BY MARY MEADE.

While those plump, sweet, dark red cherries are delicious to eat right from the stem, they'll be doubly enjoyed at a much later date when fresh fruits are scarce and canned fruits are welcomed as a luxury.

Buy some cherries for colorful little tarts or perhaps a tempting salad to intrigue your luncheon guests; slice a few of them over prepared cereal for a family breakfast treat, then plan for the future by canning and preserving as many cherries as your budget and your sugar supply will permit. [Sweet cherries do not require as much sugar as many other more tart fruits.] Can them in their own juice, in water, or a thin sugar sirup.

Molded Sweet Cherry Salad.
[Serves six.]

1⅓ cups pitted sweet cherries
⅓ cup sugar
2 cups cherry juice and water
1 tablespoon plain, unflavored gelatin
¼ cup water
⅓ cup shredded almonds
Lettuce, mayonnaise

Cook cherries and sugar with enough water to cover until cherries are tender. Drain; measure juice and add enough water to make 2 cups. Soften gelatin in cold water for 5 minutes; dissolve in hot cherry juice. Cool until mixture begins to thicken. Fold in cherries and almonds. Rinse a large salad mold or individual molds with cold water. Pour in cherry mixture and chill until firm. Unmold on lettuce and serve with mayonnaise.

Glazed Cherry Tarts.
[Nine 4 inch tarts.]

1 cup sugar
1 cup water
4 cups pitted sweet cherries
2½ tablespoons cornstarch
9 baked tart shells

Cook ¾ cup of the sugar, the water, and 1 cup of the cherries to a thick sirup. Mix cornstarch with remaining ¼ cup sugar. Strain cooked fruit sirup over it; force cherry pulp thru a sieve and add to mixture. Cook until sirup is thickened and clear, stirring constantly. Cool slightly. Line tart shells with remaining cherries and pour sauce over them. Chill thoroly before serving.

Canning Sweet Cherries.
[Cold pack method.]

Stem, wash, and drain cherries. Prick with a fork to prevent shrinkage. Pack tightly into hot, sterilized jars. Fill jars to within ½ inch of top with hot, thin sirup. Seal and process in hot water bath for 20 minutes; or for 70 minutes in 250 degree oven. Complete seal if necessary. [To make sirup, use three or four cups of water to 1 cup sugar. Bring to a boil.]

Canning Without Sugar.

Wash cherries and pack into sterilized jars. Cover with boiling water or heat until juicy and pack without water. Process for 20 minutes in hot water bath if cold packed, or for 10 minutes if pre-cooked until juicy.

Cherry and Orange Preserves.

2 oranges
1 quart sweet cherries
6 tablespoons lemon juice
6 cloves [optional]
¾ teaspoon cinnamon [optional]
Sugar [¾ cup per cup fruit]

Slice the oranges very thinly, removing seeds and membrane. [Do not peel.] Barely cover with water and boil until the rind is tender. Stem and seed cherries and add with other ingredients, measuring ¾ cup sugar for every cup of combined fruit and juice. Boil rapidly until the preserves are clear and the sirup is thick. Let stand an hour or more to plump the cherries. Bring to boil, pour into jars, and seal.

Sweet Cherry Jam.
[Twelve 6 ounce glasses.]

4 cups [2 pounds] prepared fruit
¼ cup lemon juice
7 cups sugar
1 bottle fruit pectin

To prepare fruit, stem and pit about 2½ pounds fully ripe sweet cherries. Crush thoroly or grind. Add ¾ cup water, bring to a boil, cover, and simmer 15 minutes. Measure sugar and solidly packed fruit into a large kettle, filling up last cup with water if necessary. Add lemon juice, mix well, and bring to a full, rolling boil over high heat. Stir constantly and boil hard for 5 minutes. Remove from heat and stir in pectin. Stir and skim by turns for 5 minutes to cool slightly and prevent floating fruit. Pour quickly and seal at once.

Scalloped Vegetables with Egg Makes Use of Many Left Overs

Save all those little left over dabs of vegetables. They may not be enough to serve alone at another meal, but if they are kept tightly covered in the refrigerator there soon will be enough for a tasty vegetable casserole.

Scalloped Vegetables with Egg.
[Serves six to eight.]

1½ quarts cooked or canned or left over vegetables [green beans, carrots, spinach, etc.]
4 tablespoons flour
½ teaspoon salt
1 cup liquid from vegetables
1 cup evaporated milk
3 hard cooked eggs, sliced
2 cups bread or cracker crumbs
2 tablespoons melted margarine

Toss vegetables together lightly and turn into greased baking dish. Melt margarine. Blend in the flour and salt. Add vegetable liquid and cook until sauce begins to thicken. Add milk and continue cooking, stirring until well blended, then pour over vegetables. Top with sliced hard cooked eggs and then with "buttered" crumbs. Brown in a moderate oven [375 degrees] about 25 minutes.

Parents Are Advised to Treat Teen Age Child Considerately

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

[Copyright: 1943: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

They don't want you to tell them when to put on a sweater, or fret over a slight delay in getting home from a date. "Mother! I'm not a baby!" is a familiar protest.

There are many ways in which the strong instinct to mature, to achieve independence and to adjust as a grownup shows itself. The trouble is that parents don't recognize some of the actions of their high school sons and daughters as this very thing.

They think a boy is just being disagreeable, a daughter unnecessarily irritable, over a trifle. And because mothers and fathers so often do not recognize what lies back of this behavior they make an issue of it, and so create "scenes" and antagonism quite unnecessarily.

These teen age children need a lot of letting alone.

If your daughter or son wants to go into his or her room and be alone, don't be injured or worried. Don't you long to do the same sometimes?

If Lisbeth and her friend, Miriam, want to go into Lisbeth's room and shut the door, don't wipe away a briny tear. And if your son and his friend, Bill, want to do likewise, it's just a phase of this change from "little boy" ways. All sorts of ways that seem to you both different and odd may appear during these years. It so, bear with them.

And when you don't know what else to do, ignore the behavior. It may be moodiness, a marked reticence, an access of dignity, or it may be silliness, giggling, vanity, and awkwardness.

Self-consciousness also, in one form or another, usually comes along with this age; and a young person may show it directly by embarrassment, or cover it up by flippancy, boasting, or some other camouflage.

Consideration and courtesy will help your teen age children, whether it applies to your children's material possessions or social plans. "I'm going to change your desk and bed when the painters get thru. Is that all right with you?" or, "I thought I'd ask Aunt Julie and the twins for this week-end, had you any big plans in mind?" The child who is treated like this feels himself considered in the family and responds with a return in kind.

Mrs. Harold S., La Salle, Ill.—If you are one of those people who dislike to have an umbrella slip to the floor after spending some time trying to steady it against the wall, just take one of those ordinary pencil erasers—the type that slip on and off—and slip it over the tip of your umbrella. A bit of adhesive tape will hold the tip in place in case the tip happens to be a trifle too small for the eraser.

Ella B., Chicago—I have found a good parking spot for my laundry clothes stick. I clip on the side of my wash boiler two spring-type clothes pins and they make a good holder for the ever useful clothes stick.

Angela R., Des Moines, Ia.—If you have any pieces of marble around the house that are turning a bit yellowish, try my method of whitening them. I make a weak solution of oxalic acid—one ounce of acid to a quart of water—and brush on this solution. After one or two minutes I rinse off and dry. To keep marble from stains in the future I brush on a very thin coat of beeswax which has been dissolved in turpentine.

A vivid Roman striped jersey blouse in beautiful shades of red, blue, green, and yellow is sketched upper left. The white stripe is accented with tiny pin stripes of adjacent colors. It is a classic creation which may be worn with any suit. Long sleeves are bound with a tight cuff. Tiny pearl buttons fasten the front closing and cuffs. The neckline is convertible, and a tiny pocket is set high on the left side. It is priced under $3.

Another sports type model in rich yellow jersey, lower left, is an example of a plain blouse depending on color for its distinction. The flattering vee neckline has a short notched lapel and graceful pointed collar. A slit, penny catcher pocket is the only concession to trimming.

Fall slacks are complemented with a deft blue jersey blouse in the casual theme, lower right. The short sleeves have upturned cuffs edged with a row of stitching. The same treatment marks the collar and pocket flap. Three gold metal buttons are its only decoration. It is available in white and colors and in sizes from 32 to 38.

A striking blouse creation is sketched right. Against a white background are splashed forest green carnations, the leaves and stems of which are the color of a full blown tiger lily. The lines are simple, with long sleeves fastened at the wrist with a tight cuff. The convertible neckline may be worn high or in a becoming vee. It is priced under $4 and available in sizes 32 to 38.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis John Berens of Philadelphia, formerly of Chicago, announce the engagement of their daughter, Valeria, to Sgt. Wallace Dooley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Reed Dooley of New York City. Miss Berens attended Mundelein college. Sgt. Dooley was graduated from the University of Illinois.

According to Culbertson

[Copyright: 1943: By Ely Culbertson.]

In almost all hands, the logical and winning line of defense becomes apparent from analysis of the bidding, the implications of the opening lead, and a study of the dummy. Occasionally, however, the defenders find themselves in a blind alley, and when this happens, it is the duty of the declarer to take full advantage of the situation.

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
Pass	Pass	1 spade	Pass
2 no trump	Pass	3 spades	Pass
4 spades	Pass	Pass	Pass

West opened his fourth highest club, dummy played low, and East's king won. Looking at all four hands, it is easy to see that a spade return by East, followed by a heart switch on West's part, would have gained the defenders four tricks. But from East's point of view, a spade return was unthinkable. The normal defense was to try for a diamond trick, since it was quite likely that declarer had something like the ace and one or two small diamonds. He also might hold heart honors and, unless West's diamond king [presumably speaking] were established before East's heart ace was knocked out, the diamond trick might evaporate.

As it happened, the diamond return was duck soup for the declarer. He cashed the ace and king, then entered dummy with the club ace, to discard a heart on the diamond queen. Then, with only one heart left, declarer had nothing to lose by playing the diamond jack and discarding his heart. True, he realized that one of the defenders had to be out of diamonds and could ruff, but there was the chance, however remote, that this ruff would require the sacrifice of the ace of trumps. Remote as it was, that is what happened.

West was the one who could not follow to the fourth diamond and, to his misfortune, he also was the one who had the blank ace of trumps. Whether or not he used it at this point was immaterial: declarer already had gotten rid of his two losing hearts, and had to concede only the spade ace, for a total of five-odd.

and Lt. [j. g.] James McNulty are hoping to come from the west coast for their sister's wedding. Ensign McNulty and his bride, the former Betty Jane Doyle, are living in San Diego, Cal. Lt. McNulty, who is married to the former Marguerite Cleary, is stationed in Seattle, Wash.

Edward W. Saunderses Become Parents of Son.

Before Ensign Edward Watts Saunders left on Aug. 1 to attend a navy indoctrination school in Ithaca, N. Y., he was able to see thru the nursery window his namesake son. The first child of Ensign Saunders and the former Nancy Claire Parker was born on July 28 in the Evanston hospital. When they leave the hospital Mrs. Saunders and young Edward will go to the Evanston home of her mother, Mrs. C. Paul Parker. Mrs. Walter Saunders of St. Louis, Mo., is the baby's paternal grandmother.

Mr. and Mrs. Daniel H. Lavezzo Jr. [..ola Ellis] have taken their new ... Daniel Henry III., home from Wesley hospital, where he was born on July 19. Mrs. Lavezzo Sr. is here from New York for a visit with the baby and his mother and father, who is stationed at Navy pier as a third class specialist.

Looking at Hollywood

By Hedda Hopper

Hollywood, Cal., Aug. 5.—When Orson Welles arrived here not one kind word was thrown in his direction. Yet he's the only person who, single handed and on his own, has put on a free show in this town for the soldiers. If you have a son, you've watched him go from boyhood to manhood in the flash of an eye, and back again. That's what happened to Orson at the opening of his magic show. When some sleight of hand trick didn't come off, he became the little boy putting on a show in the family barn, but the next second he was Orson, the magnificent. The whole darned thing is more fun. Magicians in the audience—Edgar Bergen, Chester Morris, Harold Lloyd—wanted to jump right up on that stage and begin performing with him. And I'll bet they will in the near future. It's like a small town carnival. If anybody should by accident wear a high hat, it's knocked off before he gets inside the tent.

About Time.

Ann Sheridan may escape from these musicals that she's been doing and get a good part at last. At least, she will if Howard Hawks has anything to say about it. He wants her for a most dramatic part in "Battle Cry." And, O, how Ann wants to do it! . . . Martha Raye has to recover two quarts of blood before she can go to the South Pacific to entertain our men. When she returns from there, she'll star in "By Jupiter." . . . When Jesse Lasky got word that he was the grandfather of a baby boy, Paul Whiteman and his gang took time out to serenade him on the "Rhapsody in Blue" set. . . . Merle Oberon won't linger in our town to do "Kismet" unless Alexander Korda, her husband, stays here, too. When he goes back to London, she goes also.

Catching Up.

The makeup man on "The Lodger" had quite an argument with Laird Cregar, who's playing the Ripper. He insisted he looks too young, whereupon Laird said, "Haven't you heard about the teen age gangsters raising havoc thruout the country. Jack the Ripper was a century ahead of his time." . . . Eddie Small signed a local high school boy aged 16, named Tony Devlin, and is grooming him, he hopes, for a part in "The Raft." . . . Mrs. Jack London arrives here Saturday to supervise the proposal scene in the story of Jack's life. . . . Moroni Olsen played Buffalo Bill in the picture of that name when Barbara Stanwick starred in it. Now he does a senator in the present one.

Laird Cregar.

First Meeting.

Ingrid Bergman, who plays Charles Boyer's wife in "Gaslight," had never met Boyer. To get them acquainted, George Cukor had them rehearse in his office one of their most violent quarrel scenes, then said, "Now you should really know how to become a loving couple!" . . . Mary Servoss is with Ida Lupino in "In Our Time." Ida's just got to have a rest after this one. . . . Otto Kruger, who knows about daughters, is romping thru "Cover Girl." . . . Gregory Ratoff, directing a scene between Mae West and Billy Gaxton in "Tropicana," said, "Watch your reaction there, Gaxton—make it a triple double-take!" . . . Frances Meighan, widow of the beloved Tommy, may play the mother in "The Sullivans."

What If He Said No?

What a tempest about Frank Sinatra singing in the Hollywood bowl to help raise funds for our symphony orchestra! The same row started when Stokowski refused to conduct in the bowl if Benny Goodman played. He finally did, and they became friends. What a rumpus when Stokowski, wanting to get in on Bing Crosby's followers, appeared with him on his program. You wouldn't believe some of the letters of indignation coming in about Sinatra. Yet net result will be a sold out bowl—and thousands in cash for our orchestra. . . . Benny Baker, brought out for "Up in Arms," is stage struck, trying to make up his mind whether he'll go back to Broadway in Vinton Freedley's "Dancing in the Streets" or Michael Todd's "Musical Hayride." They both want him.

Our Loss.

We'll be losing both Joan Blondell and Dick Powell to Broadway. Joan goes back for a play and Dick for a revival of "Connecticut Yankee." . . . Paul Henreid is looking ahead. He's put in a bid for a helicopter when the war's over—that is, if it's able to take off and land in his back yard. . . . Barbara Hutton and son, Lance, were visiting Cary Grant on the "Destination Tokio" set. Lance wanted to see what the inside of a submarine looked like. . . . Mayris Chaney filled out a studio questionnaire about famous people she's met. Named Mme. Chiang, King George, Winston Churchill, Ramsay MacDonald, but never mentioned Eleanor Roosevelt.

By Mae Tinée.

Good Morning!

This blood curdling "Ox-Bow Incident" keens not of the war but of the old west—being an adaptation of the novel by Walter Van Tilburg Clark—hailed by a number of book reviewers as a masterpiece.

The supposed murder of a beloved rancher, Larry Kinkaid, inspires unruly men to insist on taking the law into their own hands. . . . The sheriff not being around at the moment, his cruel and willing deputy is contacted and, unlawfully, swears in a horde of slathering fanatics as a possé. . . . These men, against the wishes and pleas of the law abiding, ride forth into the hills on a man hunt. . . . Cornering a young rancher and his helpers, an aged half-wit and a Mexican, they hold a farce of a trial and hang the victims. . . .

The deed accomplished—up rides the sheriff. Kinkaid is NOT dead! And his would-be slayers have been apprehended.

Acting, direction, and photography are expert. . . . The most has been made of every grim, sickening moment of suspense. . . . The human animal at his worst—and most pitiful!—is brought forth and paraded.

See you tomorrow.

SEE KENTUCKY AS BAROMETER OF 1944 TREND

Democrats Are Embroiled; G. O. P. Harmonizes.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Louisville, Ky., Aug. 5.—Rival Democratic camps are bombarding each other, while Republicans, harmonized and with only minor contests, are looking on with an air of pleasurable expectancy as Saturday's primaries approach. The primaries are the opening bout for Kentucky's November election of state officials, which holds wide interest as a barometer of 1944 trends.

For governor, the only Republican candidate is Judge Simeon S. Willis of Ashland. There are three Democratic candidates: J. Lyter Donaldson, former commissioner of highways who is backed by Gov. Keen Johnson and has the support of Sen. Alben W. Barkley; Ben Kilgore, who for 12 years was secretary of the state farm bureau federation, and Lt. Gov. Rodes K. Myers.

Kilgore and Myers have raised the cry of "machine rule at Frankfort." The Republicans express high hopes of carrying the state in the fall. Political dirt excavated by the Democrats in the campaign, is regarded by the G. O. P. as furnishing it with fine ammunition, particularly accusations by Democrats concerning contributions by the trucking industry to the Democratic campaign fund four years ago in violation of the corrupt practices act. Donaldson was campaign manager for Gov. Johnson in the 1939 campaign when the contributions were said to have been made.

G. O. P. Plans Battle.

Republicans plan a fighting organization soon after the primaries. On Aug. 14, Harrison Spangler, G. O. P. national chairman, is to meet with leading Republicans at Lexington, when various phases of the campaign will be considered.

Both sides expect the vote to be light, because of the absence of voters in service or in war industries elsewhere. There is considerable surmising as to how far state machine strength is affected by the war. Normally it is figured at about 12,000 jobs. The war has depleted many offices, and with jobs in war plants offering more money, some conjecture it may be difficult to do any whipcracking over the jobholders. Many Republican old timers here say Donaldson, with machine support, will get the Democratic nomination. A small vote is regarded as aiding the machine. Others predict an upset if the farmers turn out to vote, because Kilgore is popular on the farms. Kentucky primaries are set the first Saturday in August, it is explained, because ordinarily the farmer has his crops laid by then and is not yet cutting corn. The farm labor shortage, however, may affect results.

Warns of G. O. P. Cleanup.

Lt. Gov. Myers, a strong campaigner, tells audiences that if Donaldson wins, it is doubtful if he could beat Judge Willis, Republican nominee. "If you Democrats don't clean your own house on Saturday, the Republicans are liable to clean it for you in November," says Myers.

As to Kentucky's past performance as a straw in the wind, Republicans speak of 1919 when Edwin P. Morrow, Republican, was elected governor, and in the 1920 Republican landslide President Warren G. Harding lost the state by only 4,017 votes. In 1927 Flem D. Sampson, Republican, won the governorship, and in 1928 Herbert Hoover carried Kentucky. Calvin Coolidge carried it in 1924, and in 1896 William B. McKinley carried the state.

Democrats have sounded a cry that to elect a Republican state ticket in Kentucky this year would be injurious to the 1944 ticket.

Barkley to Retire?

In the background lurks a fight against Sen. Barkley, Democratic leader in the United States senate, who is up for reëlection next year. Since adjournment of congress rumors have been spread that the senator would like to retire and be given an appointment by President Roosevelt to the federal bench or elsewhere.

Reports from Washington in circulation here are that Roosevelt was dissatisfied with Barkley's leadership when congress passed the Smith-Connally anti-strike bill over the President's veto.

Whether the senator retires or not, a hunch has been prevalent here for months that Gov. Johnson might run against Barkley next year if he puts Donaldson across for governor, or even if unsuccessful in this. Gov. Johnson has said he will be a candidate. If Barkley retires, Johnson, it is surmised, would be a candidate no matter who is governor.

KIDNEYS MUST REMOVE EXCESS ACIDS

Help 15 Miles of Kidney Tubes Flush Out Poisonous Waste

If you have an excess of acids in your blood, your 15 miles of kidney tubes may be overworked. These tiny filters and tubes are working day and night to help Nature rid your system of excess acids and poisonous waste.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Kidneys may need help the same as bowels, so ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Miss Lorraine Lathouwers taking up bus company transfers in new job yesterday.

Lorraine Lathouwers, 19 years old, became the first uniformed woman employe of the Chicago Motor Coach company yesterday when she reported for duty as a "trausette" at the Stewart-Warner plant, 1900 Diversey parkway. Her job is facilitating the loading and emptying of buses during rush hours. This is in keeping with the coach company's war time plan to replace uniformed men employes leaving for active duty with trained women.

Miss Lathouwers is the daughter of Adolph Zutterman of 2317 North Rockwell street, who has been a bus driver for 20 years. She is engaged to a soldier now on duty in Texas and her brother, Richard, is a corporal in Alaska.

PUBLIC HEARINGS ON FOURTH TERM ISSUE ARE URGED

Washington, D. C., Aug. 5 (AP).—Both sides of the fourth term question may get a complete airing at public hearings before the senate judiciary committee next month on a proposal to limit future Presidents to eight years in office.

Chairman Frederick Van Nuys [D., Ind.] said today he would urge a subcommittee headed by Sen. Pat McCarran [D., Nev.] to begin hearings on a proposed constitutional amendment of this nature soon after congress reconvenes in mid-September.

Van Nuys said he had no doubt a fourth term for President Roosevelt would be discussed, altho the resolution proposing the constitutional amendment would not alter the tenure of any President in office at the time of its adoption.

SABATH PLANS TO FORCE ARMY AID IN ELECTION

Washington, D. C., Aug. 5 (AP).—Rep. Adolph J. Sabath [D., Ill.] said today he was preparing a bill to compel the army, as he expressed it, to comply with the spirit and intent of the service men's absentee voting law.

Sabath said he had been informed that in the last election army officers, with few exceptions, did not try to comply with the voting law's provisions, with the result that few soldiers received applications for ballots and election instructions.

Sabath said the army "did not want to be annoyed" with details necessary for establishing voting procedures.

Pierce Atwater Named U. S. War Fund Adviser

Pierce Atwater, executive director of the Community and War fund in the Chicago metropolitan area, said yesterday that he has been appointed to the advisory cabinet of the national war fund.

DREW EXPECTED TO GET HELM OF ONTARIO REGIME

Believe Election Victor Will Shun Coalition.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TORONTO, Ont., Aug. 5.—Lt. Col. George A. Drew, Ontario Progressive Conservative leader whose followers captured the largest number of seats in yesterday's Ontario election, will attempt to form a government without a formal coalition with either the Liberal party or the Cooperative Commonwealth federation, it was reliably reported today.

Progressive Conservatives won 38 seats and are leading in one doubtful district, while C. C. F. strength rose to 34. The Liberals, who got only 14 seats, suffered the most crushing defeat in recent Ontario history. Two Laborites and one Independent completed the results of the balloting.

Altho no party held a clear majority of the 90 seat house, it was expected that Albert Matthews, lieutenant-governor, would call on Drew to form a government next week.

Balk at Coalition.

The C. C. F. made it clear that it would not be willing to enter a coalition administration with the Progressive Conservatives.

Observers said Drew would not ask the Ontario Liberals to enter into a straight coalition, but would attempt to form a government with his own party and members of other parties who support him. There was speculation that Mitchell F. Hepburn, former premier who won the Elgin seat as an Independent Liberal, might play a vital part in this arrangement.

H. C. Nixon, head of the defeated Liberal government, indicated he soon would vacate the premiership of the provincial council.

How Seats Were Divided.

Progressive Conservatives and the C. C. F. shared the honors in capturing the seats yielded by the Nixon Liberals. At the 1937 election the Liberals won 63 seats but in yesterday's voting the C. C. F. gained 29 seats from the Liberals and the Progressive Conservatives won 20.

The Liberals' defeat was expected to have little effect nationally, except to remove any possibility of a dominion election in 1943. Altho Liberal Prime Minister W. L. Mackenzie King, whose term expires in 1944, has given no hint that an election would be called, there had been some belief that a Liberal success in Ontario would be followed by a general election.

Drew has been a critic of the dominion government, particularly on military matters, but his party is pledged to coöperate with the federal Liberal administration in the war effort.

BITHORN FAILS AND CUBS LOSE TO REDS, 4 TO 1

Cincinnati Climbs Into Third Place.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

Hi Bithorn wasn't up to his usual classy form yesterday, his supporting defense was bad and offensive support puny. So the Cubs lost to the Cincinnati Reds, 4 to 1, in the opening game of the five piece series and the senor failed to win his sixth straight, even as Claude Passeau and Henry Wyse each lost his bid for six straight last Sunday, the last previous Cub working day in the National league calendar. In other words, the Cubs now have lost three straight for pitchers, all of whom had sported five game winning streaks.

Bucky Walters.

The victory raised the Reds into third place, one percentage point ahead of the Brooklyn Dodgers.

The Cubs made five errors in the first six innings, of which Bithorn contributed one harmless one. Two runs were unearned because of a fumble by Eddie Stanky and another was made possible thru the first of two errors by Len Merullo, a two base overthrow. One error by Stan Hack and one of Merullo's were not significant except to reveal that the Cubs may be verging on the style of play that made them so ludicrous in May and June.

Walters Yields Six Hits.

And the wishy-washy performance of the Chicagoans wasn't helped any by the excellence of Bucky Walters' pitching. Bucky yielded six hits as he registered his 101st victory as a Red, his seventh success of 1943.

The Cubs scored their lone run in the first inning. Hack opened the Cub offensive, such as it was, by walking. After failing in an attempt to sacrifice, Stanky tapped into a double play. Phil Cavarretta doubled to right and scored on the first of Bill Nicholson's two singles, a smash to right. It was Bill's 75th run batted in on the basis of the most recently checked and officially approved statistics.

Mesner Scores Crabtree.

The two unearned runs the Reds made in the third inning began to bloom when Ray Mueller beat out a slow bouncer to Merullo. Walters sacrificed, then Stanky booted Lonnie Frey's grounder, Mueller reaching third and Frey first. Mueller scored the tying run on Gee Walker's roller to Stanky, Frey stopping at second whence he scored the winning run on the first of COMDR. GENE TUNNEY, who has charge of the navy's physical training program, says he yields to nobody in his support of competitive sports. . . . The former heavyweight champion, who is now on an extensive inspection tour, has been represented from time to time in public prints as hostile to games involving body contact and in favor of calisthenics and other forms of mass athletics. . . . "Certainly no one should appreciate the benefits of sports competition more than I," he told this department recently. . . . "I chose boxing as my field and if you don't think there's competition in that game, well, you just haven't tried it. When I was assigned to condition sailors for war service I realized time was the important element. There was no room for extensive sports programs. I had to do a job quickly and as efficiently as possible. Many of the men were with us only four weeks, few of them longer than seven weeks. They had to be sent to sea equipped to defend themselves and to deal out physical punishment to the enemy. That's why I opposed organized games. There simply wasn't enough time. Now that we have a year or more to work with men in the V-12 program I think the navy has acted wisely in approving the participation of its personnel in intercollegiate athletics. You will find written evidence of my enthusiastic indorsement." . . . Comdr. Tom Hamilton, who set up the physical training schedule for naval aviation, and his successor, Lt. Comdr. Frank Wickhorst, have stressed competitive sport from the beginning of the war program.

Wonder if Bucky Harris may not some day be signed as manager of the Dodgers. . . . Manager Jim Wilson of the Cubs said the Dodgers in their workout before the July 30 game at Wrigley field were the worst looking Brooklyn team he has seen in 20 years. . . . When Don Boor, Michigan full back, received an invitation to join the College All-Stars for their game with the Washington Redskins at Dyche stadium Aug. 25 he said, "It's a boyhood dream come true." . . . Edmund [Bing] Miller, White Sox coach, picked his own nickname. . . . About the time he and his brother formed a semi-pro battery, there was a cartoon character by that name and Edmund adopted it. . . . New Orleans' Monday quarter backs are eager for action. . . . More than 400 already have taken out cards in the 1943 club.

Your Land and Mine.

Your land and my land
Where lights of freedom gleam;
My land, the sky land
Of mountain, plain and stream.
Windswept and tide washed
And fringed with rolling sea.
Your land and my land,
The homeland of the free.

A land where all will sacrifice
Whenever comes the test;
For your land and my land
We'll give our very best.
Your land and my land,
A land of dare and do,
Your land and my land
Where hopes and dreams come true.

Not many of them are left by now,
So I sing a fond hosanna,
To a well beloved but vanishing fast
Phase of Americana;
What a saga could be written
Were a body its story to tell—
Of the laughter and tears thru all the years—
The old John Page Hotel.

For the greater part o' a century,
Not far from the river's stream,
It has drowsed in the evening sunset
Fond monitor of a dream.
Its meals gained a reputation
O'er all the midwest's span,
I'm speaking, of course, and tenderly,
Of the grand old "American Plan."

Home of the visiting show troupes,
And of baseball teams galore,
Conventions, race track meets and such
Eddied about its door;
They all put up with a flourish,
Greeted and treated well,
By the landlord of the house himself
There at the old desk bell.

A salute to all of these olden inns
Which have weathered the storm and strife,
And have given to countless hamlets and towns
A fill up of color and life;
Father to son, and son on down,
They have tended their stewardship well,
So a friendly toast to each well loved host
Of the old John Page Hotel.

ZGORKA BEATS EVANS IN CITY GOLF, 6 AND 5

Plays King Today in Semi-Finals.

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

Four young men who toil o' nights and get in their golf after their labors, today will make up the first night and day foursome ever presented in that curious fairway antique known as the 39th annual Chicago City Amateur tournament at the venerable Jackson park links.

None of the quartet ever has come along this far in the old party; for all that, each has done his share of swinging in it. In the first of today's 36 hole semi-finals, Louis Esposito, a 25 year old railroad clerk, who is on the night shift in a Franklin park railroad yard, will barter shots with John Dobro, 32 year old tool worker from Burnham Woods. The second battle of the penultimate bracket sends Bob King, a 33 year old member of the detective bureau, against Alex Zgorka, 28 year old furnace foreman in a South Chicago steel plant.

Hard Task for Zgorka.

It was Zgorka, author of the 68, two under par, with which he shared the qualifying medal on Monday, who was faced with the most difficult job of yesterday afternoon's quarter-finals. Alex drew for his foe in that side Chick Evans, Edgewater's former National Open and Amateur champion. Chick had won this title three times before Alex was born—in 1907, 1908, and 1911—as well as going to last year's final. Alexander was very kind about the matter, but Chick's game wasn't up to the 33, one under par, with which Zgorka went three up at the turn and then pursued with two consecutive birdies for what proved to be a comfortable 6 and 5 verdict over the 53 year old Evans.

Esposito, author of the startling 65 with which he tied the course record on Wednesday, gained his semi-final role by winning a 2 and 1 afternoon argument from Jack McMaster, the Downers Grove milkman from Ruth Lake who had shared medal honors with Zgorka on Monday. Two down at the turn, Esposito scored birdies on three of the next five holes.

King Beats La Banco.

King took a 1 up struggle from Dewey La Banco, Pipe O' Peace steel worker, to move into the finishing foursome. Bob shot a 78 in the qualifying round over the course where he plays most of his golf. The qualifying limit proved to be 77 for 63 players and the tournament committee drew names out of a hat from among the 78 shooters. Officer King was the name drawn to complete the championship bracket of 64, and he is in the semi-finals.

Dobro was 4 up on Ed Kletcke, the Navajo Fields drill press operator who won the 1941 championship, with seven holes to go, whereupon Ed proceeded to square the match by winning the next four holes. Dobro then regained his advantage, and after Kletchke missed a chance for victory on the 17th, John took the 18th for his 2 up decision.

THIRD ROUND RESULTS.

Louis Esposito, Columbus, beat Finch Lewis, Lincolnshire, 5 and 4.
Jack McMaster, Ruth Lake, beat Don McGinnis, Jackson, 2 up.
Eddie Kletcke, Navajo Fields, beat William Rosdill, Burnham Woods, 4 and 3.
John Dobro, Burnham Woods, beat Robert Merritt, unattached, 2 and 1.
Chick Evans, Edgewater, beat Jean Barnes, Hibbard's Fairway, 1 up.
Al Zgorka, Burnham Woods, beat John Slebos, West Gate Valley, 1 up.
Dewey Labanco, unattached, beat Hyman Judelson, Old Orchard, 2 and 1.
Robert King, unattached, beat Max Factor, unattached, 1 up, 19 holes.

QUARTER-FINAL RESULTS.

Alex Zgorka, Burnham Woods, beat Chick Evans, Edgewater, 6 and 5.
John Dobro, Burnham Woods, beat Ed Kletcke, Navajo Fields, 2 up.
Robert King, unattached, beat Dewey La Banco, unattached, 1 up.
Louis Esposito, Columbus, beat Jack McMaster, Ruth Lake, 2 and 1.

WIFE STYMIED HIM; GOLFER WINS DIVORCE

Pittsburgh, Pa., Aug. 5 (AP).—Julius W. Platte, Pittsburgh golfer, who said his wife wouldn't allow him to complete for the 1941 United States Open championship after he had qualified, won a divorce today. The golfer testified his wife, Mary J. Platte, now of Baltimore, insulted members of the club where he was a professional in 1933, and made his life miserable. They were married in 1931.

TWO EASTERNERS, SILOVICH OF MINNESOTA, ALSO ACCEPT BIDS

Players Report to Coach Stuhldreher Tomorrow.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

The east and west yesterday contributed four football men to the All-Star squad which will assemble tomorrow at Northwestern university to begin practice for the game Aug. 25 with the Washington Redskins. These players come from Pennsylvania, Pittsburgh, Northwestern, and Minnesota.

From Northwestern and the army comes Ed [Buckets] Hirsch, husky full back, whose battering smashes at the line last fall averaged more than 4 yards. Altho he carried the ball only 58 times, he averaged 43 yards for each Western conference game. For the last time in his career Hirsch will be paired with his team mate of the last two seasons, Northwestern's Otto Graham, who earlier had accepted an invitation to play in the 10th game promoted by The Chicago Tribune Charities.

Since Hirsch's home is in Williamsville, N. Y., he might be credited to the east, but that section has excellent representatives in Walter West, Pitt quarter back, and Herbert Nelson, Pennsylvania end. The other member of the quartet of players announced this morning is Joe Silovich, Minnesota half back. These acceptances bring the All-Star squad total to 68.

Volunteers Wanted

COLLEGE and high school musicians who wish to participate in the All-Star band should make their availability known to Ray Dvorak, whose address is University of Wisconsin Bands, Madison, Wis.

West Remembers Fordham.

West played quarter back for three years for the Panthers and, while the record in games won and lost did not give Pitt high ranking in the east last year, West remembers with pleasure the 1941 game with Fordham. This was the famous 13 to 0 upset victory over the Rams and West contributed his share to the offense that startled the complacent Fordham squad.

West is 24 years old, weighs 198 pounds, and is 6 feet tall. He is in the army air force. His home is Atlasburg, Pa.

Nelson played end for three seasons at the University of Pennsylvania, where his 220 pounds bulwarked one flank of the scrimmage line on defense. Nelson is 6 feet 4 inches tall and adept at taking forward passes over the heads of the defensive secondary. He is 22 and is enlisted in the naval aviation reserves. His home is in West Hartford, Conn., where he attended William Hall High school. Nelson was graduated from Pennsylvania with the degree of bachelor of science and a major in economics.

Joe Plays Hockey, Too.

Silovich came to Minnesota from Eveleth, Minn., which, of course, accounts for the fact that John Mariucci, another Eveleth youngster who played end for Minnesota before entering professional hockey, is Silovich's favorite athlete. Joe also played hockey and earned a reputation as a defense man. Silovich weighs 190 pounds and is 6 feet tall. He is in the army and is stationed at Camp Blanding, Fla.

Harry Stuhldreher, head coach of the All-Stars, will arrive today. He will hold a brief meeting with the members of the coaching staff and complete plans for the first practice tomorrow. Bob Steuber, Missouri's great forward passer on the Tigers' Big Six championship team, and Floyd Rhea, University of Oregon tackle, will be the first to report to Stuhldreher.

From Now on It's Work for the Redskins!

BY EDWARD PRELL.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

San Diego, Cal., Aug. 5.—A great architectural feat, rivaling that of Boulder dam's construction, was recorded today in the sun-kissed camp of the Washington Redskins. After four days of trials and tribulations, Trainer Allan [Red] Johnson triumphantly announced the tackling dummy of the San Diego High school practice field had been completed.

This was Trainer Johnson's first venture into the field of carpentry, and an assist must go to Assistant Coach Turk Edwards, who was technical adviser from an easy chair. Johnson got the assignment after a search of the city and countryside when union carpenters failed.

Thus this afternoon the Redskins, preparing for the 10th college All-Star game in Northwestern's Dyche stadium on Aug. 15, experienced their first rough workout. They ploughed into the dummy, erected over a sawdust pit, took turns bashing the blocking dummy, and further toughened up by pushing the charging sled.

Pro Champions Are Taking No-Chances.

The tackling dummy furnished only a part of the day's good tidings. Dick Farman, the 6 foot, 220 pound guard, reported, making it possible for the professional champions to put two full teams on the field for drills. Farman was shifted to tackle and he may play there against the Collegians in Dyche stadium.

The Redskins still aren't at full strength. George Smith, the 215 pounder who will be the regular center, is due no later than tomorrow. Clyde Shugart, veteran 220 pound guard from Iowa State, will check in on Aug. 10. In Chicago the Redskins will pick up Oliver Oja, a 220 pound tackle who is a student at Georgetown university, and Warren Plunkett, quarter back obtained from Cleveland. Two Redskins are with the College All-Stars and will join up after that game. These are Wally Ziemba, center from Notre Dame, and Eldon Werkheiser, tackle from Dubuque university.

Sam Is Well Now, but They'll Be Careful.

Coach A. J. [Dutch] Bergman has announced the first scrimmage for Sunday, but it will be on the synthetic side. Defensive players will be equipped with blocking aprons, which are huge kapok filled contraptions to protect the anatomy from collar bone to ankle. The scrimmage will be restricted to a 20 yard range to minimize injury dangers. The Redskins want to take no chances on losing a key man for the All-Star battle.

The Redskins only honest-to-goodness game-condition experience will be in the pro East-West Shriners' Crippled Children fund contest a week from Sunday in Balboa stadium. When the Redskins played in the College All-Star game in 1938 against Bo McMillin's legions, Sam Baugh had a sprained ankle. Sam had to leave long before the finish. With Sam on the sidelines, the Collegians intercepted two passes and won, 28 to 16. This was the last loss suffered by the professionals in the big series. Even with Baugh at top form, the Redskins will be the underdogs Aug. 25 because of their manpower shortage. That's why every precaution is being taken to guard against hurts.

Dorothy Head Wins from Helen Bernard in Tennis

Wilmington, Del., Aug. 5 (AP).—One upset was recorded in the quarter-finals of the Delaware State Women's grass court tennis tournament at the Wilmington Country club today when Dorothy Head of Alameda, Cal., defeated Helen Bernhard, Cornell university, the No. 3 player, 6-3, 3-6, 7-5.

THE STARS ARE COMING.

The college football greats who will meet the Washington Redskins in the 10th annual All-Star game in Dyche stadium Aug. 25 have received their marching orders. They are moving on Chicago from all points of the compass for the opening of practice tomorrow.

CHICAGO TENNIS STARS DROPPED FROM NATIONALS

All Lose; Falkenburg on Way to Finals.

Kalamazoo, Mich., Aug. 5 [Special].—The last remaining Chicago players, both in singles and doubles, were eliminated today from the National Juniors' and Boys' tennis tournaments.

At the same time the big names of the tournament, Bob Falkenburg of Hollywood, Cal.; Jim Brink of Seattle, Wash., and Jack Tuero of New Orleans, La., continued their march toward the junior singles finals.

Falkenburg alternated good and mediocre tennis in his quarter-final match with Morton Stern of the United States army air corps, who is representing Philadelphia in this tournament. Falkenburg won, 6-2, 6-3.

Howe Atwater Disappoints.

The Illinois prep champion, Howe Atwater, only Chicagoan to be seeded, was a disappointment as he lost to Tuero, favorite No. 3, 6-0, 6-1.

Returning later with Jerry Evert as his partner, Atwater again tasted defeat, this time in a quarter-final doubles contest, the victors being Bob Kring and Allen Richardson of St. Louis, Mo. The score was 6-1, 6-0.

Bob David and Dick Randall, the other Chicago team in the juniors, lost in straight sets to Tuero and Billy Windham of Orlando, Fla., the second seeded pair.

Chicago Duo Loses.

In the boys' doubles, the Chicago combination of Louis Gross and Bob Redfearn was removed from the tournament in the second round. They were beaten by Rodrigo de Llano of Laredo, Tex., and Erwin Busiek of Springfield, Mo., 6-2, 6-3.

In tomorrow's junior singles semi-finals, Gene Garrett of San Diego, Cal., will oppose Falkenburg and Brink will play Tuero.

JUNIOR SINGLES—QUARTER-FINALS.

Jim Brink, Seattle, Wash., beat Bob Kring, Los Angeles, Cal., 6-3, 6-3.

Jack Tuero, New Orleans, La., beat Howe Atwater, Chicago, 6-0, 6-1.

Gene Garrett, San Diego, Cal., beat Ed Ray, Taft, Tex., 6-1, 6-3.

Bob Falkenburg, Hollywood, Cal., beat Morton Stern, Philadelphia, Pa., 6-2, 6-3.

BOYS' SINGLES—QUARTER-FINALS.

Herbert Flam, Beverly Hills, Cal., beat Buddy Behrens, Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., 6-1, 6-3.

Bob Galloway, Due West, S. C., beat William Turner, Narragansett, R. I., 6-4, 6-4.

Ed Davis, Baton Rouge, La., beat William Rafferty, Chevy Chase, Md., 6-3, 6-1.

BOYS' DOUBLES—SECOND ROUND.

Fred Scribner, Forest Hills, N. Y., and John Taylor, Tannersville, N. Y., beat William Rafferty, Chevy Chase, Md., and Robert Smith, Washington, D. C., 6-4, 6-4.

William Turner, Narragansett, R. I., and Diehl Mateer, Ardmore, Pa., beat Harold Upjohn, Kalamazoo, Mich., and William Schneebeck, Cincinnati, O., 6-0, 6-4.

Buddy Behrens, Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., and Edwin Davis, Baton Rouge, La., beat John Bucknell, Waterford, Va., and Peter Hill, Washington, D. C., 6-0, 6-1.

Rodrigo de Llano, Laredo, Tex., and Erwin Busiek, Springfield, Mo., beat Louis Gross, Chicago, and Robert Redfearn, Highland Park, Ill., 6-2, 6-3.

BOYS' DOUBLES—QUARTER-FINALS.

Fred Scribner, Forest Hills, N. Y., and John Taylor, Tannersville, N. Y., beat William Turner, Narragansett, R. I., and Diehl Mateer, Ardmore, Pa., 6-8, 6-1, 6-0.

Edwin Davis, Baton Rouge, La., and Buddy Behrens, Fort Lauderdale, Fla., beat Rodrigo de Llano, Laredo, Tex., and Erwin Busiek, Springfield, Mo., 6-4, 6-3.

Robert Galloway, Due West, S. C., and Oliver Roddey, Charlotte, N. C., beat Al Hetzeck and Walter English, Hamtramck, Mich., 6-0, 6-4.

Herbert Flam, Beverly Hills, Cal., and Gilbert Shea, Los Angeles, Cal., defeated Peter Lemon, New York, N. Y., and Sidney Schwartz, Brooklyn, N. Y., 6-2, 6-4.

JUNIOR DOUBLES—QUARTER-FINALS.

Bob Falkenburg, Hollywood, Cal., and Jim Brink, Seattle, Wash., beat Allan Watson, Shore Hills, N. J., and Joe Scheerer, West Orange, N. J., 6-3, 6-4.

Mel Ott (left) manager of the Giants and Dolph Camilli shake hands as Camilli quits baseball after 18 years of play.

Dolph Camilli, Tops in 1941, Quits Baseball

New York, Aug. 5 [Special].—Dolph Camilli, voted the National league's most valuable player in 1941, is thru with baseball—forever. And he means it. Two hours and 20 minutes of pleading by Manager Mel Ott and President Horace Stoneham of the New York Giants failed to induce the determined ex-Dodger slugger to reconsider his definite retirement plan and finish out the season at the Polo Grounds.

Even word from Pitcher Johnny Allen, soon afterward, that he would pitch for the Giants, couldn't ease Ott's dejection. Mel had banked heavily on Camilli's leading the team out of the cellar. Allen and Camilli were shunted to the Giants last week in a waiver deal that gave the Dodgers Bill Lohrman, Joe Orengo, and Bill Sayles.

Dolph Calls It Quits.

"Dolph definitely has decided he's not going to play ball—for us or any one else," Ott said sadly after the long, futile conference.

Was it a question of more money?

"No," said Dolph. "In fact, one of the reasons for my deciding to retire was that I felt I couldn't help the Giants enough to make up for my regular salary. I lose about $7,000 by not finishing out the year, but I honestly felt that I wouldn't be earning my salary."

Did the position of the last place Giants influence Dolph's decision?

"Not a bit," Camilli said. "I would have quit if they were in first place. I don't think I would even have finished out the season with Brooklyn if this deal never had come off. I felt I was thru. My reflexes were slower and that bat wasn't coming around fast enough to pull the ball to right field. I guess old age just caught up with me."

Bought by Cubs for $25,000.

Dolph asserted he has no managerial ambitions, and that even an offer to pilot a major league club would fail to lure him out of retirement. He plans to return to his 1,725 acre ranch in Laytonville, Cal., with his wife and five children, "just as soon as I can make train reservations."

The swarthy San Franciscan spent eight years in the minors before being purchased by the Cubs for $25,000 in 1933. The following season, in what is considered one of the most lopsided deals in baseball history, Chicago traded Dolph to the Phillies for Don Hurst—and tossed in $2,500 to boot.

MADISON A. C. TO BOX FORT CUSTER TEAM TONIGHT

The Madison Athletic club boxers, who won two of three matches with outside competition last week, will meet a Fort Custer team in a series of amateur bouts tonight in Madison-Cicero outdoor arena, 4820 Madison street.

It will be the Madison club's third meeting with soldier fighters, its representatives having split two matches with Camp Grant.

GOLD CROWNS TOP RHEINGOLDS; ROCKOLAS WIN

The Gold Crowns upset the league leading Rheingolds, 3 to 2, last night in a Metropolitan Chicago Girls Major softball league game. The Rockolas beat the Parichy Bloomer Girls, 7 to 2, and replaced the latter team in second. The Benda Co-eds beat the Tungsten Sparks, 9 to 5. Tonight's schedule: Rheingolds vs. Gold Crowns in Shewbridge field. Benda vs. Rockolas in Rockola stadium, and Tungsten vs. Parichy in Parichy stadium.

Vaults, Glenview Gobs Win North Town Games

The North Town Vaults beat Rohdes, 8 to 5, and the Glenview Gobs defeated the Blue Room, 9 to 4, last night in North Town softball league games. Tonight in North Town stadium, Devon and Kedzie avenues, the Glenview Dive Bombers meet the Alderman Orlikowskis and the North Town Vaults face the Currency team.

LOBBY SITTING SOX GO BACK TO WORK TODAY

Grove, After 11th Victory, Will Face Tigers.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 5. — After three days of idleness forced on them by the schedule makers, the White Sox will have a chance tomorrow to show whether they have forgotten how to play the so-called national pastime. During their vacation they have accumulated various posterior aches due to too much lobby sitting, calluses on their fingers from trying to fill in crossword puzzle spaces, and a general dislike for whoever was responsible for needlessly stretching out the season.

Dykes Has Something to Show.

If the Sox can get themselves baseball minded by tomorrow afternoon they may be able to exhibit several items that will intrigue the Tiger fans if not the Tigers themselves. Ringmaster James Dykes can display his Luke Appling, league leading hitter with .331. Also Ralph Hodgin who, with .341, isn't yet eligible for Big Six rating. Also Big Six Member Guy Curtright with .321 and on top of this Orval Grove, winner of 10 against 1 defeat, for which Yankee trickery was responsible.

Dykes was informed today that Curtright, who went home for rest after being beaned in Washington, positively will report in the morning, thus assuring a lineup embracing all the current regulars. Hodgin, who has been handling Curtright's affairs in left field, will return to third base. For the time being, Jim Webb will remain at second. He, too, is hitting the ball and, of course, Wally Moses will be on hand to steal whatever bases are lying around loose. He has a collection of 33.

Grove Seeks 11th Victory.

Grove's bid for his 11th victory may be difficult if past happenings mean anything. He beat the Tigers here the previous trip, but he had a big lead so didn't suffer from a rude bouncing around they gave him in the ninth. He also whipped them in Chicago later, but again was treated to a stormy inning.

Bithorn Fails and Cubs Lose to Reds, 4 to 1

Estel Crabtree's three hits, a single to center.

With one out in the fourth inning, Eddie Miller reached second after Merullo picked up his grounder and threw it to the boxes. Miller scored on Mueller's second single, a line drive to left. Walters bunted to Bithorn, who made a high throw in an endeavor to force Mueller. The bobble proved harmless because Frey ended the inning by hitting into a double play started by Merullo.

Erickson Hurls Two Innings.

The Reds' last, and only earned run, was produced in the fifth inning. Walker opened with a single but was out, Peanuts Lowrey to Hack, when he tried to take third on Crabtree's short single to center, Crabtree reaching second on the play at third. Stanky threw out Eric Tipton, but Steve Mesner singled to left, scoring Crabtree.

Paul Erickson pitched the last two innings and yielded only two hits, a single by Bert Haas at the start of the eighth and a double by Crabtree with two out in the ninth.

The Cub hits, other than the aforementioned double by Cavarretta and Nicholson's two singles, were a double by Stanky with two out in the third inning, a triple by Lowrey with two out in the fourth inning and a single by Ival Goodman with two out in the sixth inning.

It was the 13th match between the Cubs and Reds this year and put the Reds one up.

Ardelle Takes First of Lipton Trophy Races

Ardelle, flagship of the Chicago Yacht club, won the opening race of the club's annual three day series for the Thomas Lipton trophy off Belmont harbor yesterday. The 40 foot R class yacht was sailed by C. D. Sutton and covered the 12 mile triangular course in one hour, 50 minutes and nine seconds. The sloop is chartered by Commodore P. H. Danly. Gossoon II. was runner up, coming in 12 seconds later. It was sailed by Harry Nye Jr.

Yankee, owned and sailed by Ed Schnabel Sr., was third in 1:51:57. Skipper Schnabel is defending Lipton trophy winner.

Eight other R class sloops, all flying the Chicago Yacht club burgee, competed.

Ernest Heineman's S class sloop, Romany, won the first race in the John Nutting series over a 10 mile course in 1:42:28. Svek, Sam Clarke's Tumlaren class sloop, was first to finish in the opening race for the Gehrmann trophy. Winning time over the eight mile course was 1:29:25.

Step-N-Fetchit, owned by Buzz Van Arsdale and sailed by William Coveney, won the first race for the Joseph Richter Star boat trophy. The 22 foot yacht sailed the eight miles in 1:41:20.

All four classes will compete again today off Belmont harbor at 3 p. m. and will conclude their series tomorrow at 2:30 p. m.

He's Prompt

Bob Steuber, University of Missouri back, is prompt as well as able at hitting the line. He is the first member of the College All-Stars to report for practice, which opens in Dyche stadium tomorrow. [Associated Press Photo.]

Steuber First All-Star to Reach City

Record contributions are hardly a novelty in the adventures of Bob Steuber, Missouri half back who led the nation in the art of carrying a football the last two years with averages of nearly seven and a half yards per try, but he already has established two All-Star precedents and won't draw his equipment from the Dyche stadium supply cage until Saturday morning.

Altho the College squad which will oppose the Washington Redskins in the 10th annual game Aug. 25 in Dyche stadium isn't scheduled to report until tomorrow, early last week Steuber decided he had carried sufficient ice for the summer in his temporary job and headed for Chicago to become thoroly acclimated to the All-Star atmosphere. This surpasses by at least a week the earliest arrival for any previous practice period.

Then when he felt the need to remain in condition, he sought out Dr. Andrew Lotshaw, the master masseur who divides his attention between the Cubs in the spring and summer and the Bears in the fall. When Andrew realized he was shaking hands with the Bears' No. 1 choice in the draft, who already has signed his contract and will report immediately after the All-Star game, nothing was too much to ask.

Works Out with Cubs.

He outfitted the sturdy half back with uniform No. 38, which was the closest he could come to Steuber's playing number of 37, and added the necessary accessories. Paul Erickson and Stu Martin, who had come to know Bob thru their lobby affiliations at the Sheridan Plaza hotel, pitched in with their shoes and glove, respectively, and Steuber began pre-game workouts with the Cubs. While the All-Stars of the past have confined their visits to Wrigley field to the role of spectator on afternoon reprieves from practice, he became the first to don Cub colors and take part in the workouts.

Big Bob, whose 200 pounds are properly apportioned as to be conducive to speed, believes those early practice calisthenics in Dyche stadium will be a cinch now for his legs are right in trim for shagging fly balls. He also has taken a few turns at the plate with the auxiliaries and Manager Jim Wilson already has observed why several major league clubs paid such close attention to the sturdy lad when he was playing outfield on Missouri's Big Six, baseball champions, while doubling as a sprinter on the track team.

Meets Paddy Driscoll.

The ebullient Dr. Lotshaw also took it upon himself to see that Steuber became acquainted with Paddy Driscoll, the assistant Bear tutor, who is almost a daily spectator when the Cubs are at home. Paddy already has defaced more than one score card during the course of a game, charting and plotting the works of the Bears' T formation to the prize rookie. Plans already are under way to make bounding Bob into a full back with the Bears to take better advantage of his combined size and speed, which matters not to the youngster personally, insofar as he gets to play the game.

But all this is just a prelude to the future naval aviator's present plans. He has waited ever since he was a freshman in high school for the opportunity to play in the All-Star game, he says, and now he wants to make a good job of it.

"This is it," he explains. "Playing in the Sugar bowl game two years ago was a great experience, and competing in the east-west contest last New Year's day was an honor, too, I believed, but this tops them all. What do I want to accomplish in the All-Star game? Why, beat the Redskins, of course. And we're going to do it, too!

Hopes for 90 Yard Run.

"Sure, it would be fun to score. I'd like to run right thru the middle of that big Redskin line. Preferably, for about 90 yards. Why the middle of the line? Because that gives a fellow more opportunity to outmaneuver the secondary. When you head for the side lines, those tacklers have a better chance to draw a bead on you."

CHICAGO DEBUT OF ALSAB OFF; SHIPPED EAST

Narragansett's Lighter Competition Sought.

BY HOWARD BARRY.

Alsab, whose 1943 debut had been awaited eagerly by Chicago race fans, will be shipped off to Narragansett this morning and will not return before the $50,000 Washington Park handicap on Labor day. These plans were announced yesterday by his owner, Al Sabath.

Alsab had been nominated for the $10,000 Chicago handicap tomorrow at Washington Park and it was in this event that he had been expected to launch his comeback campaign and his quest for the world's leading money winning honors, now held by Whirlaway. In explaining his reasons for the change, Sabath said:

"Alsab needs one six-furlong race against competition that isn't too tough and after that we're going to start stepping up the distance right away. He's a route runner and I don't want him to run his heart out against fast sprinters at six furlongs under top weight."

They're Not Mad.

When asked of reports of friction with Washington Park officials, Sabath said:

"We're not mad at anybody. We just think that the schedule down east is more suitable for Alsab. His first engagement will be Monday in the Pawtucket handicap at Narragansett. After that, he'll go in other stakes at that track and at the Saratoga meeting. The Pawtucket will suit him perfectly as a first start."

When asked whether Alsab would make any appearance at all during the Chicago season, Sabath replied:

"We fully expect to bring him back for the Washington Park handicap on Labor day."

In reply to questions about the extent of Alsab's recovery from leg ailments, Sabath stated:

"He'll be better than ever this year. He's absolutely sound now. When he was on the farm we had him fired and after a scab had formed he went at the bandage with his teeth. He bit it off, opened the scab and got dirt into it, which led to an infection. We gave him plenty of time to recover and the leg—his right front—has healed completely."

Competition Is Easier.

Tho the weight of 124 pounds which Alsab will carry over the six furlong $5,000 Pawtucket handicap on Monday is one more than he was asked to tote here Saturday, the competition will be much easier. There is no Signator or Occupation in that dash.

One of the reports of friction between the Sabath stable and the track management was based on the fact that Barry Whitehead, the paddock steward ordered the saddle off of Crosstide shortly before the start of the eighth race on Wednesday.

Whitehead ruled that the horse was sore and unfit to race, whereas Sarge Swenke, trainer for the Sabath stable, contended that Crosstide had been brought up to proper racing condition after he'd been working on him for a year.

BRUSHLESS SHAVEKREEM

NOVA CONFIDENT AS HE GOES THRU STIFFEST DRILL

Odds Favoring Savold Are Shortened.

BY FRANK MASTRO.

Lou Nova, who was given a rest Wednesday, yesterday engaged in the hardest drill of his six weeks' training period for a 10 round bout with Lee Savold in Wrigley field Monday.

The big Californian went five rounds, two with Dan Merritt, former Golden Gloves heavyweight champion from Cleveland, O., and three with Corp. Vince Calzaretto, Chicago light heavyweight, who is on furlough from Fort Devens, Mass., in the Ringside loop gymnasium.

Savold Is Favored.

Since Savold was awarded an eighth round technical knockout in a previous meeting with Lou in Washington, D. C., a year ago last May 25, Lee naturally is favored to win the encore.

Nova, however, is confident of evening the score with his New Jersey rival, who is ranked fifth leading heavyweight challenger by the National Boxing association. The determination displayed by Lou must be given consideration, the basis of fact for that belief in his superiority is that he never lost a rematch.

Five years ago, Lou was held to a draw by Lee Ramage, but in a return contest he defeated Ramage. The Van Nuys fighter also knocked out Max Baer in a second meeting.

Savold, Bolden Spar.

Savold yesterday sparred three rounds with Nate Bolden and two with Lou Campbell.

Both men will enter semi-final workouts this afternoon with the odds favoring Savold hammered down from 3½ to 1 to 9 to 5.

Pvt. 1st Class Joe Maxin, also a former Golden Gloves title holder, will arrive from Baer field near Fort Wayne, Ind., tomorrow for a 10 round supporting match against Bolden.

Co-promoters Irving Schoenwald and Jack Begun announced that a preliminary match between Lefty Lou Mays of Des Moines and Mike Edwards has been lengthened from four to six rounds.

14 DIE IN FLOOD IN W. VIRGINIA; 10 ARE MISSING

Damage Is $2,000,000 in Central Counties.

Sutton, W. Va., Aug. 5 (AP).—Flood stricken central West Virginia, counting the toll tonight of a freak flash flood that gushed down its deep hollows and gorges, listed 14 known dead, 10 missing, and property damage that was expected to exceed $2,000,000.

Rescuers twice revised upward the roster of victims as reports came in from previously isolated localities in Calhoun and Ritchie counties. Braxton county bore the brunt of the raging torrents that trapped mountain dwellers as they slept.

State Police Sgt. L. L. Waugh reported the recovery of five bodies at Heaters, 10 miles away, and six others at Copen, 20 miles from Sutton. At least five other persons were missing at the two rural localities.

At Parkersburg, State Trooper R. M. Reger reported Floyd Nelson, 52 years old and his four children were missing and all believed drowned when swollen Island creek carried away their home near Girta, in Ritchie county.

TUMBLES FROM PLANE AND SEAT GOES WITH HIM

Seattle, Wash., Aug. 5 (AP).—Ensign William Himmelmann's safety belt was securely fastened—so securely that it ripped his seat right out of the navy plane when the pilot rolled it over on its back—4,500 feet in the air. The Sacramento, Cal., officer said:

"We'd been upside down about half a second when I felt myself falling. I saw a handle and knew it couldn't be anything else but the rip cord, and I pulled it."

But nothing happened. Ensign Himmelmann's parachute had been under him. So he flipped the safety belt and watched the seat slip away. As soon as the seat fell the parachute opened. He landed unhurt.

Coast Guards Seek Body of Gary Boy, 12, in Lake

Coast guardsmen made a search yesterday for the body of George Clark, 12 years old, 1769 Atchison street, Gary, who is reported to have drowned Wednesday night while swimming at the Sheridan aveune beach in Whiting. Companions said he was caught in the undertow and swept into the lake. The beach is unguarded.

PARENTS FIGHT JUNIOR COLLEGE MOVE TO SCHURZ

Albert G. Bauersfeld, principal of Carl Schurz High school, who is fighting a recommendation of divisional superintendents of school to transfer students of Wright Junior college to the high school, said yesterday he received 100 responses from residents of the high school district in the first 24 hours after he had sent letters to 1,500 outlining his protest.

All of the replies, he said, supported his view that the transfer would produce "chaos and bedlam" in the already overcrowded Schurz school and result in a waste of taxpayers' money. New quarters for the college students have been sought since the navy took over the Wright building.

Parents protesting the transfer plan to send a delegation to the board of education meeting next Wednesday, when action on the recommendation of the superintendent's office will be taken. Cushman Bissell, chairman of the board of the Northwest National bank and past president of the Schurz alumni association, will be spokesman.

Relief Cases In Chicago Decrease 3,300 In Month

A decrease of 3,300 persons on public relief in Chicago during the last month is reported by George J. Klupar, welfare commissioner, who disclosed yesterday that July's case load was 44,600, compared with the June total of 47,900.

POLICEMAN, 50, ON MOTORCYCLE, DIES IN A MISHAP

Sgt. Philip Guinto, 50 years old, a state policeman attached to the 2d district station at Elgin, was killed yesterday when he was thrown from his motorcycle on route 120, about four miles west of Grayslake, Lake county. An inquest will be held today at Fox Lake.

Lake county deputy sheriffs said he apparently lost control of his machine as he was riding down a hill. He was on his way from his home on Riverside drive in McHenry to Waukegan to assist local police in directing traffic during a parade.

Sgt. Guinto was one of the first of 20 state policemen appointed to the force in 1927. He once was the officer in charge of the 3d district station in Chicago and in recent months had been assigned to a special detail on patrol in the neighborhood of the naval training station at Great Lakes. He is survived by his widow, Eva.

Mrs. Addie Martin, 40 years old, 1730 Warwick street, Hammond, was killed and her husband, Daniel, 40, was injured early yesterday when their automobile collided with a truck at 121st street and Calumet avenue in Hammond. Forrest Collisin, an employe of Keeshin Motor Express, Inc., Chicago, was the driver of the truck.

CHICAGO FLYER KILLED IN NEW MEXICO CRASH

Mr. and Mrs. Paul McGenty, 6225 University avenue, were notified yesterday that their son, Lt. Leonard P. McGenty, stationed at the Deming, N. M., air base, had been killed Wednesday when his plane crashed near Hurley, N. M. His bombardier, Lt. Jesse R. Medlin of Hatch, N. M., also was killed. Lt. McGenty was 24 years old. He was a graduate of Harrison High school and had attended the University of Chicago one year when he quit to enlist in the army in 1941. He received his wings last April. His father is employed in the office of the bureau of internal revenue.

OBITUARIES

Dr. James M. White.

Dr. James M. White, a physician and surgeon in Gary since 1926 and former president of the Gary board of health, died of a heart attack yesterday in the Methodist hospital in Gary. His colleagues said they believed that overwork had superinduced a heart ailment. Dr. White, who was 45 years old and unmarried, served as chief examining physician for a Gary selective service board and was a member of the Lake county appeal board. He was educated at the University of Chicago and Northwestern university medical school. He also was a past president of the Lake County Medical society. Services will be held at 5 p. m. today in the chapel at 675 Adams street. Burial will be in Mount Ayr, Ia.

The Very Rev. F. G. Horn.

Kingston, N. Y., Aug. 5 (AP).—The Very Rev. Francis Gabriel Horn, 70, O. P., S. T. M., a member of the Roman Catholic church's Leonine commission which prepared the definitive Latin edition of the complete works of St. Thomas Aquinas, died yesterday in St. Benedict's hospital. He was born in Peru, Ind.

Pvt. James J. Byrnes.

A requiem high mass for Pvt. James J. Byrnes, 29 years old, who was killed in action in the Southwest Pacific July 14, will be said at 9:30 a. m. Monday in St. Laurence's church, 72d street and Dorchester avenue. Word of his death was received this week by his wife, Helen. He was an employe of the Pullman-Standard company until he entered the army May 18, 1942. He also leaves an uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. William Gray of 7115 Woodlawn avenue, where he formerly lived.

Ferdinand C. Krueger.

Ferdinand C. Krueger, a retired street car motorman who more than a generation ago operated horse drawn cars, died yesterday. He was 85 years old, a native Chicagoan, and lived at 1545 Roscoe street. He retired as a surface lines employe after 50 years of service. Mr. Krueger leaves his widow, Elise, and a daughter, Mrs. Ethel Patterson, of Glencoe. Funeral services will be held at 3 p. m. tomorrow in the chapel at 2118 Lawrence avenue.

Eben E. Roberts.

Services for Eben E. Roberts, for 50 years a Chicago area architect, will be held at 3 o'clock tomorrow in the chapel at 523 Lake street, Oak Park. Mr. Roberts, who was 77 years old, died yesterday in Muskegon, Mich. He was president of the White Lake Golf club, White Lake, Mich., and member emeritus of the Illinois Society of Architects. He lived at 1019 Superior street, Oak Park. Survivors are his son, Elmer C. Roberts, and a daughter, Mrs. Margaret Drew.

Burial will be in Woodlawn cemetery. He died Tuesday in West Suburban hospital after a short illness. He leaves a daughter, Angela, and a son, Norman.

RIOT IS STARTED AS SOLDIER AND CIVILIAN FIGHT

Vancouver, Wash., Aug. 5 (AP).—Rioting flared in the river front district here tonight after a soldier and a civilian got in a fight and a city policeman struck the soldier on the head, inflicting an injury which sent him to Vancouver Barracks hospital.

Some 1,500 civilians and soldiers milled about and 500 persons drinking in taverns joined the crowd. Fighting was sporadic.

Military police rushed into the area under orders to send all men in uniform back to their stations and with city police succeeded in restoring a semblance of order for a time. But fighting started again within a few minutes and police returned with tear gas and riot guns. Fire trucks laid out hose as a threat against the crowd.

Calls Out State Guard.

Kelso, Wash., Aug. 5 (AP).—Chief of Police Art Clark announced tonight that he had called out state guard units here and at Longview, Wash., to go to the aid of Vancouver, Wash., police who were attempting to quell a riot. Clark said the call for help came from the Vancouver police chief and that about 100 members of the state guard were being mobilized. A mob of 500 men was in front of the Vancouver police station when the call was made here, Clark said.

Hay Fever Makes Life Wretched

The irritation of itchy, smarting, watery eyes, running nose, headaches and other disagreeable symptoms of hay or rose fever is enough to make anyone miserable and eager for relief. Now, you can get a formula originated by a specialist which helps to relieve all these symptoms at once. Just ask your druggist for Dr. Platt's Cal-Rinex formula* and take as directed. Small tasteless capsules they act with such promptness that most people usually begin to feel better after the first dose. You must be thoroughly satisfied with results or money-back. *Formerly known as RINEX.

COURT IS SHOWN FINGERPRINTS IN OAKES SLAYING

NASSAU, Bahamas, Aug. 5 (AP).—Thru the first finger print ever introduced in a major Nassau criminal case, an American detective attempted today to prove that Alfred de Marigny entered the bedroom of his father-in-law, Harry Oakes, British baronet, the night the fabulously wealthy gold miner was clubbed and burned to death.

Detective Frank Conway of the New York City criminal identification department asserted that a finger print found on a paper covered wooden screen near Oakes' bed was that of the handsome, bearded De Marigny.

Conway was the only witness at an abbreviated session of a preliminary hearing for the debonair yachtsman charged with murder. His fingers aching after copying in longhand the lengthy testimony of earlier sessions, Magistrate F. E. Field continued the hearing until next Tuesday.

Conway exhibited two pictures, one of which he testified was a view of the print found on the screen, and the other a photograph of a later impression made by De Marigny.

PATIENT KILLED IN PLUNGE; QUIZ HOME OPERATOR

Mrs. Stella Davis, 36 years old, operator of a convalescent home at 730 Waveland avenue, was being questioned at the Town Hall police station last night about the death—due to accident or suicide—of one of her patients. The man dead was Meyer Singer, 82 years old, who formerly resided with his daughter, Mrs. Mary Barnette of 512 Patterson avenue.

Capt. William Drury, the district commander, said he learned that Singer either fell or jumped from a second story window about 2 p. m. Mrs. Davis said that a neighbor notified her of his fall and that he was carried in and treated by Dr. Louis A. Terman of 726 Waveland avenue. The police were not notified, the captain said, until Singer died at about 3 p. m.

Mrs. Davis was reported to have admitted that she had no license to operate the institution. She established it in May. Another patient, Tony Mizen, told detectives that Singer told him he was going to jump out the window. Mizen was bedridden and unable to interfere, he said. The home has ten rooms for patients and about 20 patients are under treatment.

Poison from Pies Kills Child, 17 Others Stricken

Eugene, Ore., Aug. 5 (AP).—A child died today and 17 persons were brought to hospitals suffering from what Dr. C. L. Lindgren, Lane county health officer, termed poisoning from eating cream-based pies. Lindgren said the pies were distributed by a bakery at Cottage Grove, 20 miles south of here, but he had not determined whether the poisoning resulted from the handling of the pies in the bakery or by purchasers.

SON REPORTED MISSING WRITES TO HIS PARENTS

Seaman Jack R. Yeager of 8643 South Justine avenue, variously reported as missing and dead since the destroyer Strong, on which he was serving, was sunk in a flaming naval engagement in Kula bay off New Georgia Island, July 4, has calmed the fears of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William J. Yeager. They have a letter from him written July 18 that has dispelled their worries. The letter arrived Wednesday and while young Yeager couldn't tell where he was or what he was doing he wrote that he was feeling fine and hoped to see his parents soon. That was the best tonic his mother, recovering from a severe illness, possibly could have, she said.

DAY BY DAY ON THE FARM

The FARM by Ben Markland

August 5, 1943.

"THE corn is made."

That expression may remind some city residents of the new jitterbug lingo, but to a farmer it means that a good corn crop is almost a certainty. When one of the men on the Yorkville farm issued that four word bulletin early in the week he indicated that the weather conditions have been such that the corn is past the danger stage.

A heavy, soaking rain which fell for several hours Monday night and Tuesday gave the corn crop just what it needed. There was a good supply of moisture in the ground early in the season after the May rains, and the corn thrived during the warm days of June and July, but those two months provided so little moisture that the cornfields were beginning to dry out rapidly. Then came the beneficial rainfall early in the week which gave the corn just what it needed.

All Corn in Tassel.

The first plantings of corn on the Yorkville farm are about seven feet high, and all of the plantings are in tassel. Warm August days and nights, preferably with one or two more rains, will provide the finishing touches to insure an excellent yield. The main potential obstacle to a high corn yield is the second brood of corn borers, due after Aug. 15.

The value of the rain to the corn crop was great enough to completely offset the fact that it necessitated a rearrangement of the farm work schedules. The men on the Yorkville farm had planned to thresh oats Tuesday, but the rain drenched the shocked oats so thoroly that this job had to be delayed for two days. The rain likewise forced the small combine out of the oats fields on the Wheaton farm.

Oats Yield Is Light.

Men on both farms say the oats yield is comparatively light this season. The men on the Yorkville place believe the return on this grain will be the smallest of the last three years. The threshing outfit owned by the Yorkville farm will be used on a circuit of six farms this season.

The oats acreage of the first farm was threshed last Saturday and Monday before the rain halted operations. The 55 acres of oats from this farm yielded 2,113 bushels of grain, an average of 38.4 bushels per acre. The average yield on most farms in the Yorkville area this year is 35 to 40 bushels to the acre, altho one farm in the county yielded 50 bushels.

★The GARDEN★

FINAL vegetable plantings of the year, usually put into rows which already have yielded a 1943 crop, thrive better if the soil is fertilized. The reasons for such fertilization are that vital soil elements have been consumed by earlier plantings and also because growing conditions usually are not so favorable in late summer as in spring.

If a commercial fertilizer is used, this procedure is advisable: Respade the planting area to a depth of four to six inches. Rake the soil thoroly, as the seedbed preparation is more important than for spring plantings. The commercial fertilizer can be broadcast over the row at the rate of a large handful to each six feet. The fertilizer then should be raked into the topsoil and left for at least two days before the seeds are planted.

If the gardener wishes to fertilize and plant at the same time, this procedure can be followed: Prepare the seedbed as above, then use a pointed hoe to dig a trench three to four inches deep. Place the fertilizer in the trench at the same ratio as above. Cover the fertilizer with at least two inches of pulverized soil, then plant the seeds.

WAR ALUMINUM STREAMS FROM CHICAGO PLANT

Big New Alcoa Unit Speeds Output.

BY PHILIP HAMPSON.

How aluminum "skin" for America's war planes is made was shown newspaper writers yesterday at one of the Chicago area's newest and most impressive war enterprises—the vast new plant of the Defense Plant corporation and the Aluminum Company of America southwest of the city.

Altho the plant has been running only a few weeks, an impressive amount of aluminum sheets and other aluminum products used in the building of military planes already is being produced. Each time a roll of sheeting came off a rolling mill, an Aluminum company official said: "There goes half enough for a medium bomber." And the rolls came off the mill with regularity.

This plant, which was built by the DPC and is operated by the Aluminum company, may be described as vast even in a district where big war plants have become commonplace. On the exterior it resembles the big Willow Run bomber plant.

Mill Is City Block Long.

The many departments extend for blocks, but all are dominated by the section which includes the continuous strip rolling mills, one of which is a city block in length.

One of the first sections shown the visitor is the reception room where aluminum pigs, weighing about 50 pounds each, are brought from the refineries in various sections of the country. The pigs are shoved into a long line of stoker coal fired furnaces. After many hours of tremendous heat, small "silver" streams of molten aluminum are poured into billet forms of various shapes. The dull silver flow of the molten aluminum is in sharp contrast to the dazzling display of fireworks when white hot molten steel is being poured.

It takes more hours for sheet slabs—out of which eventually will come airplane skin—to cool before further processing. After a scalping—cleaning process—the sheet slabs are given another heat treatment. Picked up by big overhead cranes they are headed for the first rolling mill where a pretty blonde girl records their temperatures and test numbers.

Rollings Reduce Thickness.

The slabs are about eight inches thick when they are headed thru the first section of rolling mills. The thickness is reduced thru a series of rollings to the required thickness. Later the sheets are sent thru the rolling mills cold and are given other processing before going to the plane manufacturers. Company officials said more horse power is required to roll aluminum than steel.

Officials said that altho war time conditions prevent them from releasing information on the productive capacity of the plant they have been authorized to say that mills of the type installed in the Chicago plant can turn out aluminum sheet at a rate 50 times faster than was possible before the war.

They also said that within a few months the nation's aluminum metal production capacity will exceed 2 billion 100 million pounds annually. Government owned plants, built and operated by Alcoa, will account for more than half of this capacity. Production of aluminum in government owned, Alcoa operated plants exceeds the metal produced in the company's own plants, they asserted.

Devices Save Labor.

Visitors commented on the large amount of labor saving devices, the cleanliness of the plant, and the number of girls running big machines. Girls operate with unconcern big cranes weighing tons and do many other jobs formerly performed only be men.

The important part the new plant will have in the nation's plane construction is indicated by the fact that 4,000 pounds of aluminum go into the fabrication of the average pursuit plane, 11,000 pounds into a medium bomber, and 56,000 pounds into a heavy bomber. Aluminum also is used in many other war weapons including naval vessels, tanks, machine guns, and trucks.

J. L. Patterson, formerly of Pittsburgh, is the works manager.

War Arsenal 80 Pct. Ready, Says Nelson

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 4.—The American arsenal is nearly completed, Chairman Donald M. Nelson of the war production board said today in announcing that the nation's government financed war facilities program was 80 per cent realized at the end of June.

At the midyear point completion of 12 billion 38 million dollars worth of a current 14 billion 584 million dollar government financed program had been accomplished, Nelson said. At the start of the year the work was 61 per cent completed, and a year ago the proportion was 34 per cent.

"Greatest Accomplishment."

The WPB chairman praised the record as the "greatest accomplishment in the construction of plants to produce finished munitions such as guns, combat vehicles, aircraft, ships and ammunition." Facilities for producing ammunition were 95 per cent completed as of June 30, he said.

Other percentages in various government financed facilities endeavors as of July 1 were:

Synthetic rubber, 61 per cent completed. [15 per cent at start of year, 3 per cent a year ago.]

Gasoline 39% Completed.

One hundred octane gasoline, 39 per cent completed. [1 per cent at start of year.]

Iron and steel, 75 per cent completed.

Chemical products, 90 per cent completed. [66 per cent at start of year, 31 per cent a year ago.]

The privately financed expansion program for production of 100 octane gasoline showed a better standing than the government financed constructions, Nelson said, standing at 63 per cent of completion.

DENIES DEALERS ASK CEILING ON USED CAR PRICES

Opposition to price ceilings on used cars was expressed yesterday by David E. Castles, president of the National Automobile Dealers' association, at an association committee meeting in the Palmer House. Reports that ceilings were near and many dealers wished them were denied by Castles, who said that less than 2 per cent of his members preferred ceilings.

He estimated that there were only 1½ million used cars for sale at present, and contended that placing a ceiling on prices would complicate the nation's transportation problem by forcing dealers to close up.

Farmer Prices for Milk Steady to Higher in July

Prices paid to farmers for milk sold in the Chicago area in July were announced yesterday by A. W. Colebank, federal administrator. Class 1 milk, sold at retail as a whole fluid, was unchanged from June at $3.294 a hundred pounds, or 7.084 cents a quart. Class 2 price was up 12 cents to $2.914 a hundred, class 3 was unchanged at $2.594, and class 4 was up 14 cents to $2.492.

FARMING LAND BOOM DRAWS U. S. WARNING

Pattern Is Likened to World War I.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 5 (AP).—The bureau of agricultural economics, reporting further increases in farm real estate prices this year, warned today that current developments in the land market offered a "striking parallel" to those of the World War I. period which it recalled culminated in the 1919 land boom and subsequent collapse.

Farm land prices rose 3 per cent between March and July, the bureau said, to bring the average value for the nation above the World War I. level for the first time since 1931.

Much of agriculture's economic difficulties in the 20's and 30's was attributed to inflated land values that grew out of World War I. markets. Thousands of farmers who bought farms at high prices lost them when agricultural prices tumbled.

Speculation Aids Rise.

Factors contributing to the newest advance, which started more than two years ago, were said to include generally favorable farm product prices, big war markets for food, and some speculative activity.

Speculative buying of farms for possible resale at higher prices appeared to be increasing, the bureau said, particularly in the far west and north central states. It said prices received for agricultural commodities increased approximately one-fourth during the last 12 months.

"In spite of midwestern floods this spring, current indications point to 1942 farm income considerably in excess of the record levels of 1942," the bureau said. "The volume of liquid purchasing power in the hands of potential buyers of farm real estate continues to grow."

Increased purchases of farms have taken almost all holdings acquired by credit agencies after the World War I. land market collapse.

Tax on Gains Suggested.

Other governmental agencies, including the farm credit administration and the federal reserve board, have kept close touch with land market developments. Reports have been heard that the government, anxious to avert another land boom, soon may take steps to discourage speculative buying.

Measures suggested included a capital gains tax under which the government would capture profits made from the resale of land, and the issuance of stringent regulations on extension of credit for land purchase.

The economics bureau said recent land price rises had occurred in all geographical regions and in more than two thirds of the states. Among states with sharp increases over the 1935-39 average was Indiana, more than 40 per cent.

MILKWEED FIRM GETS CONTRACT FOR FLOSS FOR FLYERS' JACKETS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 5.—Jesse Jones, secretary of commerce, announced today that the Defense Plant corporation had authorized a contract with the Milkweed Floss Corporation of America, Chicago, for construction of an extraction plant at Petoskey, Mich., costing $165,000. The company, headed by Dr. Boris Berkman, will extract the floss from milkweed for army and navy use as a substitute for kapok.

Commodity Credit corporation officials, who will have charge of gathering the pods for the processing plant, said that the floss will provide the filler for life saving jackets and the insulating material for the uniforms of American airmen in low temperatures. The corporation hopes to buy enough pods to produce approximately 1 million pounds of floss this year.

Two Chicago Firms May Get Army Depots

The International Harvester company and Sears, Roebuck & Co. are negotiating with the ordnance department of the army for the operation of two ordnance depots in a nearby state, it was learned yesterday from informed sources.

The move is in line with the ordnance department's policy of putting operation of some of its depots in the hands of private companies. The negotiations, which are being conducted in Washington, were started at the army's request.

International Harvester is scheduled to operate one big depot outside the Chicagoland area and the Sears, Roebuck negotiations cover operation of a depot 150 miles from the International Harvester depot.

Other Operations Reported.

Procter & Gamble company, Cincinnati soap manufacturer, also is reported to be negotiating for the operation of a depot. The General Motors corporation is reported to be operating two, and Ford and Chrysler are said to be operating one each.

Most of the ordnance depots have been operated by army officers and enlisted personnel, but with the larger part of the working force consisting of civilians. It was believed private company operation of plants having such large forces of civilians would be more economical than having them under military control.

Located in Key Positions.

The ordnance department has a number of depots located at key positions thruout the nation. Some of them specialize on certain types of equipment such as tanks, machine guns, or trucks, and others handle all forms of ordnance equipment.

International Harvester's proposed operation is said to be typical of the others under negotiation.

LIGHT HOG RUN FAILS TO HALT PRICE DECLINE

Another decrease in receipts of hogs at large packing centers yesterday failed to halt the price decline, which members of the trade attributed chiefly to the government's recent announcement that it planned to reduce pork purchases.

Losses of 10 to 15 cents a hundred pounds were general in the Chicago stock yards, with some of the heaviest hogs 25 cents lower.

Twenty large markets this week so far have received 399,000 hogs, 27,000 fewer than a week ago, but 91,000 more than a year ago.

The four day cattle run in the 20 markets was 209,000, compared with 203,000 a week ago and 241,000 a year ago. In Chicago steers and yearlings above $16 were in good demand at steady prices, but others were weak to 25 cents lower.

GRAIN FUTURES MOSTLY HIGHER; BUYING IS ACTIVE

Active demand again for feed grains gave the markets a firm tone yesterday on the Chicago Board of trade. Buying of September oats was credited to cash interests advanced that delivery 1⅛ cents a bushel to 71⅛ cents, the close. Other futures gained ¾ cent.

Short covering developed in rye and there was good commission house buying on reports that the liquidation of a large amount of futures had been completed. Closing prices were up 1⅛ to 1½ cents. Wheat finished unchanged to ¼ cent lower.

Charges Army Butter Held by Chicago Firm

The produce commission firm of City Clerk Ludwig D. Schreiber was charged by the war food administration yesterday with failure to set aside 1,223,139 pounds of butter under a government order requiring that certain percentages of production be reserved for the exclusive use of the military services and other federal agencies. The action against L. D. Schreiber & Co., Inc., 110 North Franklin street, was the first of its kind in the Great Lakes region.

A statement issued by Carl J. Berst, vice president of the company, denied willful violation of the set aside order and said the "whole question is one of technical interpretation." Schreiber, who is president, said the company will answer the charge and will request a hearing.

Five Months Allotment.

According to the WFA, the Schreiber company, acting as a receiver for butter set aside under the order, omitted to reserve the nearly 1¼ million pounds from Feb. 1, when the order went into effect, thru June 30. During the five month period the firm received about 5,978,977 pounds, which had been set aside by producing creameries and sold to the firm as an authorized receiver, the government agency said.

Of the quantity received, 4,154,537 pounds was sold by the company to federal agencies and on July 1 the firm held about 601,509 pounds, the WFA stated. It was charged that the remainder was not set aside as required by the order.

Follows Accepted Practice.

The company's statement said that its practice in handling the set aside butter was one regarded by the government and the Chicago butter trade as being "within the intent and spirit of the regulation."

A. L. Ronneberg, general manager of the Dairy Products Marketing association, Chicago, which handles purchases under the set aside order and does some buying for the army, asserted it seemed "incredible" a single firm should "be singled out for such drastic action in the administration of these relatively new war food orders."

STOCK MARKET DIPS SLIGHTLY; TRADING LIGHT

New York, Aug. 5 (AP). — Altho slightly lower in most departments, the stock market today maintained fair equilibrium after its recent jitters over "peace" selling.

Lacking the buying power to extend yesterday's recovery, many leaders drifted fractionally lower. A few "blue chips" declined a point or so. Volume fell sharply and the turnover of 541,630 shares was the smallest since Jan. 20 and less than half the daily average on last week's decline.

Near the close some key issues attracted better demand and ended with modest gains. Among these were Bethlehem Steel, United States Rubber preferred, Johns-Manville, Sears Roebuck, and Consolidated Edison.

CHICAGO TRADING LIGHT.

Prices on the Chicago Stock exchange sagged yesterday on a turnover of 25,000 shares. Only 82 issues were traded. Volume leaders were Chicago corporation, 2,150 shares, closed at 4¾, down ⅛; Middle West, 1,750 shares, 8⅜ unchanged; Merchants & Manufacturers Securities A, 1,050 shares, 6¼, up ¼; and Libby, McNeill & Libby, 950 shares, 7, down ⅛.

ICKES MAY SEEK OPERATING FEES OF MINE OWNERS

Washington, D. C., Aug. 5 (AP).—An undercurrent of talk about possible damage suits against the government for seizing the coal mines during the recent strikes brought from the office of Interior Secretary Harold Ickes today a warning that the government may charge the operators for running the mines.

Representatives of the coal industry have demanded return of the mines to the owners and Ickes, who is solid fuels administrator, has withheld a reply.

Ickes' office said the secretary believed owners should regard government control of the mines as a benefit. He contended that government seizure kept the mines going when they would have lain idle and profitless. It was not clear how he would measure the extent of the "benefits." He has held the mines more than three months.

MAKER OF RAIL CARS REPORTS EARNINGS GAIN

Sinclair Oil Profits Rise to 9½ Million.

General American Transportation corporation, Chicago, reported yesterday that June quarter earnings rose to $1,068,317, equal to $1.02 a common share, from $627,849, or 60 cents a share, in the corresponding quarter last year. The company manufactures, repairs, and leases railroad tank, refrigerator, and freight cars.

The company set aside $2,405,000 for federal income and excess profits taxes compared with $1,006,589 in the second quarter of 1942.

CBS Has Profit Increase.

Consolidated net profit of the Sinclair Oil corporation in the six months ended June 30 amounted to $9,536,952, or 76 cents a common share, against $8,423,448, or 65 cents a share, a year earlier.

Columbia Broadcasting System had consolidated earnings of $2,204,499, equal to $1.28 a share on the combined class A and B shares, in the 26 weeks ended July 3. This compared with revised net profit of $2,005,910, or $1.17 on the combined issues, in the corresponding 1942 period.

Bendix Earnings Rise.

Bendix Aviation corporation disclosed earnings in the nine months ended June 30 totaled $11,995,931, or $5.67 a common share, against $11,035,022, or 5.22 a share in the corresponding period last year.

Mack Trucks reported net income during the first six months of 1943 amounted to $1,197,001, or $2 a common share, against $1,272,804, or $2.13, a year earlier. June quarter earnings were $552,501, or 93 cents a share, compared with $502,470, or 84 cents a share, a year earlier.

Bohn Indicted on Charges of Casting Fraud

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 5 (AP).—The Bohn Aluminum & Brass corporation and three of its employes were indicted by a federal grand jury today on charges they conspired to defraud the United States government by manufacture of castings for airplane engines in a manner contrary to war department specifications.

John C. Lehr, United State attorney, said the indictment included two conspiracy counts and three counts under the sabotage statute.

One conspiracy count charged acts which would injure conduct of war by furnishing the Packard Motor Car company with welded, plugged, and peened castings.

No Subversive Acts Charged.

The three Bohn employes indicted were Frederick N. Eaton, assistant manager of Bohn plant No. 2; Paul F. Cordes, plant superintendent, and George King, trim room foreman.

Lehr and John S. Bugas, agent in charge of the federal bureau of investigation office here, said there was no evidence of subversive motives in the alleged sabotage.

The indictment specifically accused the defendants of repairing defective castings by welding and peening [hammering cold metal] in violation of specifications and with concealing this practice from Packard and the government.

Bohn Defends Its Castings.

In a formal statement, the Bohn corporation asserted that the charges relating to the castings "are based upon a technical and impracticable interpretation of obsolete specifications" and "that we have followed a sound procedure is proved by the fact that there has never been an engine failure due to an aluminum casting made by us."

The indictment charged that Eaton, Cordes, and King arranged that the welding should be done in a shed outside the plant proper, and that later it was shifted to a carpenter shop to avoid its detection by Packard officials and inspectors.

Two conspiracy counts and three substantive sabotage counts are included in the indictment. Maximum penalty for conspiracy is two years imprisonment and $10,000 fine on each count; for sabotage, $10,000 fine and 30 years imprisonment on each count.

CIO UNION DARES LEWIS GROUP TO STRIKE AS VOTED

The CIO United Farm Equipment and Metal Workers' union yesterday defied John L. Lewis' United Mine Workers' union, district 50, to go on strike at the Springfield plant of the Allis-Chalmers Manufacturing company. The CIO vowed that "every single patriotic member and officer of our union will keep uninterrupted war production going in the plant."

The CIO union won a national labor relations board election to represent the workers in the plant. Lewis' union has been trying to get a new NLRB election. It also invoked the Smith-Connally law by applying for a strike vote, which on Wednesday authorized a strike call, 1,005 to 836. CIO officials said the workers were misled by false issues created by district 50.

In Springfield, meanwhile, district 50 called on President Roosevelt and NLRB to settle the jurisdictional dispute by an election. It contended the strike vote proved it had a majority of the employes.

Armour and Swift Face Hog Price Fixing Charges

Oklahoma City, Okla., Aug. 5 (AP). —Two Chicago packing companies, Armour and Swift must stand trial on a federal indictment charging them with fixing hog prices here, Charles E. Dierker, district attorney, announced. Dierker said a decision by the 10th Circuit Court of Appeals reversed Federal Judge Edward S. Vaught's ruling of last Feb. 4 that the indictments were too vague.

MIDWEST BANK CHIEFS TO SIFT MONEY PLANS

Call Unprecedented Joint Meeting.

BY LELAND FORRESTER.

The boards of directors of five midwestern federal reserve banks are preparing to hold an unprecedented joint meeting Aug. 28 in Chicago.

Simon E. Leland.

Their purpose will be to talk at first hand with the originators and leading opponents of the world monetary stabilization plans recently proposed separately by the United States treasury and the British economist, John Maynard Keynes. Keynes and Harry D. White, treasury staff member who drafted the American plan, and others connected with international money problems have been invited to attend the meeting and present their views personally.

Purely a Midwest Idea.

Simeon E. Leland, chairman of the board of the Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago, yesterday confirmed that arrangements for the meeting had been made. Dr. Leland, who also is head of the department of economics at the University of Chicago, said that the suggestion for the meeting originated with the midwestern reserve banks. He said that it was purely a midwestern undertaking thru which the directors are seeking to inform themselves about the world stabilization proposals.

The directors' object is to be in a position to deal with decisions involving any such program insofar as midwestern banking problems would be affected.

The meeting will be held at the Shoreland hotel, and will be closed, as is any federal reserve bank board meeting. It will be the first time that two or more reserve bank boards ever have held a joint meeting.

Many Questions Expected.

The reserve banks whose directors will attend are—besides Chicago—in Kansas City, Cleveland, Minneapolis and St. Louis.

Dr. Leland said that neither the government nor the federal reserve board had anything to do with originating or planning the meeting. He indicated that the directors, and the reserve bank economists who will accompany them, expected to put in a busy day asking questions about the Keynes and American proposals.

Other proponents of similar plans have been invited. One is G. F. Towers, governor of the Bank of Canada, who was said to have a proposal that represents a compromise between the Keynes and American plans, altho some critics have asserted the latter two programs are nearly identical.

OUTLOOK HELD DIM FOR BIGGER G. M. DIVIDENDS

War, Peace Time Needs Told by Sloan.

New York, Aug. 4 (AP).—Alfred P. Sloan Jr., chairman of General Motors corporation, said today in a statement on the company's dividends that "in all probability they must continue on a reduced basis for the duration."

The vast automotive—and war material—concern paid $3.75 a share in 1940 and 1941, then dropped to $2 in 1942, and has paid $1 so far this year, with another 50 cent payment scheduled Sept. 13.

Sloan recalled "the corporation's own profit limitation policy," renegotiation, heavy taxation, and the necessity for establishing reserves.

Reserve Totals 56½ Millions.

General Motors earlier this week reported it had set aside $8,322,753 in the second quarter as a reconversion reserve, lifting the total to $56,562,971 for this purpose.

"Excess profits taxes and profit limitations on war contracts have the effect of establishing what is practically a ceiling on net income for dividends during the war period, thus offsetting the normal effect of expanded sales," Sloan said.

Provision for excess profits taxes in the first half of this year, after post-war credit of $6,259,000, amounted to $56,330,000.

60 Per Cent of Shares Voted.

Sloan said 60.6 per cent of outstanding General Motors shares were voted at the annual meeting in May, with 104,535 stockholders out of 392,492 sending in proxies. He said the lowest per cent favoring management proposals was 99.1.

He said other stockholders "may have felt that it was not worth while [to vote]. Still others may have felt some dissatisfaction with the policies of General Motors management." He urged that all stockholders vote, whether for or against the management.

ANDREW REBORI IS NAMED AID IN WAR FINANCING

Harold H. Swift, chairman of the Illinois war finance committee, yesterday announced the appointment of Andrew N. Rebori, widely known architect, as assistant to G. Ray Schaeffer, chairman of the Cook county retail outlets division, and to Gilbert M. Clayton, state retail chairman.

Members of an advisory committee also were named for the organization's new communities division. They are Frank C. Rathje, Guy Nelson, Bartholomew O'Toole, T. H. Golightly, A. G. Lauterbach, E. C. Buzmeister, Sidney Wanzer III, Leo Lerner, Robert G. Magill, and Alexander Revell Jr.

CHICAGO REGION GAIN IN STORE SALES IS 10 PCT.

Department store sales in the 7th [Chicago] federal reserve district for the week and for the four weeks ended July 31 rose 10 per cent above the corresponding periods of last year. Sales in Chicago rose 13 per cent for the week and 11 per cent for the four weeks.

Sales thruout the nation were up 11 per cent for the week and 12 per cent for the four weeks.

SOLDIER'S ALLOTMENT.

I have always claimed my mother as a dependent, but recently my brother, now in the army, started sending her a monthly allotment of $25. My mother intends to put this money away for my brother until he returns. Can I still claim her as a dependent?—J. G.

Answer: Yes, if you actually provide more than one-half of your mother's support. The allotment received from the brother in the army will not be considered a contribution toward your mother's support if it is not used for her support. In view of his other exemptions as a man in military service, your brother probably does not need a dependency credit.

DATES ON WAR BONDS.

The war bonds I receive under the pay roll deduction system have two different dates. "June, 1943" appears in the upper right hand corner of one bond and "July 14, 1943," on the bottom. Is this all right? —G. Z.

Answer: The date in the upper section indicates when the bond was purchased, whereas the other date shows when the certificate was issued. Sometimes there is a delay between the time payments are completed and the certificate executed and delivered to the buyer. The purchase date is always the first day of the month when payments were completed, even tho the final payment was not made until the last day of the month. The maturity date is 10 years from the date of purchase.

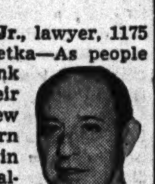
THE QUESTION.
What do you think adults could learn from children?

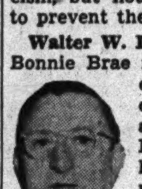
WHERE ASKED.
Chicago Title and Trust building, 69 West Washington street.

THE ANSWERS.

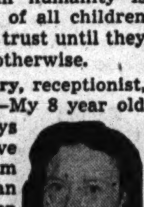
Rose Gose, model, 456 Belmont avenue—Adults would be wiser people if they could accept criticism and advice like the children do. Children don't resent being wrong, and accept new facts with an open mind. They profit from the mistakes of others more than adults do.



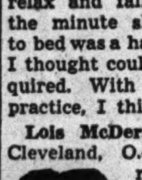
George A. Mason Jr., lawyer, 1175 Pelham road, Winnetka—As people grow older, I think they lose much of their enthusiasm for new ideas. We might learn from the children in that respect. They always have a slight checkrein of skepticism, but not enough to prevent their acceptance.



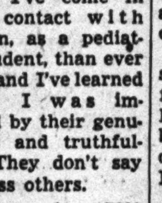
Walter W. L. Meyer, lawyer, 1507 Bonnie Brae road, River Forest—I owe much of my philosophy to one child in a comic strip. I think Little Orphan Annie has a great lesson for us every day. Her faith in humanity is typical of all children—they trust until they have reason to do otherwise.



Mary Irene McClory, receptionist, 2916 Mango avenue—My 8 year old sister doesn't always hear about it, but I've learned much from her. The way she can relax and fall asleep the minute she goes to bed was a habit that I thought could be acquired. With a little practice, I think I'm improving.



Lois McDermott, student nurse, Cleveland, O.—During this last month I've come in closer contact with children, as a pediatrics student, than ever before and I've learned plenty. I was impressed by their genuineness and truthfulness. They don't say things just to impress others.



Ellen Murray, title examiner, 5620 Wentworth avenue—People could keep on growing mentally, at the same fast rate, if they'd relax and continue to develop the curiosity habit. Children naturally are inclined to investigate and try to learn about the things they don't understand.

OWI AID FORCED ANNOUNCER OFF AIR, QUIZ TOLD

New York, Aug. 5 (AP).—Joseph Lang, operator of foreign language broadcasting station WHOM in New York, told a congressional subcommittee today he dismissed an announcer at the repeated request of a government official, altho private investigation showed no reason for doing so.

Lang testified he dismissed Miss Elsa Maria Troja from station WHOM's staff at the request of Lee Falk, radio chief of the OWI's foreign language division, who at the time held a similar position with the office of facts and figures predecessor of the OWI.

The witness quoted Falk as insisting Miss Troja "had Nazi inclinations." Lang said he asked Falk many times to supply him with specific facts which might show disloyalty on Miss Troja's part, and that Falk failed to supply any.

Meanwhile, Lang testified, he employed a private investigator to inquire into Miss Troja's background, and the investigator found no evidence of disloyalty to the United States, but finally, after several months, the announcer was dismissed in June, 1942.

FEARS TEACHER SHORTAGE WILL CLOSE SCHOOLS

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 5 (AP).—Faced with the greatest teacher shortage in state history, Illinois schools will find that even issuance of an expected 1,200 war time emergency certificates will fail to provide enough instructors this fall, Luther J. Black, executive secretary of the state teachers' examining board, said today. A total of 955 emergency teaching certificates were issued last year.

"The shortage is really acute and a considerable number of schools may be unable to reopen," he said.

"Actually, there are plenty of qualified teachers in Illinois. One county superintendent told me he had 100 within his boundaries. But most of them are married women who don't want to leave their homes."

Two Chicago Negroes Get War Press Bureau Jobs

Washington, D. C., Aug. 5 (AP).—Assignment of two Negro officers to the press branch, bureau of public relations, was announced today by the war department. They are Capt. Homer B. Roberts and 1st Lt. Daniel E. Day, both of Chicago. Roberts has been assistant public relations officer at Fort Huachuca, Ariz., and Day formerly was employed by the Robert S. Abbott Publishing company of Chicago.

COUNCIL GROUP MOVES TO SOLVE WATER PROBLEM

Block River at State Line, Bowler Suggests.

Several proposals, two of them of an extraordinary nature, for reducing the pollution of Chicago's water supply were made yesterday at a meeting of the city council's water pollution subcommittee, of which Ald. Arthur G. Lindell [9th] is chairman.

The subcommittee directed Assistant Corporation Counsel Al F. Gorman to find out whether the city itself could bring direct action thru the courts to obtain increased diversion from Lake Michigan. It was also resolved that the state of Illinois be petitioned to seek a temporary adjustment of the Supreme court's ruling against increased diversion.

Gov. Green of Illinois also will be asked to suggest to Gov. Schricker of Indiana that he join him in a plea to President Roosevelt to use his emergency war powers to remove the health hazard present in polluted water before it is too late.

Roosevelt to Get Copy.

Copies of the resolution will be sent to President Roosevelt, Gov. Green, Gov. Schricker, Atty. Gen. George F. Barrett, and the 10 Chicago congressmen.

The extraordinary proposals were made by Ald. James B. Bowler [25th].

"If necessary to force action," he declared, "we should block the Calumet river at the state line and let Indiana keep its sewage and wastes to itself instead of letting them flow thru our state."

He also discussed the possibility of opening the sanitary district locks and increasing the flow from the lake in defiance of the present ruling.

"As Far as We Can Go."

"I'll get you a man to open the locks and go to jail for the community," he said. "We've gone as far as we can go. When we've done everything possible to meet a situation you've a right to take radical steps.

"We may have to take some radical steps. They never will pay any attention to our requests until we do something out of the ordinary."

Ray L. Keegan, chairman of the south side committee on water purification, said that his organization hoped to have 1 million signatures by Sept. 1 on a petition for increased diversion to be sent to the President and the secretary of war.

BOY, 9, IS SEIZED WITH BUYER, 51, IN TIRE THEFTS

Jimmy Durkee, 9 years old, 923 Noble street, is the youngest and the latest person to run afoul of tire rationing as well as infringing on an older law of theft. He is being held at the Juvenile home while Hyman Bushnick, 51 years old, 3615 Greenview avenue, operator of a junk yard at 955 Milwaukee avenues, faces Judge Joseph B. Hermes in Auto court today on the charges of buying stolen property and buying from a minor.

Jimmy Durkee.

Jimmy was nabbed by the seat of the pants yesterday by Ralph Czernick as he attempted to run from a garage at 934 Milwaukee avenue. He told police he had rolled four of Czernick's tires down to Bushnick's junk yard and sold them for 10 cents apiece.

He said two older boys told him they had sold tires to Bushnick, but didn't explain about tire rationing. Czernick identified 11 of his tires in Bushnick's junk yard.

Jimmy spent the 40 cents on a movie spree, visiting four theaters where westerns were featured.

500 MEN IN WAR; TOWN BRIGHTENS LIVES OF WOMEN

BY LARRY WOLTERS.

Chesterton, Ind., had a pre-war population of 2,470. Since the outbreak of the war the town and immediate community surrounding it have given almost 500 men to the military services.

The patriotism of Chesterton has made it a town of lonely and forgotten women. A typically rural town, 47 miles southeast of Chicago, Chesterton hasn't too much to offer in the way of recreation to the wives of service men or the girls they left at home.

Chesterton has decided to do something to help relieve the loneliness of these women. Next Monday evening the town board and community civic organizations are launching the Forget-Me-Not club of Chesterton. Ceremonies attending the opening of the club will be broadcast by W-G-N from 7:15 to 7:30 p. m. Monday.

Sonny Dunham and his orchestra, now playing in a loop night spot, volunteered their services to serenade the Forget-Me-Nots and supply music for dancing—dancing that will be largely for girls with feminine partners. The town board is paying the band's rail fare.

Acreage Cut By U. S. Closes New Sugar Plant

Nampa, Idaho, Aug. 5 (AP).—A $2,000,000 sugar factory, one year old, will stand idle this fall because of government reductions in sugar beet acreage, Earl Marsing, area agricultural agent for the Amalgamated Sugar company, said today.

GROUP SPONSORS SISTER KENNY'S PARALYSIS WORK

Minneapolis, Minn., Aug. 5 (AP).—Mayor Marvin L. Kline announced the creation today of the Elizabeth Kenny Institute, Inc., to carry on the work of the famous Australian nurse in infantile paralysis with the assistance of private benefactors.

The institute will have a board of directors of 10 persons, one of whom, the mayor said, will be Rosalind Russell, the film star. The mayor said other directors would be announced later upon their acceptance.

Incorporation of the institute, which has already been operating here with the assistance of the city board of public welfare, follows a dispute in which Sister Kenny objected to the attitude of certain officials of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis toward her method for treatment of the disease. The foundation had sent Kenny technicians to South America, but later recalled them and Sister Kenny said she had been "humiliated" by the action.

County Allots $103,875 for 3 Months Aid to Blind

The county board yesterday passed a supplemental appropriation of $103,875 to defray the costs of blind relief in Cook county for July, August, and September. Half of the appropriation will be recovered later thru payments from the state. After September the board hopes that federal aid to pay the entire cost of blind relief will be obtained under an act passed recently by congress.

HELP WANTED—MEN.

Professions and Trades.

A JOB IN A WAR PLANT WHERE YOU ARE SOMEBODY.
No matter what job you take in our 100% war plant, whether it be to run grinders, drill press, turret, engine or bench lathe, hand or automatic screw machine, or whether it be mechanical assembly, you are somebody, a member of a large friendly family and not just a number on the time clock.
We pay good wages. You get to work at least 48 hours a week, and your wages are increased regularly as your skill and productivity increases.
THESE JOBS ARE GOOD AFTER VICTORY TOO.
See Mr. Lade at 4431 W. Lake-st.

WAR JOBS FOR MEN AND WOMEN.

The completion of a newly equipped mill of the Anaconda Wire & Cable Company in Sycamore, Illinois, opens up an opportunity for splendid jobs for both men and women in 100% war work. These are jobs with excellent pay and a real post-war future. Both skilled and unskilled workers are wanted. Good pay while learning.

An opportunity to become permanently located in a small community only 60 miles west of Chicago with a Community Park offering many recreational facilities including swimming pool and golf course. Sycamore is a progressive town of 5,000 population with splendid schools, churches and affords ideal living conditions. A limited number of new houses are available for renting as a result of a recently complete Federal Housing project.

If you aren't now engaged in essential war work, take advantage of this opportunity. Husbands and wives are welcome. We have jobs for both.

The common-sense solution to any money shortage is a short-term loan. It allows a "breathing spell" in which to adjust expenses to fit income. Right now, for instance, living costs are up and it is becoming increasingly difficult to make ends meet. A loan from Commonwealth will "tide you over" until you get adjusted to these new war-time conditions. Monthly rate 3% on balances of $150 or less, and 2½% on that part of the unpaid balance over $150.
